KENT HEALTH REPORT

FEW DISEASES REPORTED DURING MARCH

The following report of the Kent County Health Department shows this county to be in a healthy condition:

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

Very few communicable diseases were reported during March there being two tuberculosis cases, five pneumonia cases ,and six other cases. The tuberculosis patients were visited by the nurses and the usual advice given concerning their care.

CLINICS

Two Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinics were held at the Health Center by Dr. F .A. Holden. Twenty eight patients were examined and several were referred to the hospital for tonsil and adenoid operations.

A Pre-School clinic was held at Kennedyville by Dr. Catherine Goodson. Eight children were examined and two were found to be in need of special care.

Five Social Clinics were held at the Health Center by Dr. H. G. Simpers. A total of 139 treatments were given and ten Wassermanns taken. Six new patients from this county were added to the clinic and one from Queen Anne's County.

SCHOOL WORK

Examinations of school children were conducted in the Rock Hall, Galena, Millington, Piney Neck, Skinners Neck, Swan Creek, and St. Paul elementary schools. Four hundred and thirty-four children were examined. Each year a physical examination is made on every child below the seventh grade. Parents of those children found to have defects are notified of such and are advised to take their children to the family physician. In conductcing these examinations the nurses first visit the school, weigh, measure, and test the eyes of the children, later the health officer follows these visits and completes the examinations.

Cultured the throats of 210 children of the Garnet High and Elementary school for diphtheria.

MISCELLANEOUS

A great amount of time was devoted during the month to preparation for National Negro Health Week, April 2nd to 9th.

The health officer and nurses continue to do a great deal of social service work. Many families who have been able to get along on a very scanty amount of food are now completely out of sustenance of any kind and the Welfare Association and the Health Department are being called on every day for more help. The Red Cross flour, which has been a great benefit in the county, is about used up and the President of the Kent County Chapter has been notified that no more is available.

During the month a total of fourteen cases were assisted in entering various hospitals and institutions in Maryland through the Health Department.

WHEN ECONOMY COUNTS

There's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip—and many a one these days hung up in the bathroom to dry over night. And don't mistake it for a towel.

The Curbstone Diplomat

BY WILLIAM S. COLLINS

If the great idea of Secretary of Labor Perkins goes into effect, Kent County should get its share of improvements. Secretary Perkins would put the idle to work building sewerage systems, lighting systems and other such improvements for communities that cannot afford to do the building themselves. That's us.

Here is Chestertown the sewerage system has been in a sad state for a long while and the town has been unable to do anything about it. The street lighting is very poor and the much talked of waiting room here for the country people are two other needs that the town has been unable to attend to, along with a playground for the children. If the government should start building High Schools it looks like we would be on the front row for a handout.

The need for a playground sounds foolish but one thing has happened recently which proves the necessity and that is outlawing roller-skating on the streets. It is dangerous to force children to skate in the road, but yet, on the other hand it was dangerous for older people walking on the streets. The season for the great American game has started but many people object to their yards being turned into ball parks. They play in the roads but it is dangerous and it is so easy to bat one through a window. Children have to play and get exercise and yet people object to their yards, flowers, fences, etc., being torn up. The town of course is financially unable to continue on with the playground that was started many years ago and have turned it over to a pair of mules. Summer is coming on and swimming will start. Warning has been given against swimming in the vicinity of Chestertown by health authorities because of the town sewerage system.

So, when Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins starts her missionary work let us hope we will be remembered.

To the young boys from town that crashed the dance up at the "Black Cat" near Wilmington last Saturday night, by placing boards against the back of the building and climbing up on these and going through a window, we will warn them that you can get away with things in the country that city people will not stand for. A local boy can get away with a lot of mischief in his home town and sometimes in neighboring towns but these city cops believe in hauling you in.

It looks as though the election of two judges in this circuit in two years time is going to be the center of quite a political battle. It does not seem just right that judges should have to mix in political battles but yet this matter of letting the people choose seems to be the only way.

Beer went on sale (legally) in Kent County this past Wednesday. This was just about four or five days later than other counties on the shore.

In some of the other counties it was quite an event, the places selling it doing a big business but in Chestertown it seems to have caused hardly any excitement. One reason for this is that many people from town went to Centreville and tried the new beverage there so it was no novelty. Others have had it brought from the city so it was really no novelty here on Wednesday and the sales are not as good as was expected.

Objections have been filed against one place selling the beverage. There is no place in Chestertown where you can buy a case. If you wish to buy beer to take with you it is necessary to go to other places in the county. The reason for this is that no one here has taken out that kind of license.

Wary eyes were on lawyer's row last Saturday. The Mayor, a Councilman, Officer Cooper and several of the town's leading church people had a meeting. Many thought the meeting was to stop the sale of beer in town. Maybe it was, or maybe it wasn't, but stopping everybody is a hard matter. A cause must be given against a certain place. Inquiries have been made about stopping the sale in town, but it is believed that the problem was too great.

In Queen Annes a drive is going to be made against bootleggers. The officers claim that it has been impossible to deal with them before as the sympathy of too many people were with the bootleggers, but now they think the attitude of the people has changed because beer has been made legal. Maybe they are right but lottsa folks likes hootch, and you all Queen Anne's officers ought t' know that.

This reminds me of a funny request I had last Sunday. A man came to me and said "Put in your column next week that I was drunk Sunday, you know don't say drunk but just word it so that everybody will know that I was feeling good." Well on Thursday he changed the request.

A little girl from Queen Annes' comes to Chestertown selling caramels once or twice a week. She can clog dance and is rather cute. Officer Cooper in parental mood said to her "My I wish I had a little girl like you." The little girl evidently mistook his mood, for she blushed and said, "I am afraid you are little too old for me."
