The Wayside Poet

By J. Thomas Price

JUDGE NOT

Judge not your fellow-man, who falls
And fails to win the race;
You might do even worse than he,
If you stood in his plaee.

Why criticize your neighbor's sins,
When you so human are ?
The cutting word that you might speak,
Would leave an ugly scar.

Oh, why pass judgment on a man,
And be quick to condemn;
Its love and happiness that counts,
Let's help our fellowmen.

Think twice before you speak the word
That might bring his disgrace;
You should not judge your fellowman,
Till you've stood in his place.

OYSTERMEN ON SHORE TO ORGANIZE

ROCK HALL GROUP HOLD WEEKLY MEETINGS

The Rock Hall Watermen's Protective Association, whose interest at the present time is the oyster industry and the general improvement in the conditions surrounding watermen, are holding weekly meetings at Rock Hall.

In the fight against the low price of oysters which were prevalent the first part of the season, this association is supported by the Queen Anne's County Association and has resulted in the price being raised to between 35 and 40 cents a bushel.

Captains Marion R. Coleman and Irving Crouch have been elected by the Rock Hall Association as representatives to assst in organizing all oystermen on the Eastern and Western Shores of Maryland and Virginia. They maintain that with a complete organization they will be able to fight the reduction in the price of oysters when the price all other commodieties are increasing.

The Rock Hall organization is promoting a plan to have a light placed on the water tank at Rock Hall as a night beacon for entering the harbor at night and to paint the tank aluminum so that it can be easily distinguished during the day.

Thirty members of this association attended a meeting in Chester, Queen Anne's County Wednesday evening.

MR. CHARLES HARLEYS ESTATE

The filing of the will of the late Mr. Charles Harley who left the residue of his estate to Washington College shows it to be about $135,000.00.

The executors of the will are Mrs. Edwina Harley, his widow, John B. Whetle and Burdette B. Webster.

The sum whcih Washington College will eventually receive will be probably a little less than $100,000.

"A regret for the mistakes of yesterday must not blind us to the tasks or today."

"Authority can be conferred upon you, but not wisdom. It has to be earned."

IMPORTANT MILK MEETING MONDAY

ALLEBACH, DIRECTORS AND OTHERS TO DISCUSS SITUATION

A series of very important meetings of members of the Interstate Milk Producers Association are to be held on Monday, October 23, at Kennedyville, Worton, and Chestertown, at 9.30, 2.00 and 8.00 o'clock respectively. Every member should attend these vitally important meetings. Destructive agencies are very active. Now is the time to assume individual responsibility in protecting the gains made during the years by team-work and sound thinking.

President Alleback, several Directors and others will have active part in the respecitve meetings. The business sessions will choose the delegates to represent the respective "Locals" at the annual meeting of the parent organization in Philadelphia on November 21-22.

At the local meetings, the "new basic" should be discussed. Both sides of the question should be aired. No milk shipper can afford to think and act on the proposal. It appears to be loaded with dynamite. Let every body attend.
