IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, and father Thomas H. Jones, who departed this life November 27, 1926.

He has gone across the river,
To the shores of evergreen;
How we long to see his dear face,
But the river rolls between.

Kept in peace they cares are ended,
Sweet sleeper, thy work is done
Thou art gone where those who love thee,
Soon are coming, one by one.

Though suffering he breathed not a murmur,
For the Comforter stood by his side
And whispered, "Fear Not I am with thee,"
With me thou shalt e'er abide.

On the river was a boatman,
He heard the soft dip of his oar,
Then from earth, secure he bore him,
Across to the beautiful shore.

By his loving wife and children.

The Curbstone Diplomat

BY WILLIAM S. COLLINS

Rather tough for Scott Beck, Jr., as he will not get any Christmas vacation. When college closes, he will not as chaufeur for Mrs. Isaac Lixon, on a trip to Miami, Florida. Pretty tough.

The following is the dry version of repeal. (Stolen Stuff).

A PRETTY PROSPECT

If repeal comes, gentlemen, expect this: Your favorite orchestra on the radio with intervals of liquor advertising telling the girls how beer will preserve that schoolgirl complexion, make 'em fat and make 'em lean, and put the hair right on their beans. Billboards, miles of them, decorating to drink whisky, pictures of football players, runners, and tennis players, and the perennial pretty girl, all advertising liqurs. Whisky testimenials from "champions" who do not drink themselves, but like to cash the checks—beer testimonials from Miss North America, who also likes her checks. White ways blazing with the invitation an dthe urge to drink liquor. Advertisements confronting you from your favorite newspaper and magazine, liquors on display at nearly every street corner.

Also friend, get ready to have your car smashed and your wife shouldered into the street. Get ready to see your customers pass right by your door en route to the bar room. They will be on their way to contribute to the liquor revenue and you, when you pay your taxes, will be forking over money to support public officials nominated in the back rooms of saloons.

Get ready! If we are going to have liquor we are going to have some other things with it.

Several times letters have come this way as to how the dogs in Kent County were coming along. They are behaving themselves very well. In Kent County, Del., however, they are playing navoc. An epidemic of rabies is raging and several people have been bitten. A quarantine has been placed on all dogs within several miles of Dover. All of the victims of the bittings have been treated and suspicious dogs being examined.

Postmaster Wm. G. Smyth made a trip to Washington this week. The dope is that he found out something about the location of the new post office.

The reported location is at one of the most dangerous crossings in town.

Anyhow it is to be hoped that they have a good ledge outside to sit on. The ledge at the present post-office has become quite an institution.

These postmaster jobs in the county are causing some little excitement. We certainly need excitement of some sort.

What excites me however is that Main street is at last to have additional lights. Only for a short time, but even that is a help.

With the coming of spring, Chestertown is to elect a Mayor and two Councilman. Maybe the fur will fly or maybe it will be a show down.

Word comes to us that Mr. Rash an ardent Dry from Worton fell off the "Water Wagon" in Philadelphia.

Mr. Rash went to a milk meeting there and in walking down the street saw prohibition officers emptying whiskey into the street. (Must have been awful stuff, to have been thrown away. This delighted his heart to see demon whiskey go into the gutter.

The fumes found Uncle Benny and soon he began to feel happy. The report is he moved off just in time.
