TAKE INVENTORY OF YOUR "RIGHES" BEFORE QUITTING

If you have a sound body and a balanced mind you are richer than most of the kings who have ruled upon thrones.

Most men who succeed in life get off to a bad start!

Charles Darwin was a "dull" boy, but his imagination became fired with a DEFINITE CHIEF AIM and lo! the world had found a genius.

Demosthenes stammered, but he mastered this handicap and became a great orator.

Thomas A. Edison had an "addled" mind, and his teachers advised his parents to take him out of school because he "did not have enough sense to be taught." He had only three months of schooling in his entire life.

Louisa M. Alcott began as a servant girl.

Robert Burns was an illiterate country lad, and a drunkard in the bargain.

Carnegie began as a telegraph operator at $40.00 a month.

Helen Keller became deaf, dumb and blind shortly after birth.

Charles Dickens began by pasting labels on blacking pots.

Booker T. Washington was born in slavery and was cursed by his color.

Lincoln was born in a log cabin, in the midst of ignorance and indifference.

Napoleon started as a private in the French armies.

Alfred E. Smith began as a fish peddler on the poverty-stricken East Side of New York.

Beethoven was deaf and Milton blind!

Milo C. Jones made a fortune out of "Little Pig" sausage after he had been stricken with paralysis and could not move a muscle in his body.

Neysa McMein slept in an attic, in New York City, before her front-page magazine drawings began to bring her $3,000.00 each.

All of these had misfortunes greater than any you will ever know, if you have a sound body and a sound mind.

When you begin to feel that you haven't an equal chance with others, think of these great souls and make a fresh start right where you stand, using whatever tools you have at hand, and soon your star will begin to ascend.

The only real handicap is lack of AMBITION and inadequate FAITH.

Napoleon Hill.

The Wayside Poet

By J. Thomas Price

WHERE ARE WE?

The problems that confront us, as a nation, are complex,
The conditions all about us, confuse us and perplex,
The Doctors who attend us, for our national ills, confess,
That the remedies they offer, are more or less, a guess.

The Politician Politics, but seems to get nowhere,
The Government officials, all seem to rave and tare,
The Republicans and Democrats both shed the briny tear,
And tell us that our trouble was because we had no beer.

The Farmer cannot sell his wheat, his hogs, his oats, his corn,
The milk man cannot sell his milk, the tinsmith sell his horn,
The business man is sore depressed and sure has lost his way.
The creditors speak language vile, and say we'll have to pay.

With all of these distressing things, the facts remain the same,
Our Country yet is full of gold, her graneries full of grain.
Our men by thousands without work, are facing dire distress,
We are a bug-house bunch of guys, I frankly must confess.

O what a mess we sure are in, and no one sees the end.
I'm not a Prophet nor a Seer, but this you may depend,
When man forgets the God above, and walks follies way,
The price in hardship, toil and pain, he must expect to pay.

NOTE:—Dr. Price, The Wayside Poet, speaks over Radio W D E L, Wilmington, Del., every Monday at 11.00 A. M.. and W I. P. Philadelphia, P., at 3.00 P. M. Tune in and hear him.
