Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

BOOKS

"Here is such an interesting book" I say to my friend, as I hand it to her. "Oh, well! When I have time I will read it" she says, but I know that time will never come so I lay it away with the great many which have given pleasure to me alone. For books have always been my boon companions. In my early childhood I remember two of my prize possession one a toy book of Tit, Tiny and Tittens, three little kittens" and the other a little catechism with. "There is a green hill far away," Later I remember the long winter evenings when all the large family would gather around the open fire and while our mother sewed, our father would read to us by the hour. How we all loved to hear him, and how sorry we were when he would say, "It is time for family prayers and to bed."

Then we were taught to avoid paper back and yellow back books. Once in rummaging the old Rectory attic we found a no back dog eared book. The title was gone, but in reading we found it very interesting. After that we would disappear very often and go to the old attic and lying prone on the floor with the book before us we would spend many an hour. It was some time afterwards that I saw a bound book by Charles Dickens and in looking over it, found the same story, "Great Expectations." It is needless to say that after that we read all of Dicken's novels one after the other without feeling that we were doing any thing wrong. Then came the Scott Novels and then Thackery and Bulwer, all of them giving us so much pleasure. For after all books are our best friends. We can always find them when we need them, always ready to cheer and sympathize, and never demanding anything from us. While we are made social beings and we wish to mingle much with our friends yet it is certainly a blessing that we can some time in the day, say. "Give me a book, and a quiet nook, and let the world go by."

LILY PONDS

Lily Ponds the sweet opera singer, has a great love for animal pets. Some time ago we read of her going to one of the fine hotels in Hartford for dinner. When the waiter appeared she told him she wanted a plate to be placed on the floor so that her dog could eat his dinner at the same time she did. The embarrassed waiter told her that dogs were not allowed in the dining room. "Oh well;" she said, "If the dining room is too good for my dog it is too good for me," and she led her dog to a near by restaurant.

Over in culture-loving New Jersey, a Mrs. X had some uneasy hours the other night. The club of which she is president had arranged for Mlle. Lily Pons to come over and sing, and Mrs. X had agreed to take care of her in her own home thinking that it was just to be used for rest before the evening appearance. She was surprised when she discovered that Mlle. Pons was Mlle. Pons, plus a manager, plus a maid, plus, of all things, a pet jaguar, and she was even more surprised when she comprehended from this and that that Mlle. Pons, et al., were staying the night. She tucked the whole crowd in, however, and went to bed.

It as along toward morning, in the darkest hours, that Mrs. X was awakened by strange sounds. She traced them to the bathroom and, after knocking, and getting no answer, went in timidly. Curled neatly in the wash-basin, snoring now and again, was the pet jaguar. It opened an eye and growled slightly at the light. Mrs. X went away hurriedly and woke up the manager. The manager listened, sleepily. Then he said "Oh, it always sleeps in the wash-basin. Quite all right."

It was quite all right with the jaguar, anyway, which slept the night through and was on hand in the morning to greet the other and unsuspecting members of the family when they went in to wash their faces. Nobody washed much, though.

A Quick Bleach
By Virginia Brooks

For a quick, inexpensive bleach for your skin add the strained juice of one lemon to a glassful of water and apply to the face. Let dry on your skin, then apply a second coat.

When dry, wash off and your skin is then ready for foundation cream and powder.

Autumn Colors

Dark green, wine red and midnight blue—these are among the colors Paris has on schedule for autumn. For early autumn there are also many prints with a good deal of white in them, and likewise plain colors worn with white accessories, the white hat, gloves and shoes continuing over till the weather gets nippy.

Waistlines

The low waistline will not be a feature of autumn styles. You need not have a very high waistline, but you must not have a very low one. In other words, the waistline will be just about where it is now, subject to slight variation with individual taste. And the same goes for the length of the skirt.

Small Hats

Very small hats are much in evidence, which is perhaps only to be expected in view of the fact that we are looking forward to Autumn days and furs 'and big luxurious warm coats. We note another trend, namely, that some of these small hats slip rather far back on the head, exposing smooth foreheads and a goodly band of hair. Not a few have the "Gretchen" look, namely, they are edged with a braid-like roll.

Caraway Seed

Caraway seed, much utilized in cookery and in making confectionery and liqueturs, are in reality not seeds at all, but the dried fruits of the caraway plant, whose earliest use is attributed to the ancient Arabs. Caraway was highly popular in Shakespeare's time, and the custom of serving roast apples with a saucerful of caraway is still kept up at Trinity College, Cambridge, and elsewhere in England, just as it was in the great dramatist's day.—Gas Logic.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR HUSBAND

"Darling," she said, "when we are married you'll have a woman in the house who really knows how to cook."

"Well," said darling, "that's pleasant news. I didn't know that you were expert in the cooking line."

"I'm not," she replied, "but when we are married mother is coming to live with us."

UNNATURAL ARITHMETIC

"If you had eight pennies and lost three, how many would you have left?"

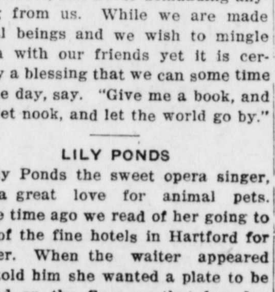

Little Cohen thought for a minute.

"But for vy," was his puzzled reply, "should I lose three pennies?"

60 MEN CAME TO THIS FARMER'S AID!...

"There's a fire at Mr. Flatter's farm," called the telephone operator hurriedly. She rang up the neighboring farms and soon 60 men were fighting the flames. A neighbor discovered the fire while the family was away. She notified the operator who located Mr. Flatter while calling other farmers. This quick work saved the home and other farm buildings. Many cases like this show how the telephone reduces the hazards and losses of farm life.
