SCHOOL DAYS — By DWIG

SCHOOL NOTES

CHESTERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL
By Janet MacVean

Mrs. Greene was given a farewell party by the faculty at the home of Mrs. Ella P. Robinson on Thursday night. There she was presented with a small gift of silver. The manual training classes made her a desk set. The date March 31 on the calendar was ringed with black. She expressed her sorrow at leaving C. H. S. and her gratitude for all we had done for her.

We wish to welcome Miss Frances Stavely to C. H. S. May she prove to be as good a teacher as our first impressions lead us to believe she is.

There will be a bazaar and bake in front of the New Lyceum at 10:30 P. M. on Saturday, April 8, 1933, for the benefit of the "Reflector." Evevyone is invited to donate, attend, and buy. Japanese goods are featured in the novelty section.

The notebooks of the civics class on their completed unit on industries have been handed in. Several with especially striking covers and contents are mounted on Miss Gessford's bulletin board. Dora Patrick's hand drawn illustrations are especially fine. Erma Long, Christine Vansant, Doris Toulson and Margaret Needles, made very good books. The covers made by Ellen Ann Christopher and Raymond Kelly are also on display.

A reproduction of the stage of the "Globe Theatre" is to be constructed in the assembly hall by Herschal Calloway. When the Junior class has completed the study of "The Merchant of Venice," this play will be given on the Elizabethan stage.

After a temporary retirement, the "Reflector" will soon again appear in public places.

The History Clubs met last week. The program of the 10A was as follows:

Business meeting; History of Inauguration, Barbara Cosden; The Lame Duck Amendment, Laura Jane Magee; Life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Betty Capel; Life and Inventions of Alexander G. Bell, Vera Newnam; Life of Andrew Jackson, Margaret Brown; St. Patrick, Alvan Coleman; Brief History of Ireland, Dorothy Cosden; Life of Thomas Moore, Maryland Mench; "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" by Thomas Moore, sung by Beatrice Berger, Henrietta Duyer and Janet MacVean; Lord Byron's "Tribute to Moore" recited by Betty Crowe; Spelling match, Baynard Harper and Myrtle Hadaway, choosers.

The committee consisted of Myrtle Hadaway, Laura Jane Magee, and Baynard Harper.

The 10B program following the business meeting was:

Reading on History of Life of Andrew Jackson, Edward Patton; Reading on History of Early Ireland, Mark Wood; Thomas Moore's "The Harp That Once Thru Tara's Halls, Dorothy Walbert; Life of Thomas Moore, Elizabeth Johns; "The Minstrel Boy," son by Thomas Moore sung by Katherine Atwell, Margaret Hendrickson, Charles Wheatley and Oakley Valliant; Lord Byron's "Tribute to Moore" recited by Margaret Anthony; "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," quartette; Short biography of John Tyler, 10th President, Charles Wheatley; Reading an causes of great Irish migration to America and recent difficulties in Ireland, Elizabeth Westcott; Short biography of James Madison, 4th President, Robert Moore; The administration of Grover Cleveland, Marian Reinhart.

A talk on her trip through Mexico by Miss Peacock will be the feature of the Science Club meeting Wednesday.

Thursday the "Dragon" will again sponser a bowling contest at Betterton and a card party is to be held Friday night at the home of Mrs. Herszburg. If a "Dragon" is really to be printed this year, these attempts to earn money must be supported. Due to the supper held last Thursday, the "Dragon" at present is some thirty dollars better off.

Freshmen nearly ready to cook a breakfast, Sophs sewing, Juniors preparing clothing budgets to be made into illustrated pamphlets, and Seniors studying home nursing, all show the energy of the Home Ec. Department.

WOMEN'S AND GIRLS CLUBS

Maryland." Mrs. Hendrickson gave the welcome to which Lilliam Redman responded. Virginia Miller told us the qualities of "Charm" and what a girl must do to possess charm. Mrs. P. W. Bigelow gave a very touching but interesting talk on "The Girl and Her Mother." Barbara Bigelow, Thelma Urie, Margaret Hendrickson, and Beatrice Berger sang "Dreaming." A talk on the "Qualifications of a Good Club Member" by Mrs. Wm. Walter Morris, followed by the reading of several poems, "As a Man Thinketh" by Louise Ackerman; "Be a Booster" by Virginia Coleman; "What is Success" by Ruth Redding. Miss Schellinger gave a talk using several quotations from great men. In closing, we sang "Follow the Gleam" and repeated the Club Pledge.

This luncheon concludes the Food Project for this year, except several demonstrations which will be given next meeting.

Mrs. William Medders was made county-wide chairman for Welfare Work in the clubs.

Letters from more than a score of political and engineering leaders endorsing the appointment of Prof. W. E. Goldsborough of South Norwalk, Conn., as director of the Bureau of Standards, have been made public by his supporters.

Goldsborough, a member of a prominent Maryland Eastern Shore family, and a brother of Representative T. Alan Goldsborough (D., Md.), was born in Baltimore in 1871. His appointment has been recommended to President Roosevelt by Senator Lonegran (D., Conn.)

If you can smile in the face of difficulties you have a decided advantage over many.
