Hints for the Household

FOR JULY
BY BETTY WEBSTER

Not very long ago I was a guest at a most amusing party. It waws a large affair and might have been hard to manage if the hostess had not been inordinately clever.

During the first part of the evening there was an old song contest which provoked gales of laughter—slips of paper and pencils were passed and the guests were asked to write, in order, the names of the songs, snatches of which were played on the piano. The prize for this was a bound volume of "college songs" which were so popular some years back

Then we danced—the Virginia reel and the rye waltz. Somebody performed a cake walk and one venturesome couple did the lancers.

When we filed out for dinner we found no place cards. Instead there were tiny cloisonne picture frames on the table, each one containing an old picture of one of the guests. It was almost impossible to identify some of them—even baby pictures appeared in the collection—but eventually all were seated and the dinner progressed merrily.

The food, of course, was as up-to-date as it could be and conversation didn't lag for an instant.

The table decorations were simple, a centerpiece of flowers set between two candlesticks, but most effective.

This party is unforgettable because it is unique and can be used for any number of people. Why don't you have one?

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

Center. Dr. S. H. Hurdle was the examining physician. Twenty-eight patients were examined. The Tuberculosis clinic offers to those who are in contact with an active case or those who have early symptoms of tuberculosis an opportunity to have an examination by a specialist in this disease free of charge. Those needing hospital care are sent to one of the state sanatoriums after receiving the approval of the family physician. The report of all examinations are sent to the family doctor.

Pre-Natal Clinic

Kent County continues to have one of the highest infant death rates of any county in Maryland. This high death rate is confined largely to the colored group and in families of the poorer class. To combat this condition a series of pre-natal clinics will be held in the Health Center in Chestertown. Dr. E. P. H. Harrison a specialist in obstetrics at the Johns Hopkns Hospital, held the first clinic in June and was assisted by several of the local physicians. Expectant mothers may receive expert advice at such clinics and those having any abnormalities are advised as to their condition and a report is sent to the family physician. At each pre-natal clinic several midwivs are requested to be present and are instructed in pre-natal and postnatal care.

Orthopedic Clinic

Each year an Orthopedic Clinic is held in the county at which time any crippled child or adult suffering from bone deformities may be examined by a specialist. Orthopedic Clinics in Maryland are held under the cooperation of the Maryland League for Crippled Children and the State Department of Health. A revised list of all crippled children is maintained in the office of the Health Department and when such clinics are held children known to have some bone defect are advised to be present for the examination. Dr. Harry Rogers of the staff of the Kernan's Hospital and the Children's Hospital School of Baltimore usually makes the examnations. At the last clinic twenty-five patients were examined. Children needing corrective treatment are sent to Kernan's Hospital and the Children's Hospital School in Baltimore.

Two Eye,Ear, Nose and Throt Clinics were held during the month at which twenty-one patients were examined.

Four Social Disease Clinics were held by Dr. H. G. Simpers in the Health Center. Twenty-nine blood tests were made and one hundred forty-one treatments given.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.
