"DISGRACED"

Between the glamorous movie star and her vast public, there's always an "in-between"—a "Mr. X" that the public never sees.

"Mr. X" is usually a paid secretary or attorney—but Helen Twelvetrees, featured in Paramount's "Disgraced!" has enlisted her husband, Jack Woody, in the role of shock-trooper!

Woody, one-time stunt man and actor, to whom Miss Twelvetrees has been married for several years, is also her manager, handles all business problems, and knows all the answers.

It was he who negotiated with Paramount for her new contract, on which "Disgraced," which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, July 26 and 27, is her second picture. In "Disgraced," in which Bruce Cabot, Adrienne Ames, William Harrigan and Ken Murray are also featured, Miss Twelvetrees plays the role of a woman who tries to be too modern.

NOW AND THEN

THE HEATHEN

By Rev. Robert Freeman

I used to think him heathen
Just because—well, don't you see,
He didn't speak God's English,
And he didn't look like me.
He had a burnt complexion,
Which is heathen, goodness knows!
He ate a heathen's rations,
And he wore a heathen's clothes.
But there's a s'prising skinful
In that bloke from far away;
There's humor in his wrinkles,
And I've heard the beggar pray.
He's kind to little kiddies,
And there's written in his eyes
The willingness to render
All a Christian's sacrifice.
Yes, you'd know him for a heathen
If you judged him by the hide:
But bless you, he's my brother,
For he's just like me inside!

And so are we all brothers. If we could get that fact under our skin, how much more tolerant would we be of others faults. In fact no one knows, but the person who did it, what prompted him to do the thing you criticize so much. "Let brotherly love continue," and if that were the case the world be a much more enjoyable place.

The out door get together services, have proved a success so far, though the weather interfered several times. Last Sunday there were at least four hundred, the ushers said counting those in the automobiles around. The band is adding a very attractive feature to these services. There is something about a band that appeals to one's sympathies, all the musicians together to make harmony, if one fails in his part the effect is spoiled. The firemen have reason to be proud of their band.

In walking down the street a few days ago, the writer saw a man and woman coming toward her, so much interested in one another that she thought surely it must be "a courting couple." On nearer approach, however they proved to be an old married couple with children approaching womanhood. Someone has described our town as being a place where the men are in love with their wives. That is a very fine thing to say of any place, especially in a time when the divorce market is playing such a part in the world.

Neighborhoods, what are they? It seems that they should be like one big family, for the same things seem to add to their comfort or discomfort. Some one has told me of going into a new place, how one dear lady called at once and did all she could to help her. It made her feel so much more comfortable, and, through this neighbor's kindness, she soon knew many around her. But the lady next door never called. In speaking of this to her kind friend, the latter responded. "Oh, well she does not neighbor." I am sure that the lady who did not neighbor missed a great deal out of her life.

Picnics are fine things to indulge in. They get one out of ruts, and make them willing to put up with small inconveniencies and enjoy the great out of doors. You may bring home some bites and a lot of sand but they are a great thing never the less.

Father's Day. This year it was on June 18. I wonder how many of the gifts were bought with money furnished by father.

Family Ties

Dad's gift on Father's Day from Sue
Most fathers would delight.
The tie was of his favorite hue;
The stripes were not too bright.

And Willy chose, with practiced eye,
His gift for Father's Day.
He picked a neat and handsome tie
For father to display.

While even Tom, the youngest son,
In buying showed great care.
He chose a tie most any one
With pride and joy would wear.

The only ugly tie dad got
Was given him by Ned.
It had a great big polka dot,
And—worse still—it was red!

Yet dad considered this the best
Of all the ties he had,
For it was different from the rest—
It wasn't charged to dad!

BANK PLAN TO DEPOSITORS

MAY OPEN IN 15 DAYS

The fact that the Third National Bank may open within 15 days was revcaled to depositors on Friday of this week when notices of the plan were sent out. Included with the plan were blanks for agreement and waiver urging depositors to sign immediately so that normal business may be resumed within the 15-day-time limit.

The plan includes the transfer of 55 per cent of the deposits to the active account of the new bank, to be known as the First National Bank of Chestertown, which when opened will have a capital stock of $50,000 and a surplus of $20,000 and be free of debt.

The 45 per cent of the deposits, which will be retained, are backed up by depreciated securities based on the Federal audit of May 1st and which have greatly appreciated in value since that time. Messrs. Howard N. Baldwin, Donald F. Stam and William R. Huey have been designated as trustees of the trusted funds of the old bank and will have charge of the interests of the depositors as far as the retained portion of the deposits are concerned.

Confidence in the Third National Bank by the people of this community is evidenced by the fact that deposits of $98,000 have been made since the bank holidays.

It has been decided to hold the Kent County Horse Show, which will take place on Thursday afternoon, August 24th, on the farm which is now occupied by William Toulson. This location was selected after a careful inspection of the available places. A change in the place where the Show is held is necessitated by the farmers' rotation of crops but the Association eventually hopes to find a permanent location.

A larger number of entries is expected this year than during the last two years. A number of newcomers to Kent County have displayed an interest in horses and hunting and their cooperation is being sought by the Association.
