HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good", for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. ©1933, C.M.Co.

OTHER OLD CHURCHES IN KENT

Shrewsbury Church is built on the old Colonial road from Philadelphia to Rock Hall ferry a road very much traveled by the statesmen and heroes of those early times. This parish was formed and the first Church was built before 1691. Tradition says that the funds for building were raised by lottery. Anyhow the old church stood for many years and when it was burned the present church was built on the same site in the year 1832. It is a very Churchly spot with the rectory close by while all are shaded by trees centuries old. There is God Acre, too, around the church with the names of the sleepers very familiar to all the families in Kent. Like I. U. who has the grave of Philip Reed, the hero of the battle of Caulk's Field in its Church yard, so Shrewsbury has the body of General Cadwalader, a Revolutionary hero, noted for his intense loyalty to General Washington. When the Conway Cabal was formed to displace Washington from the head of the army, and put General Gates in his stead, General Cadwalader challenged Conway, the instigator of the Cabal to a duel, and wounded him, and Conway afterwards wrote a letter to Washington, apologizing for his treachery. General Cadwalader's obituary is on his box-tomb, written by one who was his enemy in life, but who honored him for his integrity, Tom Paine. Among the old stones there many with very indestinct inscriptions, weathered by age, one pauses to read the one over the graves of two children. Jervis and Hanna Spencer who died on the same day in 1743 aged thirteen and sixteen years. One wonders what sickness they died of, and how the mother's heart must have been wrung by the event. The inscription must have been written by one, far more anxious to make rhyme, than to observe the rules of Grammar: Here it is!

"Farewell our friends and parents dear,
We are not dead, but sleepeth here
Our debts are paid our graves you see
Prepare yourselves to follow we."

Another stone attracts one's attention, that of Colin Ferguson's, a noble and learned man: His epitaph reads:

"Leaves have their time to fall
And flowers to wither at the North
Winds breath,
And stars to set; but ah.
Thou hast all seasons for thine
Oh Death."

We pass on down the road and turn to the pretty village of Still Pond and there we see a church, the only one there, Asbury M. E. Church. They say that Bishop Asbury, that old apostle of Methodism established a preaching station here before the Revolutionary period, perhaps about 1772. It is supposed to be the oldest organized Methodist Society on the Del-Mar-Va peninsula. This church has a large flourishing congregation. When the Methodist Protestant Church was formed. St. James Church was deeded to them in 1832 for the sum of five dollars by the Protestant Episcopal demonination, It languished for some time but it has now grown to be a very prosperous church with many loyal members. It is through the Parish records of these old churches that the history of the ancient families are found, and kept from age to age for their descendants.

We read a few days ago of a baby being named Nira in honor of the National Industrial Reconstruction Association. This was communicated to the President who sent a complimentary message to its mother, but now that they have dropped the Industrial and write it only "N. R. A." the child will hardly know what her name means. In the meantime "N. R. A." presided over by the blue eagle is seen everywhere. What ever the doubts as to its wisdom people are anxious to cooperate hoping that by a change the depression will be done away with.

Laundering 'Crinkled' Fabrics

As the new crinkled fabrics are not readily creased, a light pressing on the wrong side banishes slight wrinkles and retains the new appearance. They can be cleansed readily like any other fine material. No starch is necessary. Squeeze out the excess water; then roll your dress in a cloth to absorb as much of the remaining moisture as possible. It may be thrown over a line or bar till partly dry, but do not pull it out of shape with clothespins. When only slightly damp, pull the material gently but firmly, straight with the threads. Then lay the dress right side down on a soft pad and lightly iron the wrong side. Have your iron no hotter than medium. Keep stretching the material carefully and the dress will return to its original size and shape when dry.

If your measure the length and width of the garment before washing it will help.

Do not press down as you iron, or stretch the material unevenly or too hard.

Pink and Black

Pink and black remain a color combination beloved of Paris during the height of the summer season. Dusty pink crepe, for preference, made into a sports frock. Sleeveless, with plenty of umbrella pleats in the skirt. Add a big hat of varnished black straw and black patent leather pumps.

Ribbed Silk

In the autumn your silk gown or suit is going to be ribbed. Vertically or horizontally or diagonally. The ribbed motif is a real cord, may be irregular, but there. Or it may be crinkly. The silks include failles and bengalines. And the silks when made up will have straight lines whether they are tailored or not.

Throw Spools Away? See What Baby Says

Empty spools should never be thrown away in a house where there are small children. The creeping baby enjoys rolling them on the floor and chasing after them. Strung together on a stout string, he likes to handle them and bang them against hard surfaces. The four of five-year-old will find them just the thing to use for smokestacks and chimneys.

For Beautifying Afternoon Tea

Slice fairly thick pieces of oranges and lemons, put whole cloves around the slices and maraschino cherries in the center. Here's something good to eat and colorful too.

More Colors

Favorite broadcloth colors at present for lingerie are pink, peach, tea rose and white. For skirts and suits, eggshell, light blue, light brown, dark brown, navy, black. For lounging pajamas, royal blue, green, gray, and the pastels. For sports dresses, the pastels. For blouses, of which there are more and more in broadcloth, marron brown, red and eggshell.

Bernard Shaw says:

"Married Women whose working place is the man's home, want to get away from home for recreation, just as men want to get away from the places where they work; in fact, a good deal of our domestic quarreling arises because the man wants to spend his leisure at home, whilst the woman wants to spend hers abroad. Women love hotels; men hate them."

UNNATURAL ARITHMETIC

"If you had eight pennies and lost three, how many would you have left?"

Little Cohen thought for a minute.

"But for vy," was his puzzled reply, "should I lose three pennies?"
