STAR SKETCHES

Story of JOHN BARRYMORE by Richard Dix

HIS greatest ambition is to be able to draw pictures as well and as weirdly as Dore . . . but if he left the screen he says he would become a rubber salesman. As a matter of fact, one of his various means of livelihood, in the days before young maidens and old became familiar with his profile . . . was selling testimonials for a hair restorer.

He thinks "Canadian Capers" is swell music and enjoys the funny papers more than the editorial pages of his Sunday newspaper. His pet aversions are early morning phone calls and fat lady journalists, yet he'll stay up all night talking to a cub reporter.

His favorite dish is water cress and his taste in books runs to early American authors. He is considerate of laborers, deaf old ladies and frightened actors . . . but he's ruthlessly frank in his aversion to stupid executives.

No matter what a "fence jumper" he may have been in his youth . . . his wife, Dolores Costello, has completely domesticated Don Juan, now . . . his life today is as simple as that of an Episcopalian rector and he's more proud of his two children than of all his triumphs in the theatre.

He is an Irish-American and makes no bones about his birthday being February 15, 1882 . he even admits the place to have been Philadelphia . . and at fifty he's still playing dashing young lovers with more persuasion than most of the juveniles in Hollywood.

He holds the record at the RKO-Radio Pictures lot for the greatest number of hours sleep on the set . . . but he never misses a call or protests at retakes.

He owns four dogs, twelve cats, a King vulture, fifty other varied kinds of birds, two $10,000 automobiles and a steel Deisel yacht.

When he's not working, he and his family usually take long cruises on the "Infanta" . . . fishing, exploring, hunting. He collects ivory, old glassware, guns and funny stories. His brother Lionel is his favorite actor and his sister Ethel his favorite actress . and he thinks he did his own best work as Captain Ahab in "Moby Dick."

when you're in PAIN!

Insist on genuine Bayer Aspirin; not only for its safety, but its speed.

Take a tablet of Bayer Aspirin and some other tablet, and drop them in water. Then watch the Bayer tablet dissolve—rapidly and completely. See how long it takes to melt down the other.

That's an easy way to test the value of "bargain" preparations. It's a far better way than testing them in your stomach!

Bayer Aspirin offers safe and speedy relief of headaches, colds, a sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago, rheumatism, or periodic pain. It contains no coarse, irritating particles or impurities.
