THE TRANSCRIPT

THE PLANS OF reopening the Third National Bank, together with the agreement and waiver, were mailed to depositors on Friday and according to the provisions of the plan the bank may open for normal business within fifteen days, provided the depositors act at once. The plan was worked out by the Federal Government, after three months of thorough study by the various departments and has the approval of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond and the R. F. C., and meets all the requirements of the recently passed Federal Banking act. Officials of the bank have been working day and night in order to expidate the approval of the plan and it was checked from every possible angle before being approved. With the mailing of the information, it is now entirely within the hands of the depositors as to how soon the bank will open for normal business. It is to their advantage to act at once and sign the agreement immediately so that the new bank nay serve the community again as soon as possible. Arrangements have been made at the bank so that depositors may go there and make the necessary assignments. At the time of going to press on Friday depositors had already begun to show their willingness to cooperate by signing the agreement and waiver blank.

BITES SHERIFF'S ARM AND BREAKS FURNITURE

Mrs. Edith Syracuse, of New York, suffered a complete mental derangement while motoring from Middle River to New York on Thursday and turned right at Elkton and came to Kent County. She drove her car into the ditch at Georgetown and wandered about in that section.

Sheriff Vickers was notified and with Mrs. Vickers and Mr. Simon W. Westcott, found the lady standing behind a tree and after all efforts to talk or reason with her failed she was brought to the Kent County jail and her husband notified. Thursday night her mental condition became worse and she broke up some furniture, bit Sheriff Vickers on the arm and was kept under control only by physical strength of the sheriff and assistants. Her husband arrived Friday morning and she was taken to the Voshel Hotel where her condition is reported to be sightly improved.
