BOYS 4-H CLUB NOTES

Kent 4-H Progressive Poultry

The 4-H Progressive Poultry raisers met at the home of Misses Rebecca and Annabelle Groves, Wednesday night, April 5th. President William Carroll conducted the business meeting, after which Assistant County Agent Sutton conducted a discussion of improved poultry practices. Record sheets for egg and baby chicks were distributed to those who were in need of such. Several members reported baby chicks several weeks old and several have hatches due in a few days. The club is making progress in improving the quality of stock and practices in their community.

Piney Neck

The Piney Neck 4-H boys met Friday night, April 7th, at the school. Twenty-two members were present when president Arthur Flick called the meeting to order. Under new business the boys discussed plans for a "4-H rally" to be held in the near future and a committee was named by the president to make recommendations regarding the program and activities. This committee met Thursday afternoon, April 13th with Assistant Agent Sutton.

Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club. Ideal 4-H Poultry Club

A joint meeting of the Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club and the Ideal 4-H Poultry Club was held at the home of Julian Davis, near Galena, on Monday night, April 10th. Mike Freeman, president of the Handy Andy club presided. Talks and reports were made by Thomas Cruikshank, vice president of the Handy Andy club, Herbert Ford, Jr., Robert Sutton, Theodore Ford, local leader of the Ideal Poultry Club, and Assistant Agent Sutton. Wilson Sutton, Secretary of the Handy Andy, was elected to represent the club at "Club Week" in August. Five new members joined the two clubs.

Semi-annual All Star Conference Held At College Park

The Spring conference of the Maryland 4-H All Stars was held Saturday and Sunday, April 8th and 9th. This Organization consists of outstanding 4-H Club members from all parts of the State. Meetings are held twice each year to discuss problems of a statewide nature. Several of Kent's members attended the conference.

Why You Should Join A 4-H Club

4—reasons are embodied in the 4-H symbol, helping yourself to develop the Head, Heart, Hand, and Health in doing something worthwhile.

H—ave you ever stopped to think of the opportunities it will give you to work with other people, and the opportunities it will give them to work with you?

C—an you think of another organization that offers you more for what you put into it? We don't supply ambition—that's your own product.

L—eadership, sportsmanship, citizenship, ownership, friendship, acquaintanceship, partnership, and fellowship are offered you through the 4-H Clubs.

U—nless the 960,000 who now belong are wrong, there is something in it worthwhile for you, too. It costs nothing to try and there's much to gain.

B—etter methods in agriculture and homemaking will be taught to you. It's the world's largest business—you should know something about it.

W—ork and no play is not the slogan of 4-H Clubs. You'll enjoy some real good times with healthy recreation an incentive. Ask those who belong.

O—rganization set-up includes a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, song and yell leader, and a news reporter. Any of these offices will teach you much for future use.

R—ecords that you'll keep on your project, if you join, will teach you business fundamentals that will be valuable to you later on in life.

K—nowledge gained by actual experience under able local leaders who work with you will enable you to enjoy more fully the community in which you live.

DEATHS

JUDGE LEWIN W. WICKES

Funeral services for Judge Lewin W. Wickes, who died suddenly at his home on Front street, Chestertown on Saturday of last week, April 8th, were held from his late home Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. The funeral was largely attended by many prominent people of the State including Governor Ritchie, members of his staff, and members of the bench and bar from many parts of the State. The services were conducted by Revs. C. L. Atwater, rector of Emmanuel Church, Chestertown, and John White, rector of Old St. Paul's Parish. Interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery.

Judge Wickes, returned to his home here from Caroline county where he was holding Court, in order to attend a meeting of the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College Saturday morning. He left his home, intending to walk to the college and after attending to some business at the bank he was taken sick and returned to his home where he laid down. Dr. Simpers was summoned but pronounced him dead when he arrived. Death was attributed to heart trouble.

Judge Wickes was appointed to the bench in this circuit to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Judge Adkins to Chief Judge when Chief Judge Constable died, and in 1919 he was elected associate Judge for a term of 15 years. His term of office expired in 1934 and he would have been a candidate to succeed himself for the remaining two years before he reached the retirement age of 70 years. At the time of his death he was 66 years of age.

Judge Wickes was born in Chestertown December 17, 1856, and was the son of the late William N. E. and Anne Elizabeth (Wethered' Wickes. He attended the public schools of Chestertown and entered Washington College. In 1886 he entered John Hopkins University, later returning to Chestertown where he began the study of law in the office of Judge James A. Pearce and was admitted to the bar in 1890. Up until his appointment to the bench he was actively interested in politics in Kent county. He served for a number of years as a Vestryman of Emmanuel Church Chestertown, at the time of his death he was a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College, serving at one time as president of that Board. He served for four years as a member of the State Tax Commission and was a director of the Kent County Savings Bank.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alexine S. Wickes, formerly of Riverton, N. J., and three children, Mrs. Thomas H. Atherton, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Henry Kratzer, of Chestertown, and Master Lewin W. Wickes, Jr., at home. He also leaves one sister, Miss Rebecca Wickes, of Baltimore.

Honorary pall-bearers were: Judge Williarm H. Adkins, Easton; Judge Thomas J. Keating, Centreville; Mr. T. Homer Atherton, Philadelphia; Admiral Thomas T. Caven, Washington; Mr. Joseph L. Wickes, Baltimore; Dr. John Wethered, Baltimore; and Mr. Lemar Stewart, Baltimore.

Active bearers were: Messrs. Simon W. Westcott, Harrison W. Vickers and Senator S. Scott Beck, Chestertown; Lambert Davis, Cecilton; Dr. Walter Wickes, Baltimore; and George Brice, Far Hills, N. J.

FRANKLIN I. BODINE

Franklin Imlay Bodine, son of the late George I. and Helen Cornelius Bodine, died Monday at his residence, 6723 Emlin Street, Germantown, after an illness of several months. He was in his 56th year.

Mr. Bodine was a member of the firm of Bodine Sons & Co., dealers in bankers' and commercial paper, which was founded by his father sixty-seven years ago. About a year ago this noted brokerage house, an outstanding concern of its type, dissolved, and he retired from business.

He continued his activities in church work, however. He was national treasurer of the Chartered Fund of the Methodist Episcopal Church, founded a century ago as a beneficial organization for Methodist ministers in the United States. Mr. Bodine's father held this same office before him.

He also was a trustee of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church, at Broad and Arch Streets, and a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Germantown.

Mr. Bodine had withdrawn from many activities during the past two years, but retained his membership in the Union League.

Mr. Bodine is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Perkins Bodine, formerly, of Chestertown; a daughter, Mrs. Jackson R. Collins, of New York City, and a son, Harold Fort Bodine, of Philadelphia.

Two brothers and two sisters, all of Philadlephia, als osurvive. They are: George I. Bodine, Jr., Cornelius Bodine, Miss Helen Bodine and Mrs. H. Birchard Taylor (Clorence Bodine.)

The funeral was held Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the Bodine residence in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

The Wayside Poet

By J. Thomas Price

SPRINGTIME

The sun shines bright o'er hill and vale,
The wintery chill is felt no more ;
The song-birds in the tree-tops bring
A message, that the winter's o'er.

The violets lift their little heads,
And bloom in silent fragrance, rare ;
The daisies and the daffodills,
Both tell us that the Spring is here.

The grass grows green upon the hill,
The forest trees new life declare ;
The little lambs frisk o'er the lee,
And Nature breaths a thankful prayer.

O, may the joy of Spring-time, with—
New life and Resurrection, be—
The promise of that life beyond,
When we have crossed the Eternal Sea.

"THE KEYHOLE"

AT THE NEW LYCEUM MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The showing of the Warner Bros. picture, "The Keyhole," at the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and 18, marks the advent of a brand new screen couple in the persons of Kay Francis and George Brent.

Athough both have been playing leading roles at the Warner Bros. studios for more than a year this is the first time in which they have played in the same picture, being co-featured in this production.

The two make an unusually strong combination, both being among the finest featured players in Hollywood, and both having the background of successful stage careers before entering pictures. They are unusually well matched physically as well as in theatrical ability. They are the tallest couple playing together in serious drama, Miss Francis being five feet seven inches tall and Brent six feet tall.

Both are very dark brunettes, Miss Francis having a touch of Spanish blood. Her hair is glossy blue black and her eyes a very dark green. Mr. Brent, being Irish, has hazel eyes but his hair is almost as dark as Miss Francis', as is also his complexion.

They make such an attractive couple in "The Keyhole" that Warner Bros. are now casting about for new stories in which to pair them again. In "The Keyhole" Miss Francis has the role of a beautiful dancer who has married a wealthy society man, and is trying to escape from the clutches of a former dancing partner bent on blackmailing her. Brent is a spy hired by her jealous husband to watch her. He does his job so well that the two fall in love, which leads to a series of unusual complications.
