The Curbstone Diplomat

BY
WILLIAM S. COLLINS

Apologies to the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and all other organizations, people, etc., that are so enthusiastic for the Bay Bridge and new postoffice, but nothing gives me more confidence in my government both state and federal than that these two projects have been suspended for the time being. The familiar saying is, "We might as well get a new postoffice as let some other town have it," is fair enough but why should any town have an elaborate new post office in such times as these.

In Chestertown the interest at 4 per cent. on the new building would amount to more than the present rent. Local labor has not been employed to any large extent in the building of the new post office at Crisfied according to reports and no local contractor got the job. Would Chestertown be different?

It is needless to say that the great advantages of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge will also bring about some disadvantages. The great amount of employment it will give will put us in the same shape that Cecil county is in now. A lot of labor moved into Cecil County to build the Conowingo Dam and when completed they continued to stay in Cecil. This element sees to it that Cecil's criminal court does a good business. And Cecil suffers more from an undesirable element than any county on the shore. If I remember correctly some of the Chester River Bridge labor stayed on and gave the criminal court here a little business.

Engineers do not agree as to the cost of custruction or maintenance and some even think it impractical. The engineer that estimated the cost of the Kent Island tunnel and the possibilities of it happens to be the man that engineered the Baltimore Airport which was an engineering "Noble Experiment."

Wait until times are more prosperous before we try any more "Noble Experiments." No doubt the bridge could be built O. K. but it is no time to experiment.

The people that have real estate to sell here in the county can keep on using the present market which is from Philadelphia and New York. This element love to come to the Eastern Shore and bark in the advantage of the "Jim Crow Law." Baltimore County, Ann Arundel and Harford have plenty of pretty home-sites for sale and also some waterfronts. They are not overcrowded in Baltimore and the present financial condition is going to put some already developed property on sale.

The great boom to Chestertown is doubtful. Take any town close to Baltimore and do you see much business section in any of them. They have very little as every-body goes into the city to do their shopping.

The main trouble here today is that the people run to the cities to do their shopping instead of staying home where they helping themselves and getting as much for their money at the same time. A bridge would hardly increase business here judging from the towns that are close to Baltimore. Business conditions on the Shore here improve as you get further away from the cities. Look at Easton, Cambrige and Salisbury.

It is just like this. Automobiles ruined the country stores as everything went to the various towns. Improved roads and autos are taking them to the cities. Do not bring the cities any closer.

As I write this 3.2 has been on sale for seven hours at some places. Kent County will join the procession shortly. Many from the county went to Baltimore for the opening festivities. How many more hours do we have to wait for prosperity — Bootleggers hootch will flow on just the same as 3.2 won't do the trick.

BOYS 4-H CLUB NOTES

Kennedyville

The Kennedyville Boys' 4-H Club net at the home of President Joe Weer, Friday night, March 31st. Following the regular order of business, William Willis, George Lloyd Kennedy and Charles Hague, Jr., gave a very interesting and complete history of the Holstein breed of dairy cattle. The Guernsey breed will be studied at the next meeting. Assistant County Agent Sutton showed several pictures on the different breeds of dairy cattle and the major points considered in judging dairy cattle. Following this discussion, each member present took part in the county-wide judging contest being held this month. Fifteen members were present and found the meeting very helpful.

Handy Andy

Th Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club met at the home of Mr. Herbert Ford, Saturday afternoon, April 1st, for practice in judging Dairy Cattle. Two classes were used, one Holstein, the other Jersey. There was a difference of opinion concerning several cows, which resulted in a very helpful discussion. Twelve members were present and felt the afternoon was well spent.

Kent 4-H Clover Calf Club Elects

The Kent 4-H Clover Calf Club met at the home of Robert Moffett on Monday night, April 3rd. The club held an important meeting and in spite of the stormy evening, had an attendance of fifteen. New officers were elected as follows: President, Victor Hendrickson; Vice President, Herschel Carroll; Secretary, Virginia Dulin; Treasurer, Robert Moffett. Following some discussion reative to several topics of interest to the club, all took part in the judging contest.

Kent 4-H Daisy Calf Club Meets

The Kent 4-H Daisy Calf Club met at the home of Ewell Dodd Tuesday night, April 4th with Vice-President John Carroll in the chair. Four new members were present and welcomed as members of the club. Following pictures on "Opportunities of a 4-H Club Member," "Breeds of Dairy Cattle," and "Judging Dairy Cattle" were shown. The entire group placed the cows in the judging contest.

The Camden Elementary school was razed by flames Wednesday morning, of last week fire breaking out while classes were in progress.

Over four hundred pupils marched to safety, evacuating the building in less than minute, according to teachers, in what the children believed was a routine fire drill.

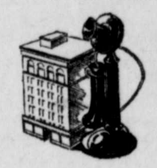

A few minutes after the last child left the building ceilings fell in and the roof sagged, dropping flaming debris into the classrooms and halls.

The building, a two story frame structure, was destroyed although every available piece of fire apparatus in Salisbury and nearby towns was pressed into service after the first general alarm had been sounded.

Talk smilingly. Your recital will have a more attentive hearing.

How's Business at your "SECOND ADDRESS" Mr. Merchant?

YOU were mighty careful in selecting the location for your store. You wanted to make it easy for your customers to visit.

But what about your "second address" — your telephone address?

Many people find it impossible to get away from home or office whenever they wish to shop in person. To these people, your advertisements are the windows and counters of your store. Your telephone is the door through which they enter and buy.

But only if you invite them. Make your telephone address known to them by featuring it in your advertising. Tell them how welcome they will be when they visit you by telephone.
