A WARNING TO MOTORISTS

DON'T RUN THIS WEEK

One frosty night last week, Jock Martin—that isn't his real name, but it will do as well as any other—decided to do some tinkering on his automobile. The radiator, in particular needed to be drained, and various other things needed to be attended to.

Knowing the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning, he kept the doors of the garage open while he worked. He fixed his soda solution, poured it into the radiator and started the engine, to warm up the water. Then he crawled underneath the machine and began tightening some of the screws. He realized suddenly that he was getting light-headed. He crawled out from under the machine and started toward the open door. He collapsed before he reached it; fell; cut his mouth against the fender and lay there completely unconscious.

A Boy of seventeen passed by on his way to study his lessons with a school chum. Chemistry happens to be one of the Boy's favorite studies—especially the laboratory stuff, and the queer things that gases can do to you.

He saw the light in the garage; looked in; saw the figure collapsed over the fender; and heard the engine running.

He called for help, but Jack's family were all in the front of the house and nobody heard him. He didn't wait second. He picked up Jack, dragged and carried him out into the air; laid him on his face on the pavement—this happened in Baltimore City—bent the arm farthest away and rested Jack's face on his hand; stretched out the other arm at full length over his head—this took less time than it takes to tell it—straddled Jack's body and began pressing his ribs in and out, to force oxygen into his lungs.

Meanwhile, he kept his eyes open or passing machines. One came along; he and the driver lifted their still unconscious burden into the car and rushed him into a nearby hospital. The hospital doctors pumped oxygen from a tank into Jack's lungs for forty-five minutes before he came to.

"This is a true story," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health said in telling it. "It happened to a member to the staff of the State Department of Health. It shows more strongly than anything I can say that it isn't safe to do work of any sort, on an automobile, a truck, a motorcycle, or on any other motor-driven vehicle. INDOORS, while the engine is running, even though the doors are open.

"Carbon monoxide, the gas generated in the exhaust of the engine, is colorless and odorless. It is a deadly poison. It gives no warning. It did not get in its deadly work this time, because the door was open, a certain amount at fresh air got in, and the boy, who knew what to do and did it, came along at that moment.

"As to the Boy," Dr. Riley said, "that' the kind we raise in this country. We have reason to be proud of them."

AUTO INSPECTION TIME UP

TO REVOKE REGISTRATION OF UNSAFE CARS

Wednesday of this week was the deadline for having your car inspected.

E. Austin Baughman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, anounced that the driver of any car appearing on the streets on Thursday minus the inspection and approval stamp will be summoned to appear before the legal examiner for the department. If the vehicle is found to be unsafe improperly equipped or otherwise unfit to be operated, the commissioner may refuse to register the vehicle or, if already registered, may revoke the registration.

It also is provided in the motor vehicle laws that "any person who shall operate a motor vehicle, the registration of which has been refused, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject, upon conviction, to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or to imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or to both fine and imprisonment.

"The provisions of this section," the law reads, "shall apply to the operator and to the owner who causes or permits his motor vehicle to be operated in violation of this section."

THE MODERN AGE

A VEST POCKET ESSAY ON MODERN MIRACLES

"Yestiday," said Uncle Eb, " I was walkin' down in my woods an' a voice spoke out of the wilderness, an' then a heavenly music come, soft at first, an' swelled into a soul-lifting' chord—then stopped short. I thought of old-time miracles and was plumb scared till I saw a car parked by the creek with a feller an' girl in it an' realized that they had a radio. It gimme a start though, an' commenced me to thinkin' on these new inventions an things. Take this here tele-vision fer instance, hooked up to radio. Why a body can jest sit at home an' see everythin' an' hear everythin' that happens in the world an' go no place. Ain't no sense in circulatin' around when things are fetched to you. Then, I was readin' how with a new rotary drill they are sinkin' oil wells over two miles deep in the earth. Lem Stevens allows as how them fellers is stealin' the fuel oil of Hades an' that's why Hell's fire ain't spoke of in the glowin' terms it use to be. Perhaps he's right, an' that's what's worryin' me. Now jest pictue the fix the average feller is in with all of these new inventions—when he's seen everythin' and heard everythin' an' gone no place, an' history keps on repeatin' itself till he gets plum tired out. If he's been tolerable good, his destination is all fixed for him, but if, on the other hand, he's mistook temptation fer opportunity, too much, he jest ain't got any place to go! I've ben toleratin' my natural virtues and practicin' my enjoyable vices many a year now, but if I hear any unaccountable voices, I'm goin' to throw m'self in reverse.

"In the old days, when the medicine wagon drove up to the town pump, and the 'Doctor' started to speel, I uster be in the front line m'self. I frequently felt right pert till he got to describin' the causes of 'spots before your eyes, backache, gas on the stomach, chilblains, fallin' dandruff, night sweats, itchin, skin, and other serious ailments.' I was usually downright porly by the end of the lecture and bought a bottle of 'Herb Tonic—Good for Man or Beast.' So far as I can see, it didn't do me any good, and I couldn't get even a sick pig to take it. Not even a pig comin' down with hog cholera. Fact is, there ain't any drug anyone ever heard of that will cure or prevent cholera. Vaccinatin' is right good, but followin' the Maryland Plan for Control of Hog Cholera to prevent it is better. It's jest these fur simple, common-sense measures that have cut losses for most everyone who has tried them:

COLDS ARE CATCHING

"Colds are catching. If you are so lucky enough to have one, keep your germs to yourself. Don't broadcast them. Have some pity on the other fe llow. Don't sneeze or cough in your neighbor's face. Sneeze or cough into your handkerchief, and use a paper handkerchief or one of some material that can be destroyed or burned," is the advice of Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health.

"Don't go visiting while you have a cold. Remember how uncomfortable you are and spare your freinds from similar experiences. If circumstances make it necessary fr you to 'keep a keepin' on,' observe the golden Rule and treat others as you would be glad to have them treat you. Don't shake hands. You can follow the Chinese custom of shaking your own nands. Don't exchange pens or pencils, or any other things you have been carrying in your pockets, with others. Little children are particularly susceptible to colds. Protect them from your germs. Don't give a child a taste of something from off your plate. Don't kiss a child, or anybody for that matter, squarely on the mouth, at any time—cut out all kinds of kissing while you have a cold.

"We don't know much aboct the tiny organisms that cause these colds that give us so much trouble, except that they are so minute that they cannot be detected by the most powerful micrscope. But we do know from personal experience what the germs do to us. And that is enough to put us on our guard against them. The labortory workers have discovered that the cold producing germs are to be found in the secretions from the nose and throat of persons who have colds. Innumerable quantities of the germs are sprayed out into the air with every careless sneeze or cough. Some of this infections material is deposited on the victim's hands and on everything he touches—cups, glasses, spoons, dishes and pipes, pencils. That is why the doctors tell you to have your dishes and table utensils boiled before using a second time whenever you have a cold.

"The quickest way to get rid of a cold is to go home and go to bed if possible, a nd to stay there until you are better and no longer a source of danger to others. Drink plenty of water; go on a light diet. If you ache all over and have any signs of fever, send for your doctor and follow his instructions."

What Is the Plant of Life

A. What was known by the aborigines and the early Mormon settlers in this country as the "Plant of Life" is an herb growing wild on the American Desert and containing properties most benificial to health and bodily welfare.

Q. Is the "Plant of Life" obtainable by the public generally?

A. Yes, it is now available for general consumption under the name of "Yerbavida."

Q. Just how does Yerbavida work upon the human system?

A. The endocrine glands are the alchemists which transmute chemical elements into physical stamina and mental power. Premature old age, disease, low vitality and fatigu result when endocrine glands become sluggish. Yerbavida revives the endocrine glands.

Q. Will Yerbavida eliminate constipation?

A. Although it contains no laxative of any kind, it wakes up the liver, which regulates bowel action.

Q. Will Yerbavida eliminate sleeplessness, nervousness and irritability?

A. Yerbavida is an anti-spasmodic which, by calming and quieting the nervous and muscular systems, promotes sound and refreshing sleep.

Q. Will Yerbavida relieve poisonous acidity and indigestion.

A. Although Yerbavida contains no drugs of any kind, it has shown marvelous results in eliminating heartburn, gas and acidity, thereby allowing Nature to heal even an ulcerated stomach.

Q. Is Yerbavida pleasant to drink?

A. You will find Yerbavida a very delicious and satisfying beverage; and if used regularly, you will prefer it to tea, coffee or any other drink.

Q. What does Yerbavida cost?

A. Yerbavida is very economical—a large package, enough to make 240 cups, can be purchased for only $1.00.

Q. How can I obtain Yerbavida?

A. If your local druggist cannot supply you, accept no substitute, but send $1.00 direct to Yerbavida Sales Co. 612 Southwest Bldg. Los Angeles, California.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your headaches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.
