KENT FARMERS TO PICNIC

ANNUAL GATHERING TO BE HELD AT TOLCHESTER

ARRANGED BY FARM BUREAU

The annual Kent county "Farmer's Picnic" has been set for Thursday, August 17, at Tolchester Beach, according to an announcement made this morning by James D. Davis, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Kent County Farm Bureau, which sponsors the yearly affair. E. Thomas Massey is president of the organization and L. A. Sutton the vice-president.

All the usual features, with the exception of the beauty contest, and some new ones are to be included in the program now being arranged, according to Secretary Davis. Free ice cream, iced tea and lemonade will be offered to all attending, as will be free parking space.

The high spot of the picnic, however, is expected to be the Baby Contest, scheduled this year to take the place of the abandoned beauty contest. The Baby Show will be in three classes, with special groups for babies under three-year olds, two-year olds and one-year olds. Kent farm babies are expected to be placed in the contest in goodly numbers and an interesting affair is expected.

For some years past the annual gathering of the Kent farmers at Tolchester has been on of the gala occasions of the year for the agriculturists of this county and their families. Mr. Davis, who is chairman in charge of the picnic arrangements, hopes to make this year's gathering bigger and better than ever.

One hears a great deal about the absent-minded professors, but none more absent-minded than the dentist who said soothingly as he applied the pliers to his automobile:

"Now, this is going to hurt just a little."

NOW AND THEN

CLOVER

Whereever the first clover blooms,
With honey in its heart,
Golden bees will find the way
To ply their ancient art.
No winter's ever long enough
To breed forgetfulness,
To make the clover selfish
Or the bee love less.
Nations forget their pacts
And men go separate;
No tie like this exists
In any State.
Cycles of years go on
Into millenniums,
And still where clover blooms
The gold bee comes.

LOUISE DRISCOLL.

Is there any more busy place than a clover field Just rest for awhile in the midst of one, and watch the insects in their search for sweets.

Bumbles, in their tumbling way, making such a buzzing noise while the little honey bee knows just where the clover is storing its sweets and goes right into its heart. Beetles are crawling on the ground, while the grass hopper jumps from flower to flower. Butterflies, too, are flitting from plant to plant, looking like flying flowers, with their bright wings.

Many people, when they see the Royal family with all their gorgeous trappings, think that it would be a fine thing to be King. But we are reading now that they are complaining that they are terribly overworked. The Prince of Wales has work from morning till night attending meetings all day, while he is supposed to be at social affairs in the evening. The poor prince hardly has time to visit foreign Princesses, and therefore he remains a bachelor. The Duchess of York, too, is complaining of the numberless garden parties which she has to attend and numberless social duties. So if one wants a little elegant leisure, don't join the Royal Family.

Sometime ago, I visited a home that was certainly a bird sanctuary. In going over the grounds we found little beds of weeds that grew seed that the birds liked to eat; bushes that were taboo because a nest was there and everything was made inviting for the little feathered friends. And they accepted the hospitality and were there in abundance. About thirty different varieties made their homes in some parts of the grounds.

They showed their appreciation too. When someone was playing on the piano, a little bird came near and sang with all its little might to the accompaiment, while a mocking bird took its stand on a tower and imitated all the different songs of birdland. It was a very pleasant experience and, in thanking my friends for their hospitality, I felt I should have thanked the birds too, for they seemed to consider that it was their home as well as the humans who dwelt there.

"The kiss of the sun for pardon,
The song of the birds for mirth,
One is nearer God's heart in a garden,
Than any place else on earth."

The above verse is inscribed on the Carillon which Edward Bok erected for the birds on his estate in Florida.

"The Barretts, of Wimple Street," is one of the popular plays of the day. The romance between Mr. Browning and the invalid Elizabeth Barrett has always been a favorite story. To-day I am reading the biography of "Flush" her little dog. Flush was an intelligent little fellow that loved the fresh air and sunshine, but when he was given to Miss Barrett he learned to love her very dearly and was willing to sacrifice the great outdoors for her sake, willing to stay in an invalid's darkened room and lay on the couch at her feet. But sad times appeared for the little doggie. He found himself forgotten and put aside, so he hated Mr. Browning, also the flowers he sent his lady love. It is an interesting story, written by Virginia Woolf. The story is called "Flush." Read it.

TWIN REGATTA AT BETTERTON AUGUST 26 AND 27

Corinthian Yacht Club of Philadelphia Will Hold Three-Day Meet for Star Boats--- Betterton Yacht Club Will Stage Their Third Annual Regatta .

With entries and inquiries pouring into the office of the Betterton Yacht Club, the officials of the Club believe the regatta will be the largest event ever staged at Betterton.

The Committee headed by Commodore J. Franklin Storke have been hard at work and have advertised the regatta well. Posters were distributed at the Havre de Grace Regatta, Miles River Regatta, Chester River Regatta and at other yachting centers. The yachting magazines have carried advertisements and have included the Betterton Regatta in their regatta schedule. As a result there are many requests for entry blanks. These will go out this week.

Many boats are expected from the Delaware Bay as well as from the Chesapeake.

The Corinthian Yacht Club will be staging a regatta at Betterton on August 25th, 26th and 27th. This regatta will cater to Star Boats and three or four clubs will be represented.

The Hotel Betterton will be used as headquarters for the Corinthian Club. The Corinthian Regatta and the Betterton Regatta are seperate regattas and will in no way conflict. Betterton will render the Corinthian Club all the help possible.

A derrick will be on the Turner Pier which will launch all boats that come by truck. This will be used for both regattas.

The following is a letter which Commodore Storke has written to Yacht Clubs inquiring about the regatta.

"The Third Annual Regatta of The Betterton Yacht Club, will be held on the 26th and 27th of August.

The committees have been working for some time on this event and we expect this week end to be an outstanding one in the history of this resort.

Saturday, August 26th will be devoted, principally to sailing races of all classes and the smaller power boats. Sunday, August 27th will be reserved for the main power boats and we expect to have several very sensational races in the class.

Last year we were very successful in our Star boat entries and to date, our entries are larger than we had fully anticipated. One feature that will be new and always peps up the dull moments in all regattas will be the listing of all classes of out board boats and we are expecting a number of entries from upper New Jersey.

Adding greatly to this eventful week end the Corinthian Yacht Club will also stage their races in these waters on the same dates.

Very truly yours,
C. Franklin Storke,
Commodore.

The race committee have listed their races. Two sailing races will take place the first day followed by the first heats of the speed-boat races. The cruiser races, which were so successful last year and were the largest held on the bay will be featured on Saturday. Sunday will see the final heats of the speed boat races and the running of other special events.

The program for the two days is as follows:

Saturday, August 26th, 1933
(Eastern Standard Time)

1—11:00 a. m., Free-for-all Sailing Race.

2—11:30 a. m.. Free-for-all Sailing Boats under 16 ft. W. L.

17—Special Events.

18—Special Events.

Betterton is well fitted for a regatta as ice, gas and oils can be furnished right at the piers and groceries can be obtained right on the waterfront.

Many people from the county and points distant will come by automobile to witness the regattas.

There will be two committee boats, one for entertainment and the honorary officials and the second boat for the active race committee. A private yacht will probably be used for the former and federal boat for the latter.

The Corinthian Yacht Club will have their own Committee boat.

BUSINESS MEN'S WHEAT MEETING

TO BE HELD AT COURT HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT

In order that every one in Kent who has not yet studied the administration wheat plan nor consideded its significance may have the opportunity. An extra meeting will be held at the Court House on Tuesday night, August 15th at which the World Wheat situation will be explained—the provisions of the wheat plan presented, and questions answered. No one can afford to be ignorant of the plan which is of utmost significance to all Kent Countians. All the facts, no more or less, should be in the minds of all. Any flaw in the plan that can be revealed should be revealed—the plan appears to be complete and adequate. If it is not, the weakness should be uncovered. Here is the opportunity. All are invited, especially the business men of the county.

RETURN TO NESTING PLACE

Remarkable evidence of how wild ducks may return to the same nesting place year after year is provided by the sixth annual return of a female mallard duck to Antioch, Nebraska.

The duck has nested each year since 1928 in a box in the barn roof of F. J. Keller, who maintains a game refuge. She bears the tag No. 555414, which Kellar placed on her leg November 29, 1927, in cooperation with the United States Biological Survey.

The duck returned to the barn with almost clocklike regularity for the next three years, March 12, 1926; March 10, 1929; March 11, 1930. In 1931 she came on April 9 and last year on February 21. This year she was back on the old schedule, March 12th.

OUR BROADCAST

—The Carroll residence on Front street has been rented to Mr. LaSoeur of Dorchester County. Mr. LaSoeur is planning to buy a waterfront farm in Kent.—Corporal Carpenter, of Baltimore, who is visiting at Rock Hall has been showing the country boys how to play checkers. He journeyed to Chestertown and took on the gang at Barnett's Barber Shop. He made them all look like a bunch of hicks with the exception of Judge Will Wheatley. He trimmed the champ Joe Wheatley and it is reported during the course of the game Joe put the wrong end of his cigarette in his mouth. (Joe's mother knows he smokes now). Judge Will Wheatley however beat the Corporal on Monday 2-1. On Tuesday however he lost 4-0. Judge Wheatley claims to be even as he says they each won one day. Its all in how you figure it. —Saturday, August 12th the Rock Hall baseball team will play Tilghman at Rock Hal at 2:45. This will be the rubber game as each team has won a game. This will be the third game.—John Evans Townshend (The only Townshend boy not to bear the nick-name "Sook") of Wilmington, has been the guest of his mother this week.—Mr. William Dixon, Jr., has purchased an outboard motor boat from W. Maxwell Crowding.—Thieves early Wednesday morning entered the back door of the store room of the College Hill Filling Station, climbed over a quantity of watermelons and canteloups stored there and then broke in the back door of the filling station itself. On leaving they went out of the side door of the station. They stole a quantity of pennies and some old coins, Although about eight dollars in cash and a gold watch from the cash register. Also, they took a quantity of merchandise. Mr. Crowding says his total loss is about forty dollars.—The Electric Light Company is experimenting on giving the town brighter lights. They have installed different type bulbs on some lights for experiment. If this is satisfoctory the main business section of the town will be better lighted. —S. Scott Beck, Jr., on the board walk at Ocean City, Md,, told friends he would not be home until his money gave out. We do not expect to see him for a long while.—Next week the Rock Hall Firemen will stage their drive for funds. They figure the method of getting funds by direct donation is cheaper for the people of the community and a lot less trouble than a carnival.—The grocerymen of the county certainly had a big time filling out their process tax blanks. It makes them all scratch their heads.—Prof. and Mrs. Julio del Toro, who have been spending the summer in New Orleans, La., where Prof. del Toro has been teaching in the summer school of Tulane University, have returned to the University of Michigan. While in New Orleans they entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lewis King. Mrs. King was Miss Marjorie Duncan, of Queen Annes County. Mrs. del Toro was Miss Marguerite Skipper, of Chestertown.

The sale of the personalty of Mr. Samuel Comley, which was advertised last week, has been called off.—On August 16th, the five Chestertown Rural Routes will be consolidated into 4. Two years ago there were 4. The four carriers will be Messrs. John Barnes, Stewart Price, Rigley Brown and Spencer Smith. It is understood that Ralph Shinn, temporary carrier on route 1 will be transferred back to carrier of parcel post in Chestertown. Don't be imputant and ask why the government does not join the N. R. A. —At the Town Council Monday night residents of Front street petitioned the Council to place signs so as to divert traffic from that street. A petition from residents on Philosophers terrace asked for a sidewalk and curb and gutter on that street.—A code for weekly newspapers will be decided at a meeting in Washington, D. C. next Thursday.—Messrs Leonard Wilson, and Samuel Loller will attend the meeting of the Eastern Shore Commissioners at Ocean City on August 16th and 17th.—Rock Hall base ball team defeated Wyoming, Del., last Saturday 6 to 2.—Miss Jeanette Shallcross, who suffered a brain concussion when she fell down some steps on a beach near Tolchester last Friday, is very much improved, although she is still in the hospital. An operation was necessary and a full recovery is expected.

—Due to information received from the U. S. D. A. on Friday, the new schedule of wheat meetings planned by the committee this week will be called off until printed contracts are received.—The barbers code, which has been agreed to by the barbers of Chestertown included the hours of from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; haircuts 35c and shaves 20c.

MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

SENTIMENT FOR PLAN GAINS MOMENTUM DAILY

A series of informal meetings thruout Kent County has just been completed. Facts on the world wheat situation were presented—the Domestic Allotment Plan for the control of wheat production was explained. The local set-up or organization (soon to be chosen by the cooperating wheat growers) was discussed. A temporary committee has rendered growers service in explaining the plan to those who have not attended the meetings. More than half the farmers in Kent attended the meetings. The response is most gratifying. Hundreds have had the plan explained individually. It has a great appeal. The Challenge to agriculture to measure up to the responsibility placed in ots shoulders will be accepted and mastered. Farmers have asked for an opportunity to get their fair share of the National Income. Now that the opportunity is presented, farmers dare not fall down. They must demonstrate their ability to meet the issue. Sentiment for the plan gains momentum daily, and will sweep the country with irresistable force as the knowledge and understanding of the solemn significance and scope of the plan is fully understood. No one has found any flaws in the plan. It attacks the overproduction problem in a sane and practical manner. It rewards the cooperator for doing the right and necessary thing, viz—reducing acreage of wheat in order that wheat may have normal buying power. The cooperator gets the market price of wheat and a bonus. The bonus averages over $150 per average Kent grower or nearly $110,000 if all cooperate. Under usual plans, the pioneer and the forrunner carries the load and bears the grief incident to the accomplishment of a definite purpose. In this unusual plan the cooperator "gets the breaks" —he gets the advantage of the non-cooperator.

All who understand the plan approve it. It is a sane and simple plan from which has been eliminated the weaknesses or flaws of other plans used in past year by various countries. It is a bodily conceived plan designed to meet the issues of the "New Deal" and its gigantic effort in many lines to speed up the return of prosperity or "National Recovery." It marks the beginning of a new era for agriculture. Its success or failure is entirely up to the farmers of the country. If they cooperate, the plan will succeed beyond the fondest dreams of the sponsors. If farmers refuse to cooperate, if they refuse to accept the challenge, the plan fails and agriculture has "licked itself and must look to a dictator to keep it from ruin. No one who understands the plan and knows farmers believes for one moment that the farmers will fail to respond—that they will prove themselves unequal to the challenge and the issues involved —that they will by failure ask for a dictator for agriculture.

"THE GIRL IN 419"

"The Girl In 419," a romantic drama set against the background of a police emergency hospital, has been booked for the New Lyceum Theatre where it will show on Monday and Tuesday, August 14 and 15. James Dunn and Gloria Stuart have the leading roles, and the supporting cast is headed by David Manners, Jack LaRue, Shirley Grey, Johnny Hines and William Harrigan. B. P. Schulberg produced the picture for Paramount.

"The Girl In 419" centers around the young physician who heads the police division of an emergency hospital in a large city, and around a girl who is picked up half dead from a beating and brought back to life by the former's skilled care. The roles are played by Dunn and Miss Stuart, respectively.

Miss Stuart is brought into the hospital shortly after the mysterious killing of a gangster. When she regains consciousness, she refuses to tell anything of the incidents leading up to her beating, or even to identify herself. Dunn's contracts with a gangster at first reveal nothing else about her, but, when an attempt on her life is made as she is recuperating, he suddenly discovers what is going on. In the breathless rush of events that follow, David Manners, a young physician whose ambitions to become a surgeon are forever made impossible by a wound he suffered in saving Miss Stuart's life, plays an important part.

All the excitement and humor of the day's routine in the receiving ward of an emergency hospital are crammed into "The Girl in 419."

To "beg pardon" for an extraordinary offense, requires real courage, but all honor to those who execute such an obligation.
