THE DANCERS OF COLD

MOTHERS, DON'T NEGLECT THE LITTLE COLD

In a reminder to mothers, that the "little cold" if neglected, may open the way for serious illness, Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, says, "If your child begins to sniffle, if his nose runs, and he becomes languid and irritable, put him to bed, give him a liquid diet, plenty of water, and call your doctor. Untreated and neglected colds often lead to serious illnesses.

"The trouble may begin with a sore throat or a cough. Usually a sore throat indicates inflamation of the tonsils, from which the infection may spread to the ears and through the body. A cough generally means that the child has an irritation in the throat or in his bronchial tubes. The only safe plan, and the best plan, in any case, is to put the child to bed and under a doctor's care, as soon as either a sore throat or a cough develops, especially if there is any indication of fever. The earlier the proper treatment is begun, the sooner the recovery will take place. In addition, the likelihood of the trouble spreading to others is greatly reduced.

"It must be remembered too that a number of serious communicable diseases may begin with what appears to be a 'common cold.' The doctor should be asked early to decide and take the necessary precautions.

"Parents can do a good deal to prevent these respiratory infections among their children by following these simple directions:

1. "Give young children a well-balanced diet as suggested by your physician.

2. "See that children have plenty of fresh air day and night. A window should be open in the bedroom, the child protected from drafts, on just sufficient clothing to keep him warm. No daytime indoor temperature should be over 70 degrees.

3. "Let the child up to school age have a midday nap in a well-ventilated room each day.

4. "Dress children properly so that they are not too warm in the house and have such additional clothing as is indicated by the temperature when they go out. Keep feet dry; if they become wet, change shoes and stockings as soon as pssible.

5. "A cool sponge after the bath and while the child is standing in warm water, followed by a brisk rubdown is recommended.

6. "Most important of all are that the baby or young child should be kept away from other children and from adults who have a cold or other respiratory infection, and that your doctor should be consulted when the first symptoms of a cold appear."

GET AUTO TAGS NOW

LAST MINUTE RUSH PERDICTED

Automobile owners were urged yesterday by E. Austin Baughman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, to get their tags early, because during the last week of the year his office will be open only four and a half days.

"Monday, December 26 will be a legal holiday," the Commissioner explained, "and the thirty-first will fall on Saturday when this office will close at the regular time, noon. Those who are in line at 12 o'clock will be served, but no one will be permitted to get into line after that time.

"I wish also to remind automobile owners that January 2 is also a legal holiday.

"The sale of 1933 registration plates is lagging way behind, and there is every indication that this year's rush will exceed all previous ones. Car owners who are wise will apply early and by mail.

"Unless there is a decided boost in the number of early comers, I foresee congestion in the last week that will eclipse anything we have yet experienced."

Salesman: "What kind of car would you like, madam, four, six or eight cylinders?"

Timid Customer: "Couldn't I begin with one?"

SCHOOL DAYS — By DWIG

SCHOOL NOTES

CHESTERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL
By Janet MacVean

The snow this past week has cut down the news as well as the attendance. Several busses were delayed, and Mr. Blades reports a 30 per cent drop in attendance. Miss Gessford had her first sleigh ride this year, and Mrs. Brice is suffering from a twisted knee (plus a lot of teasing, which she achieved while sledding. So many sleighs were brought out that very few people will admit not having ridden in one. Anyone interested in sleighing incidents might ask George Rasin and Vernon Seward about the $1.50 sleigh.

The subject of snow naturally brings one to Christmas. And Christmas brings one to thoughts of C. H. S. Home Ec. Department. The Senior Class have been doing Italian hemstitching and drawing of threads as well as other types of fancy work. Alice Marion Sterling's spotted dog seems to be the most desired present. The eighth graders are preparing handkerchiefs, collar and cuff sets, guest towels, and fancy aprons for presentation to various friends and relatives. The Sophomores are making cookies and cakes and candy. Less fortunate people tiptoe around with their mouth watering. The Home Ec. depression plant is all colors of the rainbow and has grown quite large.

The science room also has two depression plants, which are truly enormous, too much so to be beautiful. Another of the decorations of the science room is a series of charts, made by the Senior Biology class. Some of these are works of art.

The Science Club meeting has been postponed until this Wednesday. Mr. Willis is to lecture on the Indians of the South West.

The Juniors are finishing Book 1 in Plane Geometry. The 9B and 9C Classes are extracting square roots of polynomials. The 8C's are finishing division in algebra.

And last, but not least, of the programs to be presented before Christmas is the December literary meeting. Echoes of the program give evidence that this meeting will be very interesting and amusing.

We are extremely proud to live in the same county with Rock Hall, the new Shore field ball champions. We offer the team our congratulations. Also congratulations are due to Chesapeake City, the soccer champions of the Shore.

Three hundred years of Maryland history, commencing with the landing of the first settlers under Lord Baltimore in 1633 and 1634, will be pictured at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair— A Century of Progress.

SHOPPING JEFFERSON'S

Well, dears, the last lap of our yearly marathon has arrived. It won't be long now. So take a good breath, tighten the old belt and finish that Christmas shopping with a flourish. Beware the old familiar feeling that's apt to creep over your numb brain this last week, the feeling that, "Oh, heavens,—anything, ANYTHING for Aunt Sue," or "I've never found anything for Sister to give Grandma, what SHALL I do?" After which you rush out dizzily and as likely as not come back with a stove lifter tied with pink ribbon and holly.

No, let's resolve highly to avoid the stove lifter type of gift. Instead consider these last minute life savers. Jefferson's is still going strong with ideas and you can be waited on quickly, too.

The linens are again my theme because you can't go wrong there. There's a delectable luncheon set of yellow peasant linen, woven in Czechoslovakia, effectively striped in deeper yellow and brown, runner, four doilies and four napkins, priced at $2.75. There's a little bridge set in apricot Porto Rican cotton embroidered with impudent Scotties for $1.00, and another of coarse natural linen appliqued in black and white, very smart and different, $1.25. And I also liked the bureau scarfs in cream linens, fringed and delicately appliqued, 69c each.

After pondering these very inexpensive gifties, go up a step and view the gorgeous handwoven linens displayed at Jefferson's. They are all the work of a really truly creative artist and any piece would be a prized and welcome gift. The large apple green cloth is $12. Stunning handbags are $2 only, as are some of the decorative table runners. These last run from $1.50 to $3.

Must I remind you again of the simply swell silk undies here? Especially the panty sets with exquisite Alencon lace. And so—Merry Christmas.

LYDIA LEE.

HOP OUT OF BED "RARIN TO GO"

If you have lost your pep, feel tired all the time, and hate to get up in the morning, don't take a dose of salts, mineral oil or laxative and expect it to pep you up and make you young again, because it won't do it.

Your glands regulate your health, and the vital organs must be supplied with the all-important glandular hormones. The liver, the largest gland in the body, should pour two pounds of bile into the bowels daily to make your food digest and to keep you regular.

Glandular deficiency causes too much fat, or too little of it, gray hair or baldness, lack of pep, pre-mature old age and death. Yerbavida, Nature's "Plant of Life," has been found to be a powerful gland normalizer. Glands that have ceased to function are estimulated into renewed activity, constructive metabolism is again brought about, renewing both body and mind.

Yerbavida is produced from plants growing wild on the American desert. It contains no drugs of any kind. In fact, no ingredients of any nature have been added to it. When brewed into a tea according to instructions, it becomes a delicious satisfying beverage which has been found to accomplish wonders in cases of glandular troubles and also poisonous acidity.

G. M. B., of Los Angeles, California, writes: "From the very first day of using Yerbavida I felt an increase in vitality, and in a few days all signs of indigestion with which I had been suffering for years had disappeared. But the greatest benefit of all is that I am no longer constipated, for which I am more grateful than I can tell, as I have had to resort to every kind and sort of pill and cathartic for years and have never received permanent relief from anything."

Yerbavida is not a laxative, but greatly assists nature in overcoming constipation.

A large package, enough for 240 cups, can be obtained for only $1.00 If your local druggist cannot supply you, accept no subsitute but send $1.00 direct to Yerbavida Sales Co. 612 Southwest Bldg. Los Angeles, Calif.
