THE SQUADRON'S LOG

BY THE STOWAWAY

The annual Chester River Regatta sponsored by the Chester River Yacht and Country Club is "on again', off again., gone again'" for another year. It will go down in the annals of the Club as the friendly regatta held in the last year of the depression, just before the Blue Eagle flapped his wings and shrieked "We do our Part."

If will be remembered as the year when. When Mayor Jackson, of Balmore, presented the trophies to the winners at the dance at the Club House on Saturday evening. When thirty handsome yachts attended, the largest number yet visiting for any regatta. When smaller craft were conspicuously absent.

When the canoes did not race. In fact, only the "Mayflower" was present, for the Blue Eagle of the N R A had not yet ventured out its nest.

When the "Mayflower" had new sails and no chance to use them.

When model boat racing was a feature of the regatta, and when Mr. Oliver Bryden's beautiful pungie was exhibited in the Club house.

When Captain Moore brought his handsome new yacht, "Katharine II" back to visit the Squadron because, he said, neither he nor Mrs. Moore could forget the many kindness shown to them two years ago when a dreadful storm marred the annual regatta.

When the future of the U. S. coast guard service was assured by the determination of half the small boy contigent at the races to join the Coast Guard Service.

When the Club supplied its own gun for the races, fired for the most part by Jack Kibler, chief gunner's mate.

When C. G. 209 was stake boat, probably in the last year of her service.

When the Ensign, Mr. Plakias, and the crew of the C. G. 209 were worthy of the hero worship accorded to them by the small boys.

When Patsy Rascob let go the tiller of her racing star boat "Carrie Buggs" and let it get itself across the finish line while she held fast to her ears as the finish gun boomed.

When the chief sailing races were held off the mouth of the Corsica River. When the "Green Dragon" lost its tiller five times in one race.

When Phillip Smith, the youngest member of the Power Squadron class, spent the entire Saturday class. darting hither and you in his tiny red scooter.

When only the sailingest of boats and the best of navigators were in the races.

When every race was called on time no hangovers, no hitches, no substitutions. Messers. Tom Kibler, Marion Smith and Herbert Hartman were the judges.

When Saturday's sailing races drifted in front of the club house for the entire morning.

When the Baltimore "Sun" reported the fastest boats on the Chesapeake at the regatta, and illustrated with a picture, showing the boats drifting calmly. The Stowaway asks if that was meant for sarcasm.

When no accident marred the regatta, not a single "man overboard," and not one boat capsized. It was strange indeed not to see the river bank lined with drying sails.

When "Patricia" won two races in the speed boat classes; one when driven by her Captain, Dorsey Hines, and the other when driven by First Mate Elvira Hines.

When Hynson Rogers did not win a race.

When both dancers, Friday night and Saturday night were successful in everyway.

When Ivan Culver was the funny man in the jazz orchestra.

When every one said the dance music was good.

When the special event was as usual the handicap cruiser race won by the new Squadronites, the Harrisons of Queen Anne.

All in all it was a fine regatta, and, unless "We do our Part" it will be the last. But Chestertown will do its part, its merchants will covenant with the President and its housewives will buy only from those privileged to display the Blue Eagle and the regatta next year and the next will be bigger and better.

Irate Farmer: "Young man, do you know it is six a. m.? What do you mean by bringing my daughter home at this hour?"

Suitor: "Well, you see, I had to. I work at the hatchery, and I gotta be at work by seven."

Let's Try To Be True

Just try to be true, O my brother,
And the trying will surely bring,
Great joy to your heart; and the vision
Of God, your Master and King.

That one in sore need is your brother,
Go help him as oft you've been told;
The bread that you cast on the waters,
Some day will return seven-fold.

The Saviour of men was the Toiler,
And the Hero of Calvery;
He went to the help of the needy,
Their friend, He proved ever, to be.

Let's try to be true to each other,
And true to this Saviour above;
And joy, and sweet peace will be ours,
And life. an expression, of love.

WILMINGTON DOLLRR DAY

SEMI-ANNUAL EVENT TO BE HELD AUGUST 9

Fall Dollar Day in Wilmington will be observed on Wednesday, August 9, under the auspices of the Mercantile Section of the Chamber of Commerce and affiliated stores, which will be designated by the display of the official emblem of the Section which will be shown prominently in store windows and on counters within official stores. This event will mark the outstanding opportunity for shoppers from all parts of the Peninsula and surrounding territory to secure bargains in a wide variety of merchandise seasonable just now, or of staple use. Wilmington has conducted these semi-annual Dollar Days for more than twenty years, and they are famous throughout the country because of the unusual opportunities offered everyone.

Unusual efforts have been made to make this the premier Dollar Day of the long series, and for weeks purchasing authorities of these stores have been combing the wholesale markets for additions to already widely diversified stocks, so they could give shoppers the benefit of the highest possible v laueats Dollar Day prices. Ample arrangements have been made to care for the crowds which surely will take advantage of this event, and every care has been taken to insure that visitors will have no cause for complaint.

Attendance at Wilmington Dollar Days has become a fixed custom with housewives of the Peninsula, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and the number attending increases each year. Ofte it has been found ncessary to arrange for "traffic police" to handle the crowds in stores.

In view of the present tendency toward higher prices, it is probable that this Dollar Day will furnish the last apportunity for some time to "stock up" homes with necessities for household use and personal wear. This event will be carried through on Wednesday next, rain or shine. There will be no advance "Courtesy Days."

"Sandy," questioned the doctor, "did you take the whiskey and eggs, as I prescribed?"

"Weel, doctor," admitted Mr. McTavish, "I may be a wee bit behind with' eggs, but I'm about six weeks

The Curbstone Diplomat

WILLIAM S. COLLINS

Hot this week, did you say? Well, according to Mr. Perkins, Chestertown dry leader, so much good news has been reaching him about Kent County voting dry in September that he has not minded the heat at all; in fact he has actually felt cool. Wonder where all this news has been comnig from?

If any of the drys are down in the mouth about the way the states are diving in the pond, pick up "The Union Signal" read of the National Convention of the young dry workers in Milwaukee. On the front page of the magazine is a picture of the convention. About ninety-five per cent of the group are Misses who have passed the half century mark. The other five per cent are made up of children under twelve, four boys in long pants, two of which look to be in tow of their mother. Several young girls that do not look like belles so there is not much danger of them dancing. There alone sits one young lady who is very attractive and look out of place.

Reading matter in the signal that should please will be found in several different articles. The fact that liquor could not be obtained prevented bloodshed during the depression? (Th-op-oppo o st o o st.) Another enticing article is by a young lady which the "Union Signal" quotes as follows. "This charming young woman told how prayer had closed the saloons." She said the porter on the Pullman on the way to the convention watched them as they talked and sang and had their services and asked them about their destination. They told him what they stood for, and he said he had noticed they had not asked for bridge tables, and had not called for beer, and he pleaded earnestly, "You just go right on, and fight the liquor with all the power you've got, an don't you all be disencouraged."

In Kent County the dry forces have organized and gone to work. So far we have seen no effort of any kind made on the part of the wets. The drys are claiming that if Kent County goes for "repeal" it will ultimately end in the abolishment of the Local Option Law. They are unduly alarmed however for many will vote for repeal that favor the Local Option Law.

The only chance for the "Drys" here, one wet authority says, is that they get their entire dry vote out and that the wets let things slide like they are at present.

Kent County has in round numbers about seven thousand votes. Just how are these going on the Wet and Dry question in September.

Over 4,500 people vote in the Democratic primary in Kent County Just what percentage of this is doubtful we are unable to say. One politican on Lawyer's Row said he did not want to be quoted. Mr. Cody Loud, who claims to be a walking encyclopedia for everything this side of the Mississippi River, fell down on the question. The Loud Encyclopedia's stock took a big drop. Whether the doubtful crowd will vote at all is hard to say as there probably will be no inducement.

The Republican Party has over 2,300 votes. Over 1800 of these are colored. So, saying there are no doubtful voters among the white republicans, the vast majority of the other 1800 is doubtful. On questioning two colored voters on the subject we find Charlie (Piggy) Glen intends to vote dry. Simon Evans who has an A No. 1 reputation intends to vote for repeal as he says he has enough of prohibition.

The attedance at the Chester River Regatta this year was not quite as large as usual. Maybe the depression was part of the cause but the fact there was another regatta going on just across the bay was probably the bigger cause.

The Regatta was quite a success however and we understand financed itself O. K. However, next year we would like to have it a little larger. Several business places reported a heavy volumne of business from the regatta. Gill Bros. did the largest business they have done since they opened their new parlor. George Kellas at the Chestertown Restaurant also reported a large business. If the town would give the club good support on the regattas you can see what a business asset it would be.

Next year it is to be hoped that our regatta date does not conflict with any other. Many of the Yacht Clubs belong to the American Power Boat Association. This association arranges regatta date.

ROCK HALL LOSES TO WYOMING

Rock Hall baseball team suffered its third defeat of the season when it lost to Wyoming at Wyoming Delaware last Saturday by the narrow margin of 3 to 2.

Rock Hall started the game with a bang when Rosser and J. Williams both doubled and Wheat was safe on first by an error. This filled the abses and Bennie singled to bring in 2 runs to lead 2 to 0 until the fourth inning when Wyoming scored 2 runs to tie the score. In the ninth inning Wyoming put across the winning run when M Jackson trippled and was followed by Grant's single.

Bill Loller and Grant, former battery for Rock Hall, are now playing with Wyoming.

Rock Hall will play a return game with Wyoming at Rock Hall today, Saturday.

BREAKS BAY SWIM RECORD

COVERS 9 3-8 NAUTICAL MILES IN 6 HRS. 48 MIN.

Harold White, age 22 years, broke the record on the swim from Bay Shore to Tolchester, formerly held by Lillian Cannon, by 1 hour and 24 minutes on Saturday of last week when he completed the 9 3-8 nautical miles or 10 7-8 land miles, in 6 hours and 48 minutes.

He entered the water at 7 a. m. after being thoroughly greased by his trainer, and landed on the shore 1-4 mile below Tolchester wharf at 1.58 p. m. He took nourishment after swimming 2 1-2 miles and when half the way over developed a cramp in his leg that almost compelled him to give up the swim but he shook it off and finished the swim without further nourishment. He was met on the shore at Tolchester by his mother who greeted him with a kiss that thouroughly greased her face, and then he fell thoroughly exhausted.

White is 6 feet 1 1-2 inches tall, weighs 185 pounds and is a life guard at Fort Smallwood. He was assisted on the swim by calm waters all of the way.

GRANTED PAROLE

Due to failing health, Frank V. Hogans, young Chestertown man, who is serving 12 months in the House of Correction, was granted a parole by Governor Ritchie on August 1st.

The provisions of the parole were that he enter a State Sanitorium for treatment.
