Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1921 C. M. Co.

THE SITE OF THE OLD GRAVE-YARD

If someone was looking for the place of the old graveyard that was at one time the resting place of many of the town's best citizens, it is hard now to define its old boundaries. It belonged were no more buryings allowed there it had fallen into decay. Many old colored men and women would tell of the numerous ghosts that walked there, and the children would pass it with quickened steps, and bated breath, fearing that they, too would see the ghostly visitants. There was a stunted apple tree growing there, bearing very wormy apples. The old white painted jail windows overlooked the yard and memory goes back to seeing a frail looking colored girl, looking out the window. We did not know why she was imprisoned there, but she told one of us that if she ever got out she as going to get some apples off of that tree.

It as in 1882 that the county decided to buy the old graveyard and then the work of taking up the remains of the sleepers, began. There were heroes of Caulk Field, noted jurists and prominent men in the different walks of life among them.

"They died ay! they died and we
things that are now,
Who walk on the turf that lies over
their brow,
Who make in their dwelling a transient
abode,
Meet the things that they met on their pilgrimage road." ...

It was Senator Vickers who donated the beautiful hillside lot for a cemetery and Senator Pearce was the first one that was buried there. And to this place of the Sleepers the bodies from the old graveyard were brought, a very fitting resting place for those who have gone to their reward. And where their bodies used to lie one sees the jail yard, garages and a teeming population of colored people in Byron Court and Hick's Alley The colored race is a very superstitious one, and I doubt that any who are living there know that it was once a graveyard.

The cemetery now is watched over by Mr. Newton, who tends it as if it were his own garden. The lot formerly given by Mr. Vickers has been added to, and now the sleepers there far outnumber the population of the town.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,
Be scattered around and together be laid;
And the young and the old and the low and the high,
Shall moulder to dust and together
shall lie."

JOHN ALDEN AND PRISCILLA

I doubt if there is a prettier love story written than that of John Alden and Pricilla written by Longfellow. It shows what loyalty John felt for his friends, when the friend asked him to tell Priscilla, that he, Miles Standish disappeared and they thought he wife. What a struggle it was with John to keep his own love for her back. But Priscilla divined it and coyly said "Speak for yourself John." Even then it as not until Miles Standish disappeared and the thought he as dead, did John allow himself to tell her of his love.

Stockings That Stretch

Stockings with an insert of that stretchable fabric at the knee are the latest for the girl who likes to sit on her haunches. The insert makes the stockings grandy flexible at the knee and lessens the chances for wrinkles and runs. The stockings are of chiffon weight and rome in all the popular shades.

Paper Tables

For the corner of the porch there's the folding bridge table of corrugated paper—for the corner of the porch, or any spot where the wind doesn't blow too hard. And for the tent in the woods there is the camp table, also of corrugated paper and also folding up into a light and small size package.

Georgeous Gray

You don't think of gray as being a gorgeous color. But the new gray voile dresses, appearing thus late in the season, are made gorgeous by inserts of lace and of embroidery in white. Moreover, with the demure gray frock you wear a big, bright hat. Red, for example, or sea green or dust pink.

Pastry Pretties

French paste jewelry is exactly that in some instances. Necklaces in various colors are made of stuff resembling smooth, hard flour paste, perfectly edible if you're hungrp enough. Accessories in the jewel line have gone back to nature with a vengeance; reed and fibre jewelry vying with wood and looking glass.

A Facial Meringue

By Kathryn Crawford

Take half the white of an egg and apply smoothly to the face. Leave until it dries thoroughly, then wash it off with cold water.

You will find that this removes facial impurities and leaves the skin soft and smooth.

Pastel Pretties

An epidemic of "doing over" the boudoir is sweeping London. The vogue is for alls in a shade like pale green decorated with gray, pink and beige tres and misty hills. Bright chintz-covered furniture an dlamp shades, a soft pastel carpet, and there you are.

Sincerity

Sincerity is the very foundation stone of true friendliness. It is also a human trait that is hard to counterfeit, as the sincere friendly impulse comes from the soul of a man and not from the calculating mind. Think kindly and friendly thoughts. If you have a heart an da soul, why be ashamed of them? Bring them into the shop, the office, and your daily life. The hand may be cunning, and the head may contain the brain that can conceive the most brilliant thought, but every good and worthy impulse comes from the heart. Strengthen your faith in men, think kindly of them, believe that they are your friends, and in the long run they will be.—Raymond Congreve.

The Road To Better Health

HOW LONG WILL YOU LIVE?

By DR. WILLIAM J. SCHOLES

The human body is a highly organized mechanism, the length of whose life is governed by two main factors—the quality of material that goes into its makeup and the manner in which it is used.

That summarizes all the volumes that have been written by scientists and centenarians on longevity.

Heredity and Environment

The human being is a product of two essential fundamentals—heredity and environment—both of which largely determine his span of life. The first is beyond the control of the individual; the second is under his direct command.

The individual born with a physical handicap can overcome it in a large measure by extra effort in correcting it, and by so ordering his life that no unusual demands be made on this weaker member.

His debt to posterity consists in doing everything that will improve the race and protect the oncoming generation. Mothers should receive proper care during pregnancy. They should nurse their offspring. Hereditary diseases should be stamped out. The spread of contagious diseases should be checked.

Personal Hygiene

It rests with each individual to so care for his body that its period of life may be extended to its natural limits. ....

Shun that trio responsible for most fatal maladies after middle life—"Venus, Vulcan, Bacchus"—(lust, hardship, drink). Observe the following "Ten Commandments" of Health:

1. Guard against venereal disease; if infected consult a physician, not a faker.
2. Protect your body against hardship, exposure, overwork. Do not burn the candle at both ends.
3. Avoid alcoholic drinks.
4. Be clean in mind, body and environment.
5. Get sufficient fresh air and sunshine.
6. Exercise indoors and outdoors.
7. Eat foods that are suitable, properly prepared, in proper quantity, and well-balanced. Masticate your food—well chewed food is half digested.
8. Clothe yourself correctly as befits the season.
9. Divide your day into three sections—8 hours for work, 8 hours for play, 8 hours for sleep.
10. Practice moderation.

Farmer Gets A New Slant On Economy

Fire Quickly Shows Difference in False and True Saving

While Amos Miller, a farmer living near Bedford Valley, Penna., was in the local telephone office paying his bill and expressing his intention of having the telephone removed as an economy measure one morning recently, things were happening at home which gave him a new outlook on the entire subject of economy.

An outbuilding on the farm had caught fire, and the blaze, fanned by a high wind, threatened to spread to the barn and the farmhouse. Mrs. Miller called the telephone exchange at the very moment that Mr. Miller, in the telephone office, was considering the advisability of having his telephone removed. The operator on duty, Mrs. Wallace Nave, immediately spread the alrm, and within a few minutes neighboring farmers had arrived at the Miller farm and succeeded in confining the blaze to the building where it had its start.

Mr. Miller did not have his telephone removed. The one call undoubtedly had saved his farmhouse, his livestock and his barn and farm implements, and had emphasized, in particular, the value of telephone service on the farm, "I'll never be without a telephone," said Mr. Miller, "and any other farmers who take my advice won't either."

Robert H. Strahan A. T. & T. Secretary

Mr. Strahan Mr. Coe

Organization changes of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company have resulted in the election of Robert H. Strahan as secretary succeeding A. A. Marsters, resigned. Richard S. Coe was named assistant secretary, succeeding James Robb, also resigned.

Mr. Strahan is a native of New York City. After completing his preliminary education, he entered Yale University from which institution he was graduated in 1904 with an LL.B. degree. He engaged in general law practice in New York City until March 1, 1921, when he entered the employ of the A. T. and T. Co.

His work with this company included the preparation and interpretation of contracts having to do with the relationship between the Bell system companies and independent companies, the handling of cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission and other matters.

The new assistant secretary is also a native of New York and a graduate of Yale. He received his B.A. degree in 1913 and then completed a law course at Columbia University receiving an LL.B. degree in 1916. He entered the service of the statistical department of the American Telphone and Telegraph Company in 1919. Mr. Coe is the author of several monographs on American and foreign telephone administrations and for several years has been associate editor of the Bell Telephone Quarterly.

Record Telephone Sequence Hook-up

Use of the telephone recently to ascertain business conditions throughout the United States and Canada resulted in one of the largest hook-ups of telephone sequence calls ever made.

L. H. Thompson, vice president in charge of domestic sales of the National Cash Register Company, Dayton, talked personally to each of 194 sales agents during a three-day period.

Business is better. L. H. Thompson utilizes the telephone to find this true.

The calls placed in sequence were of three minutes duration each, with a two minute interval between them. The calls followed a specific time schedule arranged by officials of the telephone company. The entire schedule worked out accurately, without interruption or loss of time. The circuit distance covered a total of 153,190 miles.

Representatives of the cash register company throughout North America were unanimous in their opinion that business is better, according to Mr. Thompson.
