Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

PERPETUAL MOTION

Mrs. Brown looked tired and worried.

"What have you been doing?" asked her husband.

"I have been round to all the servant agencies in the town trying to find maids," she replied.

"Were you successful?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied. "I engaged three."

"Three?" he echoed, aghast. "But, my dear, you must be out of your head."

"No, dear," she sighed, "I'm quite all right. You see, one comes tomorrow, one on the 9th, and the other the 16th."

Unappreciated Authors

"The Greensmiths are distinctly literary in their pursuits," said Mrs. Jones to a neighbor. "The daughter writes poetry nobody will print, the son writes plays nobody will act, and the mother writes novels nobody will read."

"And what does the father write?"

"Oh, he writes checks no one will cash!"—Stray Stories Magazine.

Wanted to Be Right

Mother—You naughty girl! You have eaten every cookie there was on that plate and I told you you might have only three.

Small Daughter—Yes, mother, but you didn't tell me which three, so I had to eat all to be sure to get the right ones.

He Wouldn't Like It

She was in Alaska looking over a fox farm. After admiring a beautiful silver specimen, she asked: "Just how many times can a fox be skinned for his fur?"

"Three times, madam," said the guide bravely. "Any more than that would spoil his disposition."

How to Torture Your Fiancee

"What made you quarrel with Merlin?"

"Well, he proposed to me again last night."

"Where was the harm in that?"

"My dear, I had accepted him the night before."

TOTAL LOSS

"Does Tom ever lose his temper?"

"No, merely misplaces it."

Anything for a Family Reunion

"I'm thinking of opening a movie theater."

"Well, there's good money in that business."

"It isn't the money so much; but I'd like to see my wife and kids once in a while."

Such Is Life

"It sometimes seems as though the wicked get along better than the upright," sighed the discouraged man.

"Yes," replied the other one, "and that seems like a downright shame."

"Natural History"

Teacher—A biped is anything that goes on two feet. John, can you name one?

John—Yes, ma'am, a pair of stockings.

Call the Sheriff

"Shush!" said the young man who had fled the group of boresome debutantes. "I'm a fugitive from a Jane gang!"

Coinage of the Brain

Heard in Passing—"A lot of laymen have queer ideas about banking."

"So have a lot of bankers."—Buffalo Evening News.

Educational Limitations

"How soon shall I know anything after I come out of the anesthetic?"

"Well, that's expecting a lot from an anesthetic."—Boys' Life.

LOST CHANCE

Inventor—My machine can do the work of ten men.

Visitor—Gosh! My wife ought to have married it.

Doesn't Deserve It

Blinks—I have no confidence in that man we just passed.

Jinks—Yeah? Why not?

Blinks—He's a confidence man.

Her Feminine Way

"Women are funny," said an acquaintance. "My wife wouldn't buy anything but a red dress because the saleslady told her it was the color everyone was wearing. And then she wore it to a party and came home mad because everyone else had on the same color."

If the Money Is There

"I hope there will never be any hard times," said Mrs. Cumrox.

"That's a very unselfish wish."

"Not entirely. When times are hard everybody is so busy working or worrying that nobody has time to envy the way we spend money."

Women's Page

LITTLE WOMEN

The papers say that they are getting ready to put "Little Women," Miss Louisa Alcott's master piece, on the movies. We are hoping that they will portray all that interesting family of girls just as the book portrays them. Meg in her elder sister wisdom, who finally makes an impractical but happy marriage, Joe, dominant full of fun and willing to sacrifice herself for the good of the family by being companion to Aunt March, not a very desirable position but seeing humor in every situation and making the best of things; sweet Beth so lovable and dear, but gradually falling into bad health and then slipping away from those who loved her so; and Amy, the beauty of the family, who was so afflicted at the idea of her nose not being Grecian enough in shape, that she went to bed with a clothes pin pressing on that offending feature. It is a story of a very interesting family, from the father, Mr. Bronson Alcutt loving and visionary and the dear sweet mother. Publishers say that it is still one of the most popular books published even now after so many years, for it was first published in 1868, there is a great demand for it. It is a book without great literary ability, but the annals of the family life make one feel as he reads that he knows each one very intimately when he has finished reading it. It is said that Miss Alcott did not intend to have Joe marry, but her readers made such an uproar about it that she introduced the German professor, the only fictitious character in the book. Some years ago we visited Concord and went to the little brown house that seemed so familiar after reading "Little Women." In fact it was literally going over intimate ground. There, too, were Walden woods, and the homes of Thoreau, Emerson Hawthorne, all close friends of the Alcott family. The old Alcott lot, in Sleepy Hollow cemetery is near the graves of Emerson, Hawthorne and Thoreau. It was in the fall when we visited there and all of the sleeping places, were covered with leaves while the stones that marked them were very simple indeed. The famous quartette of girls are all dead now, but the originals of Demi and Daisy of the book, and a daughter, of Amy, are still living, and receive the large royalties which come to them from their Aunt Louisa's books.

A RUMMAGE BARGAIN

There is an ardent church worker who recently ran a rummage sale to try to make some money to help pay off the heavy church mortgage. It was the first day of the sale and business had been brisk. After lunch, when trade dropped of a bit, the Woman's friend sat down to rest behind one of the improvised counters Her head ached from the unaccustomed work, so, seeking temporary relief, she took off her hat and put it on the edge of the counter before her. With a sudden rush business picked up and before the Woman's friend was aware of it an hour had passed. Another lull, and she thought it a good time to run around to the corner drug store for some aspirin for the aching head. She looked for her hat. It was nowhere to be found She searched diligently, but the hat was still missing. At last, she questioned her young assistant to find that the hat had been sold, together with an old roasting pan, for the magnificent sum of 40 cents.

It is said of Ninon De Lenclos that famous beauty of the old French Court, that she retained her beauty so well, that her grandson, seeing her for the first time and not knowing who she was, fell in love with her in spite of her sixty years. She soon found out that her ardent lover was her grandon and all turned out well.

cloth which attract and hold dirt until one's hands become grimy from touching them.

The nicest way to solve this problem is by using oilcloth for the covers. Oilcloth is so easily cleaned with a damp cloth.

To distinguish the various books, if the same color is used to cover all, a design may be stenciled on each with crayola or oil paint..

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. Silk hosiery will wear much longer if it is rinsed in cool water after each wearing?

2. A mattress ought to be turned at least once a week and given a frequent sun-bath?

3.. Silk umbrellas will not crack so easily if, when wet, they are closed and stood on the handles until dry?

4. Potatoes are delicious when boiled until done, pieled and placed in a hot oven in a pan of grease until browned?

5. Ice will keep better if it is wrapped in newspaper before placing it in the refrigerator?

6. Butter will soothe the pain of a burn and prevent a blister?

RECIPES

Grape Jelly

Stem and mash the grapes; put into the preserving kettle and boil for twenty minutes.

Strain; boil juice for five minutes, skimming carefully. Warm the sugar, allowing a pound to each pint of juice, and add gradually to the juice, stirring until thoroughly melted. Remove from fire; pour into glasses and seal.

Grape and Nut Conserve

3 pounds of sugar, dissolved in—
3 pints of grape juice
2 lemons, grated rind and juice
6 oranges, chopped
2 pounds of raisins, chopped
1 pound of walnuts, chopped
1-2 pound of filberts, chopped

Mix ingredients and allow to simmer until thick (about one hour); put in jars.

This is delicious when served with meats.

Couldn't Blame Her

Mistress—Mary, look at the dust on the mantelpiece—it must be six weeks old.

Mary—Then, mum, it has nothing to do with me. I've only been here four weeks.

Explained

Visitor—What nice buttons you are sewing on your little boy's suit! My husband once had some like that on his suit.

Vicar's Wife—Yes, I get all my buttons from the collection plate.

EVIDENCE

"How did you know that that lady was not my wife?"

"Heard you beg her pardon when you stepped on her train, old top."

Passed Along

"Where's that umbrella I loaned you?"

"Brown borrowed it. Why?"

"Oh, nothing. Only the fellow I borrowed it from says the owner is asking for it."
