TO HOLD COAT SCHOOLS

SERVING CLASSES TO START IN OCTOBER

There will be two coat schools this fall in Kent County, provided there are enough women in the County interested.

Each group is limited to fifteen women making coats. That means thirty women in all. Each woman is expected to do her own work. Each woman must know something about sewing—making clothes for herself or her children.

Each woman must plan to give three days to the project, two days working with the group and one day sewing at home, the second day being used for sewing at home.

The material may be new or old but it must be ready for cutting when brought to the meeting. New material should be preshrunk. Old garments should be ripped, cleaned and pressed. Instructions on pressing and shrinking will be given before the school. Moth holes and tears need not be darned until the new garment is cut.

The school which starts in October, opens at 9.00 a. m. the times of leaving will depend on the individual but plan to stay as long as possible.

Sketches of patterns will be sent to those enrolling. If style and size desired is not there, the woman will furnish her own pattern. The coats may be for the women herself or any member of her family.

If you are interested, please get in touch with Miss Schellinger, County Home Demonstration Agent.

THE WHEATLEY FAMILY HAVE REUNION

Mr. Charles Wheatley and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wheatley and daughter attended the reunion of the Wheatley family at Wheatley Chapel near Federalsburg. About two hundred members of the family were present. Large tables were spread and luncheon was eaten all together and a good time and good fellowship was enjoyed by all present.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

We wish to extend our appreciation to those who were so kind to us in our late bereavement, especially to those who sent flowers and those who furnished automobiles.

BURNED IN AUTO WRECK

Mr. Jesse Toulson, of near Fairlee, an employee in the firm of A. S. Turner & Sons, Chestertown, narrowly escaped serious injury last Saturday night when his automobile hit a telephone pole, turned over and burned.

The accident occured near McLains Corner at 11 p. m., and according to a statement by Mr. Toulson an approching automobile forced him into the ditch causing the accident. He was dazed from a blow on the head and when he regained consciousness he was suffering a severe pain in his leg. He found that his trousers were on fire and was able to pull himself out of the wreck which was on fire. He was badly burned on his right leg from his ankle to his knee and is now recuperating at his home near Fairlee. The automobile was destroyed.

THREE CHURCH HILL BOYS BURNED IN EXPLOSION

As Elmer Harrington, J. Wilbur Walls, Jr., and Marion Walls were watching the junking of some old cars in the Church Hill Motor Co., yard by George Hansfield and William Moore both of Easton, one of the cars turned over, and the gas from the tank caught fire from sparks of a blow pipe, and burned all three of the boys. They were rendered first aid at E. W. Sterling's Drug Store across the street, and are now recovering from their burns.

CARD OF THANKS

We hereby wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindness during our recent bereavement.

NOW AND THEN

THE BROOK
BY ALICE MATHEWS

Flow, O little Brook triumphant
For, in truth, your joy is strong.
To a rush of mighty water—
Honorably you do belong:
Though you're timerous rippling seemeth
But child's' play, yet truly strength
Possibly for you is destined
For the flow of greater length—
That keeps adding, adding adding,
To your movements all supreme:
Little Brook, you are not gadding,
Nor detached, like to a dream:
But there's method in your babbling,
Under take you by Love's flow,
By a lowly, gentle splashing
Smallness you'll soon over flow—
Thus you'll empty your clear waters
In the Lake then in the Sea
Register by honest effort
What a little Brook can be:
Wasting not one single moment
Rippling, rippling, constantly
Some day part of life's wide ocean
Is your mastered destiny.

Joseph Choate was one of our most noted lawyers. He was especially great on Constitutional law. The following story is told of him, when he became our Ambassador to England.

For appropriateness, grace, and beauty the story told of Ambassador Choate's first speech at a banquet in the Guild Hall in London stands out among great stories. The Guild Hall was crowded. At the table at the best blood and the most distinguished men in England. In the gallery surrounding the Guild Hall sat the fashion and beauty of England's women. As Ambassador Choate's reputation as a speaker and wit had preceded him, everybody was naturally on tip-toe to hear his opening remarks. Ambassador Choate rose slowly, bowed to the chairman and the gentlemen at the table, and then raised his eyes, sweeping the gallery crowded with women. "Never before,'" commenced the Ambassador, "have I fully realized the truth of the Scripture where it states, 'God created man just a little lower than the angels!'"

The effect was instantaneous. The applause was deafening. With that first sentence Choate won his place in the hearts of the British.

What though the banks be closed, and in looking at the future, we can not see our way clear, what good can worry do, "Take no anxious care," our divine leader tells us. Were -, a beauty specialist, I would advise against worry for it makes more lines in one's face than any thing else can do. There is a little poem about two little birds wondering why humans worry so, and one of them said: "I suppose they have no Heavenly Father to look after them like you and I have."

DON'T WORRY

"If times are hard and you feel blue,
Think of others worrying too;
Just because your trials are many
Don't think the rest of us haven't any.

Life is made up of smiles and tears,
Joys and sorrows, mixed with fears;
And though to us it seems onesided,
Trouble is pretty well divided.

If we could look in every heart,
We'd find that each one has its part,
And those who travel fortune's road,
Sometimes carry the biggest load."

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Dr. and Mrs. John M. Toulson, of Salisbury, formerly of Chestertown, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Maude, to Mr. Kenneth J. Seigworth, of Salisbury.

The ceremony was performed at the Civilian Conservation Camp at New Germany, Md.

Mr. Seigworth is Deputy State Forester in charge of the Eastern Shore District and is well known in Chestertown.

They will be at home in Salisbury after October 1st.

APPOINTED TO W. C. FACULTY

Dr. Arthur L. Davis, at present a member of the faculty of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., will become Professor of German and Head of Modern Languages at Washington College, according to announcement made this week by President Gilbert W. Mead.

Dr. Davis, a native of New York State, has been a member of the Ohio Wesleyan faculty for the last eight years. Hee was at on time an instructor in the University of Wisconsin, where he received his doctor's degree. He has spent two years studying in Europe, in addition to two spent there in service during and after the War. He is a member of the scholastic honor society of Phi Beta Kappa. He will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Howard Fowler. Dr. Truscott filled this vacancy for the remainder of the last scholastic year.

Dr. Davis will take up his residence in Chestertown about September 1.

DID YOU KNOW?

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Captain John Smith in his narrative of explorations of the Chesapeake Bay designated as Brook's Forest all the territory southwest from the Chester River to the Choptank.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

His Majesty, the king of England in the year 1698 required that one hundred Maryland mocking birds be sent him. The Sheriff was to secure the birds.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

By an Act of 1785 for the purpose of assessment, the value of Kent County land was rated at thirty three shillings and nine pence, Prince Georges land came next with thirty-one shillings and six pence Queen Ann lands at twenty seven shillings, the same as Frederick Charles, Harford, Anne Arundel, Talbot and Cecil.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Because of the dishonesty of the growers, shippers and others interested in the growing and marketing of Tobacco in the Maryland colony that Leoard Calvert, the Governor was forced to call a special meeting of Assembly for the purpose of passing laws to remedy existing evils. At this meeting of Assembly at Annapolis May 21st 1730 the Governor addressing the members declared; such is the present condition of our staple that a speedy cure for its amendment is necessary." The Virginia governors had previously drafted a bill, designed to cover these evils, a copy of which act was presented and passed by the Maryland Assembly. This Act among other things provided that the limitation formerly imposed upon every laboring person, designed to meliorate the quality be rescinded.

"MARY STEVENS, M. D."

One of the strangest stories of a triangular love affair is told in the Warner Bros. picture "Mary Stevens M. D.," which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, August 23 and 24. The triangle involves Kay Francis, the star, Lyle Talbot and Thelma Todd.

A boy and a girl, playmates from childhood, study medical surgery together, pass their apprenticeship as internes in the same hospital and set up practice in adjoining offices, their friendship ripening into love.

The ambition of the man, however, sees an opportunity in a marriage with the daughter of a powerful politician. So the childhood sweetheart steps aside, although she continues to watch over the man she loves with a mothering instinct.

It is not until the man gets entangled in domestic scandal and financial entanglements that cause his indictment, that she goes to him and gives him her love.

Kay Francis is said to give a strong performance as the woman doctor whose love for "her man" is enduring even when he turns from her love to another, while Thelma Todd gives a fine portrayal of the selfish spoiled woman to whom love is but a flitting passion. ,

Lyle Talbot, as the doctor lover, has the finest role of his career opposite Miss Francis and is said to liveup to the promise he has shown in all previous picture work.

"Mary Stevens, M. D.," is a powerfully emotional drama of a woman doctor, an unwed mother, who saved other children during an epidemic aboard ship, but could not save her own. The story is based on the well-known novel by Virginia Kellogg and adopted to the screen by Rian James.

Others in the cast include Glenda Farrell, Una O'Connor, Charles Wilson, Harold Huber and Hobart Cavanaugh. The picture was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Misses Barbe Humphries, Dorothy Vickers, Nancy Usilton, Caroline Davis, Peggy Wilson, and Lucile Rasin and Messrs. Frank Hines, Jr., James Johns and Buster Humphries will attend a house party at Rehoboth next week as guests of Mr. Brown Roe.

A young woman called a policeman because a man tried to flirt with her. Lucky chap! She might have called a clergyman.

TO STAGE SHOW NEXT WEEK

"HENRY'S WEDDING" TO BE STAGED BY 125 LOCAL PEOPLE

On next Thursday and Friday nights, August 24 and 25th the big social, political and entertainment event "Henry's Wedding" will be staged at Old Lyceum Theatre under the auspices of The Women's Auxiliary of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Co. At that time three couples will take the big step into matrimony. They are Wm. G. Smyth playing the part of Uncle Henry and Mrs. Willard Dodson, Jr., taking the part of Safantha Green; also Vernon Kirby as Jack and Emily Jewell as Mary, and Mrs. Hildren Bowers as Susan Christopher and Frazier Russell as Lawyer Brown. These three couples will be married in the Old Lyceum on August 24 and 25.

Ted and Harris, played by J. S. Kreeger, Jr., and Albert Baker attempt to stop the wedding of Uncle Henry. Persuasion fails and they turn to the attempt of kidnapping, and from here the comical situations begin. O'Flarety the hard-boiled detective, played by Jesse Maxwell and Mugs his assistant, played by Allan Barnes are called in to help solve the mystery, and they give a lot of amusement and comedy to the show and keep the audience in an uproar.

Eliza played by Mrs. R. Hynson Rogers the Negro cook, and her lazy husband Rastus, played by W. L. Fowler afford a lot of the comedy of the production.

Other characters who add much to the plot are Virginia, played by Sue Matthews, Marie played by Harriett Rogers, Rev. Turnipseed played by Jas. G. Beck, Sister Sadie played by Mrs. Miriam Sweetman, and Brother Jones played by Philip Sewell. The two bandits from Chicago are played by Calvin Copper and George Pennington. "Beaus and Belles of Grandma's Time" feature of show.

Traffic Cop of 1890 acts as master of ceremonies to be played by B. R. Cooper..

Another outstanding feature is the 1890 guests at this modern 1940 wedding. This group of guests called the "Beaus and Belles of Grandma's Time" are the laugh hit of the show. 35 of the prominent men of the community will
