MORE DUCKS FOR 1933

HEAVY SNOWS PROMISE MORE DUCKS FOR '33

Washington, D. C.—Indications are that heavy snows thus far this winter will create better conditions on the duck breeding areas of Canada and the United States this spring and summer, according to answers to questionaires sent throughout the country by the American Game Association, officials said in a preliminary bulletin just issued. Wildfowl suffered severely, particularly in the breeding grounds, for the lack of water during the drought of the last three years. Literally millions of baby ducks died for the want of it.

Another important phase brought out by the query indicates that the sportsmen as a whole are satisfied with the 1932 two-month season, bag limits and other restrictions calculated to conserve the supply of ducks and allow more of them to return to the breeding grounds.

Many of those reporting from every section of the country express their belief that the duck crop of last year was above that of 1931, but perhaps 25 per cent. less than the crop of 1928, the last normal breeding year before the drought began.

MILLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

MARGARET N. JONES '34

Last week the Biology class studied birds. As an outside project the boys made bird houses. One of the energetic Sophomores caught a sparrow hawk and bought it to class for the pupils to examine. Several of the Freshmen boys caught English sparrows and mice for the hawk to eat.

The Seniors have decided on another play entitled "Love's Magic," which is to be given in the school auditorium on March 22.

The Sophomores have completed Silas Marner which they enjoyed very much. Ivanhoe is their next story.

We were very much pleased with the speech that Professor Frank Goodwin, of Washington College, delivered to us on George Washington's birthday. The title of his address was "The Value of a College Education."

Washington's birthday was observed by a program given by the Freshman and Sophomores.

The program was as follows:

Song, My Country 'Tis of The.

Reading of Bible, Kathryn Price.

Prayer, Hugh Barton.

Duet, Charlotte Jones and Roland Price.

Flag Salute.

Recitation, The Good Old Times, Pauline Moore.

Reading, My Hatchet, Lawrence Massey.

Reading, Crown Our Washington, Edna Legg.

Piano Solo, Kathryn Price.

History of Washington, Miss Ashley.

Reading, Our Washington, Jane Short.

Washington's Farewell to his Army, Gilson Rowlinson.

Song, Father of the Land We Love.

The Problems of Democracy unit "Taxation" was halted for two days last week. This was done so that the class might discuss "Technocracy."

Did you know that:

Quite a few attended the movies last week?

Miss Beckham, county nurse, visited our school this week end gave the elementary children a physical examination.

The Seniors French class have not found "Madame Therese" as interesting as "Columbia."

BY-KOTA CLUB HOLDS 16TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

The By-Kota club of the Chestertown M. E. Church celebrated its 16th anniversary on Monday evening in the social room of the church.

There were present 85 members and guests. The formal program was opened by an address of welcome by the president, Mrs. Fred T. Robinson.

This was followed by Scripture reading by Miss Elizabeth Starkey and Prayer by the pastor, Rev. Frank White The club song which was composed and written by Mrs. Merrick Clements was then sung, led by Mrs. Clements.

Other features were:

Violin Solo, Dr. F. G. Livingood.

Vocal Solo, Mr. Raymond Moffett.

Cornet Solo, Dr. Holt Wright.

Club Prophecy of 1943 read by Mrs. Fowler.

Vocal Solo, Mrs. G. H. Dana.

Negro Sketch, Mrs. J. H. Sides and Mrs. Frank Ford.

The informal program consisted of games and refreshments.

—A number of local people will attend the inauguration in Washington next Saturday, March 4th. An elaborate program has been arranged, most of the cost of which is being born by individual donations.

NOW AND THEN

TODAY

By Vivian Yeiser Laramore

I've shut the door on yesterday—
Its sorrows and mistakes;
I've locked within its gloomy walls
Past failures and heartaches.
And now I throw the key away
To seek another room,
And furnish it with hopes and smiles
And every Springtime bloom.

No thought shall enter this abode
That has a hint of pain.
And Envy, Malice and Distrust
Shall never entrance gain.
I've shut the door on yesterday
And thrown the key away—
Tomorrow holds no fears for me,
Since I have found today.

In these days of uncertainty when we are so well aware "that riches have wings" it is well to remember the words of our Master, "Take no anxious care," and to live for today. Yes even forgetting the cares that beset us yesterday. "Worry," as some one has aptly said "is mental extravagance," and we should avoid it as we do any other evil; and then we will have strength to bear what comes today.

February is certainly a month of birthdays. We have not only had Lincolns and Washington's birthdays but the musical world has celebrated the birthdays of Wagner & Braehm. Then some one found out that the 23rd is the 300th anniversary of the birth of Pepys, the one who wrote the famous Diary, a diary that was intended only for his eyes, but in 1820 it was dug up at Cambridge, University It is a delightful description of the times and the manner of people and also tells a great deal about his own thoughts and feelings. As to the pronnouncing of his name many differ.

Some one has written:

"There are people I am told some say there are heaps,
Who speak of the talkative Samuel as Peeps;
As some so precise and pedantic their step is,
Who call the delightful old dearest, Pepis"
But those I think right and I will follow their steps,
Ever mention the garrulous gossip as Peps."

I have been reading with so much pleasure "Horizon Smoke" by Margaret L. Law. Miss Law is a native of Charleston and though she has traveled far and wide and now lives at Chestnut Hill, yet the atmosphere of the old town clings to her still. We are reminded, as she writes of her native city, of what Owen Wistar said after an enjoyable winter spent there. "Her ladies are as charming and as narrow as the streets on which they tread." She writes:

CHARLESTON

Charleston lifts her skirts from the sea
Like a lady of high degree,
A bit of Britian mixed with France,
American by merest Chance.
Advancing armies have circled her about,
And pirate ships have found her out;
Audacious yachts arrive today
And motos offering golden pay;
Indifferent without, a sigh,
She ignores these passers by.
In poverty she's debonair,
Exhaling perfumed southern air.
Gardenias reach toward window sills,
And balconies have lacy grilles
Untiring hostess of emerald sea,
Charleston, our lady of high degree.

We can truly say, with Ben Ames Williams, "Here is a volume, not for dusty shelves but for the library table where it may be always ready at hand.

MRS. LAMMOT DuPONT IS IN RENO FOR DIVORCE

A dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Reno, Nev., February 21, says:

Divorce residence has been established here by Mrs. Caroline Hynson Stollenwerck du Pont, wife of Lammot du Pont, chairman of the board of General Motors and president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

Mrs. du Pont arrived several days ago, it was learned, and is residing at a local hotel. She has retained an attorney.

THOMAS W. PERKINS TRANSFERED

Mr. Thomas W. Perkins, who has been representing the State Bank examiners at the closed Princess Ann Bank for several months, has been transferred to Baltimore where he is assigned to the Baltimore Title and Guarantee Company which closed its doors last Saturday.

REPUBLICANS GETTING ACTIVE

Efforts are being made to entrench the Young Republican League of Maryland more firmly in the Eastern Shore counties. A delegation from Baltimore will establish branches in Centreville, Pocomoke City, Snow Hill and Princess Anne this week.

THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

I wish that I could go home today!
And it is where I want to stay!
And be the same little child again,
In the same, jolly, old way!
And run around in our back yord,
And with the old crowd play.
I want to dig in the old sand pile,
With a stick for a spoon, and so,
In an old tin can and a rusty pan
Mix water and sand for dough;
And make heart cakes, and a cherry pie
On a board, in the sun, to dry.
And with happy hearts and dolls as guests
As we did in the days gone by.
I want to wade in gutters again!
Splashing about in my bare feet;
And feel the water tickle my toes
In the puddles out in the street
And make a boat with a chip and match,
With a rag for its sail, and us twain
Give a whoop and cry, as it sails by
On waters, from showers of rain
And take a ride on a broomstick horse
(In Groome's shady old line,)
With a string for a bridle, (on horse so tall,)
And a burdock leaf for a parasol:
And an old sharol for my train
And jump again on an old ox-cart
That dragged big logs with a chain
And take a ride from Moswell's store
Out to sorts od Lane.
Yet of all the merry girs and boys
Who played with me(sun or rain,
I know that only two now one left
Who would e'er play with me again.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

Wilbur Johnson, colored, age 25 years is in the Kent County jail, charged with forgery. According to reports Johnson, whose home is in Still Pond, came to Chestertown Saturday night and went into the A & P store and cashed a check for ten dollars receiving merchandise and change. The check bore the signature of Mr. Edward C. Hepbron. Johnson then went to the stores of Bordley & Son and J. S. Kreeger and had similar check cashed at each place. Mr. Bordley, becoming suspicious of the check, called Mr. Hepbron by phone and found that he had not signed the check. With the assistance of two town officers Mr. Bordley found Johnson on Cross street who volunteered to call up Mr. Hepbron. As they were entering Bordley's store Johnson knocked the club out of the officers hand and ran. The chase was taken up by a number of people on the street but he made good his escape but was arrested by Sheriff Vickners on Monday.

W. C. ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS FOR MARCH

Speakers for the weekly eleven o'clock Thursday morning college assemblies for the month of March will include the following men:

March 2, Mr. Ira F. Thomas, Special representative of the Gulf Refining Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

March 9, Mr. W. Wilson Wingate, Baltimore News, Baltimore, Md.

March 16—Rabbi Edward Israel, Har Sinai Congregation, Baltimore, Md.

March 23, Superintendent Ignatius Bjorlee, Maryland State School for the Deaf, Frederick, Md.

March 30, Dr. James M. Hepbron, Director Criminal Justice Commission, Baltimore, Md.

The speaker for March 2, Mr. Ira F. Thomas, of Philadelphia, comes to Washington College through the courtesy of A. S. Turner & Sons. Mr. Thomas was a player, coach, and scout with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics for twenty-three years, and is well known to the followers of baseball as a writer of articles on baseball and as an authority and effective speaker on the diamond sport. With the resumption of baseball as a major sport at Washington College this spring, Mr. Thomas' talk should do much to stimulate renewed interest in the student body, players, and followers of Washington College in inter-collegiate baseball.

The public is cordially invited to all Washington College assemblies.

200 ATTEND CLUB BANQUET

200 people attended the annual 4-H Club banquet on Thursday evening of this week. The program consisted entirely of local talent, the speakers being six club members, Margaret Robinson, Harvey Coleman, Laura Jane Magee, James Bryden, Audrey Long and Walter Lindsay. William O. Carroll acted as toastmaster and the talks were brief and to the point.

Remarks were made by Mrs. Stanley B. Sutton and Miss Helen Schellinger. "Daddy" Jenkins presented a cup to the Kent Calf Club team, winners in the judging contest last summer. He presented a cup to Bayard Sutton for placing third in the poultry judging contest and a medal for competing in the National Contest.

—The By-Kota Club will serve the Firemen's banquet next Tuesday night.

OUR EVERY WEEK BROADCAST

—A review of the activities of the County Agents will be found on page two.

—Joshua Allen Weatherby discusses the rural and county store problems in Kent County on page seven.

—A five year old girl weighed 250 pounds says "Crossing 'Em Up" on page seven.

—By gone days in Chestertown and household hints will be found on page three.

—Pancakes will be on the menu next Tuesday which is Shrove Tuesday, better known as Pancake Day.

—Activities in the Maryland Legislature that pertain particularly to Kent county will be found on page four.

—The concluding chapter of Dr. Titsworth's report on Kent's activities during the past year appears on page eight.

—A personalty sale of farm implements, etc., will take place on the farm of Mr. Owen Edmonston today, Saturday. See advertisement on page four.

—"A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be presented shortly by the Washington College Shakespeare Club Rehersals are now being held under the direction of Miss Gertrude Ingals.

—Associate membership dues to the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company have been unusually slow in reaching the treasurer. This is the only direct assistance asked of the public.

—The collection of town taxes to-date is approximately equal to that of last year. During the past year the Council retired bonds to the amount of approximately $5,000.

—Messrs. A. S. Turner, Jr., Simmons LeCates, Walter Robinson and Irving Leaverage attended a banquet and dance of the Gulf 15-15 club in Philadelphia on Tuesday of this week.

—A Frederick county farmer is the defendant in a $75,000 suit brought by a 10-year old boy for injuries received when a team of horses ran away. Hold your horses.

—Messrs. Howard B. Strong and Eugene E. duPont left on Thursday for a gunning trip on Mr. du Pont's plantation in South Carolina. The hunting season in that State is still open for buail and wild turkey.

—The International Prayer day which is always held the 1st Friday in Lent will be held in the Emmanual Parish House next Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. All the churches in town will take part in this service.

—Mr. Ira F. Thomas former star catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics will be the speaker at the W. C. Assembly next Thursday. A complete list of assembly speakers for March will be found on page one.

—The first encouragement to Rock Hall fishermen came this week when a catch of 50 pounds of rock was reported. The price of rock is said to be 11 cents a pound. It is hoped that the catch this week is an indication of the return of rock in the upper bay.

—The bill with reference to anchored gill net fishing, reported to have been introduced by Delegate Arthur Brice, was introduced by the Cecil County delegation and pertained to opening up this type of fishing on the Susquehanna flats which is now prohibited.

—Gill Bros. will open a ping pong parlor in the old armory on Cross street. They have faith in ping pong and its appeal to both young and old including the tired business man and the mentally weary. The parlor will contain six tables and tournaments and matches will be arranged later.

—The committee, appointed by the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College for the purpose of recommending a successor to Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, President of the college, met on Thursday evening of this week. No decision was reached and furtehr investigation will be conducted. It is thought that no decision will be reached in this matter within the next three weeks.

CHESTERTOWN WOMEN'S CLUB

The Chestertown Women's Club met at Mrs. Spencer Smith's on Tuesday and elected the following officers: for this year: President, Mrs. Audrey Kaufman; Vice-President, Mrs. Roland Fisher; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Hatcherson; Director, Ms. Barber Bartley.

The regular meeting date will be the fourth Tuesday of the month and the next meeting will be held March 28, at 2.00 p. m. at Mrs. Kaufman's.

Miss Schellinger gave a short demonstration on Buying Shoes and Hose.

WATERMEN FAVOR PURSE NETS

The Kent County Watermen's Protective Association, which has been meeting weekly at Rock Hall with Mr. Ellsworth Leary as chairman, have gone on record of favoring existing fish and oyster laws with the exception of the purse net law.

They favor the repeal of the purse net law which prohibits the use of these nets in bay waters. Rock Hall fishermen were more actively interested in purse net fishing than any other one locality on the bay.

DEATHS

MARSHALL LLOYD BLUNT

Marshall Lloyd Blunt, of Centreville, aged 24 years who died Sunday afternoon at Easton Hospital following a prolonged illness from complications caused from severe burns.

He was the son of James R. Blunt and the late Mary Alice Blunt, of Centerville.

He made his home in Chestertown with his sister, Mrs. Kennard Burke for about four years and made many friends while here. He was an employee at the Corsica Neck Sand and Gravel Company as a steam shovel operator.

He was born and raised near Centreville, and spent most of his entire life and had many friends in that vicinity. While in Chestertown he was employed at the Chestertown cemetery and Sparkler Works.

Besides his father he is survived by four brothers, John F., William J, and Roy W. Blunt, of Centreville, and Melvin O. Blunt, of Marcus Hook, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. George Wise, of Centreville, and Mrs. Kennard Burke, of Chestertown.

Funeral services were held at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Wise. Interment in Centreville Cemetery. Rev. Roy T. Thawley, pastor, of Centreville M. E. Church.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. Roy, William and Melvin Blunt, George Wise, Kennard Burke, and Joseph Walters. B. R. Fellows, undertaker.

W. CLARENCE CREW

W. Clarence Crew, one of the leading contractors and builders, of Kent County, died at his home at Betterton, Md., at noon on Tuesday, February 21st, after an illness of less than a week. He was about 53 years of age.

Mr. Crew was a man of the highest character and esteemed by the entire community and a host of friends. He was educated in the public schools in his native town, and having natural mechanical ability, took up building and contracting as his life work. The buildings erected by him on the Clothier Farms near Turner's Creek were evidences of his ability.

He was the son of the late Joseph H. Crew and Elizabeth Crew. He was a member of the Betterton Methodist Episcopal Church and was active in its affairs. He is survived by his wife, Lillie Taylor Crew, two sons, Joseph Crew and W. Clarence Crew, Jr., also by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Crew, a sister, Mrs. Herman M. Crew and three brothers; John Y. Crew, T. Bayard Crew and Joseph Archer Crew.

Funeral services were conducted at his home on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. Thomas Price officiating. B. R. Fellows, undertaker. Burial Still Pond cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Charles H. Brice, Walter Crew, Harry Crew, Howard J. Owens, Arthur H. Brice and Howard Turner.

GEORGE D. PEVERLEY

George Deale Peverley, 77, who for fifty years conducted an extensive lumber business in Maryland and Delaware, died at his home in Middletown, Del., Tuesday of cerebral thrombosis. He was born at Port Ness, Quebec, Canada.

He was the father of Mrs. James Woodall, of Georgetown, Md.

"TONIGHT IS OURS"

Claudette Colbert and Fredric March are co-starred in "Tonight Is Ours," screen adaptation of the romantic play by Noel Coward, which plays at The NEW LYCEUM Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, February 27 and 28. It marks the first appearance of March on the screen since he won the award of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences for the best performance of 1932.

The witty but romantic flavor of "Private Lives," a sensational movie success, best-known of Coward's plays, characterizes "Tonight Is Ous." It too is a story of clever, amusing people, outwardly giddy, but actually devoted and tender toward each other.

Miss Colbert is cast as a girl who has thrown aside the responsibilities of a kingdom for a fling at Paris, and March as a young, wealthy Parisian who insists on taking the fling with her. Together they race gayly through the French capital, fully enjoying the pleasures of the town, but more fully enjoying each other. Their moments alone are moments of tender, deep-flowing passion. A strange trick of the fates almost upsets their lives, but a surprising, dramatic climax sets everything to rights.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ON MORGAN CREEK BRIDGE, FEBRUARY 27, 1933

1. The application of the State Roads Commission of Baltimore, Md., for approval of plans for the construction of a bridge across Morgan Creek on the road between Chestertown and Morgnec, will be considered at a public hearing on the subject to be held by the undersigned at the Courthouse, Chestertown, Md., at 1 p. m., Monday, February 27, 1933.

2. All interested parties are invited to be present or to be represented at the above named time and pace, particularly navigation interests and the officials of any county, city, town, or local association whose interests may be affected by the construction of the proposed bridge. They will be given an opportunity to express their views upon the suitability of the location and the adequacy of the plans in reference to navigation, and to suggest changes considered desirable in the interests of navigation.

3. Oral statements will be heard, but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing, as the records of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the War Department. Written statements may be handed in to the undersigned at the hearing or mailed to him beforehand. It is requested that they be presented in triplicate.

4. The plans submitted by the applicant show that the bridge will consist of a single truss and when completed will have a fixed span over the channel with about 130 feet horizontal clearance normal to the channel and highwater clearance of 8.1 feet with low water clearance of 10.0 feet.
