STILL POND

Mrs. Harvey Moore, of Betterton, gave a splendid Temperance talk during the Sunday School hour on October 29th.

Mrs. Jennie Boulden was League leader on Sunday evening and had a fine program and good attendance.

Mrs. William Murray is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Carson Greenwood.

Mrs. Annie Davis, who has been real poorly for several days, is improved and was able to enjoy a ride to Middletown on Sunday.

Mr. James Watson was at home from Annapolis for the week end.

Mr. Alan Matthews spent Saturday and Sunday in Still Pond.

Miss Kate Howard, Miss Louise Pennighton, and Mrs. Ella Pennington accompanied Mrs. Dora Howard to Queenstown on Sunday afternoon, visiting Kent Island and other points in that vicinity.

Kings Herald met on Monday evening, they had a splendid attendance and made extensive plans for activities during the coming year.

Miss Betty Shallcross, Mr. Edward Fellows, Mrs. Lettie Smith and Mrs. Esther Norris and family spent Sunday in Baltimore with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wheeler.

"Raskob" has mysteriously disappeared from the Greenwood household, he may have been kidnapped; he may have wandered away; he may have crawled into somebody's car to take a nap and been carried to the other end of the county, anyway, he is sadly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Toulson spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Lou Toulson.

Mr. Harry T. Bidwell accompanied Rev. J. T. Price to his cottage at Beach Haven on Monday; Tuesday they will go on to Crisfield.

The success of the Supper was encouraging to Odd Fellows and Rebekahs as they always look forward to improvement, giving better service and getting greater proceeds.

Hallowe'en brought the usual crowd of gay masqueraders and merry onlookers to the annual social held by the Epworth League at the Odd Fellows Hall. There was delightful entertainment and satisfying refreshments.

'In 1931 the cost of government was $107.37 per capita, or 28 per cent of the income of the American people.'

'In 1860 the federal government cost the average citizen $2.08 per year.'

Twelve Checks

of unusual value

Of all the services that we are privileged to render, we can most heartily commend our One-Year Monthly Income plan.

After the death of the insured we deliver twelve checks, one every month for a year. A favorite amount is $100 monthly.

These ready dollars in that trying first year are beyond valuation. They furnish comfort and assurance; a chance to collect thoughts, revive courage and lay new plans.

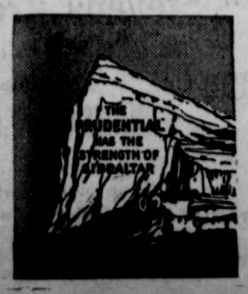

The premium, paid once, twice or four times a year, runs about a nickel a day at age twenty, a dime in the early forties or a few cents more if you start later in life.

Larger amounts or longer periods can be arranged. A choice of policy forms is available. Premium referred to above is for "Endowment at Age 85."

Set up this safeguard for your home circle and they will never be caught unprepared. It will make an ideal supplement to your lump-sum insurance.

DR. TITSWORTH ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, President of Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., was the principal speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Chestertown Rotary Club Monday evening. His talk was on International service and dwelt mostly on the present government of Germany under Hitler.

Dr. Titsworth has spent some time in Germany during the past few years and is well acquainted with conditions there. He is a member of the International Service Committee of Rotary International.

The meeting was a joint meeting of the Centreville and Chestertown Clubs.

THE SQUADRON'S LOG

BY THE STOWAWAY

The boats at the Chester River Yacht Club basin are settling down for there long winter rest.

They are wise old birds, those Squadronites. Not easily to be mislead by the few warm days of Indian Summer. They know that freezing weather is close at hand and are making use of the fine days to warp their boats into the slips to hibernate like mud turtles for the winter.

There is this difference between the hibernation of the squadron and mud-turtles. The squadron will come out of winter quarters before the mud-turtles are stirring next Spring.

On first thought, these pleasant days might appear fine for one last cruise. On second thought, these warm days and colder water give rise to fog.

The Chesapeake region is unique on the Atlantic seaboard for its scarcity of fogs. New England waters are the worst. For days at a time, fog horns boom montonously, and yachtsmen fuss and fume and plan wonderful cruises for the day the fog will lift. Like all arm chair cruising, little more than anticipation results.

Chesapeake navigators take their fogs lightly, like the fogs themselves, and use the time to do the chores incident to putting up for the winter.

After a lull, say about following Thanksgiving, arm-chair cruising along the Chester River will begin in earnest. The Power Squadron classes will lead the sport, and between weekly meetings, fireside navigation will be diligently practiced in innumerable homes.

New gadgets will appear within a week after the yachtsmen's supply of catalogues are mailed out in January. Never will the Squadron be so well equipped as in February, nor so well dressed with flags for the regattas as in March.

If Christmas came at Easter, Galley-slaves would not be at a loss to know what to give hubby for Christmas. But with Christmas coming when it does, yachting interests are badly mixed with shooting interests. No woman living ever know what a man really wants. Perhaps he does not know himself.

Constant change is the thing that keeps life interesting, that and dreams of what is going to be, like arm-chair cruising, for instance.

Stories of the big storm are still coming along, this one from the "Ensign," official organ of the U. S. Power Squadrons, Inc.

"A fellow who was dragging his mooring, dumped over his big anchor which fouled the mooring and continued to drag, so he buoyed his cable, ran up a thoroughfare where he got a lee under the beach, put over his light anchor, the only one left. This never even checked her, so he got it back on deck, put her nose close to the beach, while one man hopped off with the anchor, planted it in the sand, and sat on it all night—some anchor watch.

The four Squadronites who cracked up on the way to the Squadron dinner at Havre de Grace, Captains Rogers, Ewing, Westcott and Greeb were not the only guests to miss the party. When the stranded mariners telephoned the Club not to expect them, for they had met with an accident, a car full of members from the Susquehanna Squadron left immediately to offer such asistance as they could give to the Chestertown group. Just another bit of good, old fashioned, Chesapeake shortsmanship.

It is bad enough to end up a party with a smash, but its tough luck never to get there at all, and it takes real thorough breds to leave the prospect of a party and set out on a cold drive without any dinner.
