TAX PAYERS WILL gather at the Court House today for the purpose of discussing certain tax relief measures. One of the principal sources of relief to be asked for is that the 20 cent Kent county road levy be taken out of the revenues of the State gasoline tax. This relief measure has the endorsemnt of practically all of the counties in the state although the majority of the counties request that the fund be taken from the lateral road fund, which is the fund for new construction, and that the construction program be modified. This however would not affect Kent county as Kent's entire share of the lateral road fund is being spent and must be spent, according to law, for the retirement of the Kent County road bond issue at the rate of $80,000 a year. Three other counties are similarly involved, Harford, Charles and Alleghany, although the latter three are for a short period. The situation in Kent county may be considered different from that of the other counties and the immediate relief of the 20 cent road fund presents a problem. It is however understood that an effort will be made to help the situation here, but to date no concrete plan has been presented.

TO HOLD CARD PARTIES

A series of four card parties have been arranged for the benfit of the Kent County Health Association on Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the Health Association. This organization is one of the outstanding relief agencies in the county and should have the support of the community.

OYSTER PACKERS PRO TEST TAX

About thirty-five representatives of oyster packers of five counties met at the State House in Annapolis last week and for more than an hour and a-half sought means to obtain tax relief.

The only concrete suggestion advanced was for a moratorium of two years on the tax of ten per cent. of the oyster shells collected. This was favored by Swepson Earle, State Conservation Commissioner.

Another variation of this plan was that the tax of 3 cents per bushel which is paid the State and which goes toward the support of the Conservation Department, be reduced.

On this point Mr. Earle asserted he could "not agree to any reduction which would jeopardize the valuable State resources, from which oystermen in the future will derive benefit."

He added that he believed the oyster shell tax could be dispensed with only temporarily.

Mr. Earle acted as chairman of the meeting, with Wallace M. Quinn as chairman of the Somerset county group.

N. R. Coulbourn, president of the Seafood Packers' Association of Crisfield, and George Harrison, of Tilghman Island, representing packers of Kent, Queen Anne's, Talbot and Dorchester counties, were present.

Another meeting will be held next Wednesday. At Wednesday's gathering the damage done to the natural oyster bars of the bay by gasoline winders on dredges also was discussed and some recommended a power boat with a hand-wound scrape.

It was said that while more oysters have been handled at Crisfield this season than in several years, the price per gallon was very low. The packers claimed they have not made any money.
