A clergyman who at times has a rather defective memory, was making the announcements for the coming week. He wanted to intimate that he would not be the preacher on the following Sunday, and that the pulpit would be occupied by his son-in-law, but at the last moment his memory went astray.

"In addition to the notices just read," he said, "I desire to say I shall not be preaching here next Sabbath. The pulpit will be occupied by—by—"

He faltered for a few seconds, then tried again.

"The preacher will be—" breaking off in exasperation. "Why, I know him quite well. You all know him. He married my daughter."

Then a smile broke over his face.

"Oh, I remember," he said; then went on, gravely, "Tom will preach here next Sunday."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

AND THEN SHE PERSPIRED

"My, how dough-faced Mabelle looks tonight."

"She ran out of powder and had to use flour."

Something for Conversation

He was a fussy little man, and throughout his voyage on the liner he bothered all the officials aboard just for the joy of talking to someone in uniform.

One day he walked up to the captain and with subdued excitement showed him a bright screw he had picked up.

"I've just found this," he said. "I thought you might know where it belongs."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

His Side of the Question

"How's your boy Josh doing at college?"

"He thinks he knows more than the professor," answered Farmer Corntossel.

"Are you going to call him down?"

"I don't know. After hearin' the professor talk over the radio, blamed if I don't think maybe he does."

Peace Offering

Elsie—My mamma got a nice present yesterday an' she frew her arms around papa's neck. What does your mamma do when she gets a nice present?

Eddie—She tells daddy she'll forgive him, but he mustn't stay out late again.—Boston Transcript.

Failure

Police Sergeant—I think we've found your missing wife.

Joseph Peck—Have you? What does she say?

Sergeant—Nothing.

Joseph Peck—That's not my wife! —Humorist Magazine.

ONLY IN THE INFANTRY

"You mean to say that youngster has joined the army?"

"He's only gone into the infantry, you know."

No Sleep

"Did you ever hear of the straw which broke the camel's back?" asked the guest at a country inn.

"Yes, sir," replied the landlord.

"Well, you'll find it in the bed I tried to sleep in last night."—Montreal Gazette.

At Least He's Frank

Political Orator—Fellow citizens, what are we here for?

Man in Crowd—Someone said you were goin' to pass cigars around.—Brooklyn Eagle.

So I See!

Lady (to hotel acquaintance)—A terrible thing has happened. I've had a lot of clothes stolen.

Acquaintance—By jove, yes! Nearly all of 'em, what?

Sybil of the Ruby Lamp

"She was only a photographer's daughter."

"Yes, she sits in a dark room and awaits developments."—Battalion.

No Wonder

"Yes, my father always get a warm reception wherever he goes."

"Really! He must be popular."

"It isn't that. He's a fireman."

Business Is Punk

First Marcher—Had any luck today, Pal?

Second Ditto—No—just a couple o' handouts and an offer of work.

Why Higher Wages

Boss—You ask high wages for a man with no experience.

Applicant—But it is so much harder work when you don't know anything about it.

Wisecracker

John—Is a chicken three weeks old big enough to eat?

Jim—Why, of course not!

John—Then how does it live?
