LOCAL STORES TO OPEN EVENINGS

Local Mercantile establishments, which through cooperative agreement, have been closing at 6 p. m., will be open evenings from December 4th until Christmas for the convenience of Christmas shoppers.

Local stores have already started to prepare for the Christmas business and those who shop early can shortly have their needs supplied locally.

HOSPITAL NEARING COMPLETION

EXPECTED TO COMPLETED JANUARY 1ST

The construction of the Kent and Upper Queen Anne's Co. Hospital is going toward and present indications point the completion of the building by January 1st.

The building, which is located just east of the Reid Hall campus, is one of the highest points in Chestertown and overlooks a large farming area, parts of Chestertown and Chester River. The ends of the building will be bricked and the front and back frame. It will include three large wards, one private room and all of the other necessary Xray, operating, and office rooms.

The money for building the hospital was raised several years ago through public subscription and sufficient funds are on hand to complete the present unit.

The contractor is using local labor as far as is possible.

WEDDINGS

SWAIN—GRIFFITH

Mr. Harry Griffith, of near Sassafras, announces the marriage of his daughter, Lucy, to Mr. John C. Swain, son of Mrs. Laura B. Swain of Middletown, on Thursday morning, November 9th,, at eleven o'clock. The wedding took place in the George Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, Pa.,, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Jules L. Prevost. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Parce, of Middletown. The ceremony was witnessed by a few relatives and close friends of the bride and groom.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Swain left for New York City, where they were guests at the Hotel New Yorker until Sunday. On their return home they were guests of honor at a dinner given by the bride's father. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Myron W. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. KENT COUNTY BOY MADE GOOD

ROBERT NELSON STEVENS, CHIEVES SUCCESSFUL LIFE

The following are extracts of a short history of the life, of R. Nelson Stevens as given in a book that was published in Baltimore several years ago entitled, "Roads to Success by Maryland's Men and Women of Achievement":

"Some men are born with opportunities, some achieve opportunities, and some do not wait for chance or luck, but go out into the world and make opportunities for themselves.

Robert Nelson Stevens, a Maryland Eastern Shore boy, is justly ranked in this third class, as shown in his life history when he had reached the age of fifteen years. It was at this early age that he arrived in Baltimore, his only equipment was his native courage, the Christian principles in which he had been trained and forty dollars in his pockets, his hard-earned savings. With this training and provision for the obstacles awaiting him in his quest for an honest success in the world, he fought his battle and won out.

Robert Nelson Stevens was born March 24, 1884, in Kent County, Maryland, the son of William and Rebecca (Jones) Stevens. With only a rural school education but innate high ideals, native determination and capacity for hard work, the boy of fifteen set out in the world to carve out a niche for himself. From Rock Hall to Baltimore he sailed on a grain vessel with his meager savings, securing a position at the small wage of three dollars a week, this barely covering his board, his little store being soon depleted. He later obtained a position in a wholesale notion house at an advance of four dollars a week as stock clerk.

He attended night school where he acquired necessary business knowledge, later forming a partnership with his brother, James, under the firm of Stevens Brothers, commission merchants. He later bought out his brothers interests and conducted the business alone.

From time to time Mr. Stevens invested in rural real estate, purchasing farms in different parts of the State, until at present, besides buying his birthplace, "Pleasant Plains," in Kent County, he has acquired one thousand seven hundred acres on the Eastern Shore and a half interest in two thousand acres, Nottingham Farms, of the Philadelphia Road. Baltimore County, which he superintended personally.

His favorite diversion was hunting; he was an organizer of the East Neck Island Road and Gun Club in Kent. Mr. Stevens served on the Board of Stewards of North Baltimore Church, and was a charter member of the Eastern Shore Society.

He was owner of the firm of Stevens Brothers; was President of the Stevens-Baker Company (real estate); also of the W. H. Rector Company, Inc.; Vice-President of the Baltimore Cold Storage, on Pratt Street; Vice-President of the Maryland Ice Cream Company.

Mr. Stevens leaves this message to give young men and women based on observation and experience: "The opportunities for success are greater today than ever, but the youth of the times are too prone to follow the urge of pleasure rather than to work for the tangible reward these opportunities offer."

Funeral services were held Tuesday, November 14, 2.30 p. m., at the North Baltimore Church. Burial was made in Druid Ridge Cemetery, Baltimore.

Mr. Stevens is survived by his wife, Caroline, and seven children, Miss Laurinne Stevens, Mrs. John Slaughter, Mrs. Julia Redman, Miss Jeanne Stevens, of Baltimore; and Mrs. Richard Bradley, of East Orange, N. J.; Robert N. Stevens, Jr., and James W. Stevens.

FIRE AT CHURCH HILL

LOCAL COMPANY COLLED WHEN TOWN IS THREATENED

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company responded to a call from Church Hill Sunday night and played a large part in the preventing another serious conflagration in that town.

The fire, which was in the heart of the business and residential section of the town, destroyed the home of William C. Hall and threatened to spread to the church and other buildings. This is the fourth serious fire that that town has had within the past four years and each time the Chestertown Fire Company has taken the lead in assistance.

Other companies responding to the call were Sudlersville, Centreville and Millington.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE NOW IN SESSION

Liquor Trafic and Crime Control Receive Major Consideration

The Maryland Legislature, in special session convened on at noon on Thursday of this week. Senator S. Scott Beck and Delegate Arthur Brice, representing Kent County, are attending the session, although there is still a question as to whether Senator Beck will be permitted to take his seat due to his recent appointment as Comptroller of the Customs for the Port of Baltimore.

Senator Beck has not resigned his seat in the Senate and his eligibility rests with the Senate itself. At the time of going to press no action had been taken in the matter.

Thursday afternoon's session was consumed with Governor Ritchie's speech in which he outlined his policies for the special session.

Maryland Liquor Control

Extracts from the Governor's suggestions for liquor control in Maryland follows:

The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment returns the liquor question to the States for each State to decide as it deems best for its own people. The State, however, is not homogeneous enough for one uniform law on this subject. At least, Maryland is not. Half our population lives in the great industrial center of Baltimore City. The other half lives in smaller cities, in towns, villages, rural and county districts, and in the environment of our great expanse of bay and rivers. Throughout these localities conditions differ and popular opinions and sanctions differ. It is not possible to reconcile them.

Each Political Unit to Have Only What Its People Want

Accordingly, I am suggesting consideration of a plan which will classify separately each of the various kinds or liquors, and give the right to Baltior liquors, and give the rght to Baltmore City an dto each one of the counties to adopt all of these forms of license if they so desire, or to reject them all if they desire to do that, or to reject some and adopt others.

The proposed bill will be elastic enough to enable each political unit to select the particular kind of license or licenses which will be permitted within its limits, and the administrtive machinery, the license fees, and the provisions for supervision and regulation will all, if acceptable, be on a uniform basis.

To be more specific, the legislation I am proposing will submit the following different forms of license:

1—Breweries, Distilleries, Rectifiers, Importers and Whilesale Distributors. License fee $1,000.

2—Beer, for consumption on and off the Premises. License fee $50.

3—Beer, Off Premise sales only. License fee $25.

4—Liquor and Wines. Hotels, Restraurants, Cafes, Clubs. On and off Premise consumption. License fee $1,000.

5—Liquor and Wines. Taverns. On and off Premise consumption. License fee $500.

6—Liquor and Wines. Dealers, Grocery Stores, etc. Off Premise sales only. License fee $250.

7—Railroads and Steamboats. License $250. Beer only $50.

All license fees to go to the county.

Assuming the conditions and regulations of the bill to be satisfactory, then its passage will enable Baltimore City and any county of the State to permit all of the above forms of license. Any political unit, however, which is not satisfied with any one or more of these forms of license, can through its representatives in the Legislature add a provision to the bill that such licenses shall not be applicable in such political unit, or in some locality thereof, and in that case only the other licenses not excepted would apply. And any political unit desiring none of the specified licenses, can in the same way exempt itself from all of them.

Excise Tax

The Treasury Department has ruled that $1.10 per gallon is the Federal tax which will be effective after repeal, subject, of course, to its increase by the next session of Congress. There

WALTER T. MORRIS TO HEAD ALUMNI

ALUMNI OF WASHINGTON COLLEGE FROM KENT AND CECIL COUNTIES ORGANIZE. PLAN SOCIAL FUNCTION

A meeting of the Alumni of Washington College from Kent and Cecil counties was held at William Smith Hall on Thursday evening, at which time an organization was formed similar to that of other local chapters in different cities and sections of the country.

Walter T. Morris, of Chestertown, was elected president, William B. Usilton, 3rd, of Chestertown, vice-president, Miss Mattie Whitaker, of Chestertown, secretary and treasurer.

The executive committee is composed of Mrs. Howard B. Owens, Betterton; Jonathan Franklin Blake, Elkton; W. R. Huey, Chestertown; Harry R. Rasin, Millington; Mrs. Rebecca Toulson Spiecher, Chestertown; Dr. J. S. Wiliam Jones, Chestertown.

Committee on by-laws, Harry Poole, Chestetown; Eben F. Perkins, Chestertown; Mrs. Bertie Burchinal Clements, Chestertown.

The meeting was well attended. Dr. Meade, who is very much interested in the Alumni organizations was unable to be present as he had to be at Elkton.

A social function will be held by the organization sometime before the Christmas holidays at which time the by-laws will be submitted by the committee.

This newly formed chapter promises to be one of the most active of the whole Alumni Asociation of the college.

KENT'S CIVIL WORKS PROJECTS

EXPECT TO OFFER 249 JOBS SHORTLY

According to regulations of the Federal Civil Wirks Administration, organized for the purpose of creating work so as to take able-bodied men off relief and put them to work, Kent county may create work for 249 men within the next few weeks, the salaries to be paid by the Federal Government.

Among the projects to be started immediately, if approved, are grading on Philosopher's Terrace, Chestertown, which will afford work for 30 men for 2 months.

Grading the new athletic field at Washington College which will afford work for 10 men for 3 months.

Digging two miles of ditches in Rock Hall to afford proper drainage, which will afford work for 10 men for three months.

Extension of Eighth Avenue in Betterton 700 feet. This will afford employment for 10 men 30 days.

In addition to the four projects which are expected to start immediately, additional projects will include.

Building short stretch of Quinn St., Bayside Park, a distance of about 350 feet, using slag if permitted.

Connect First Avenue with Boulevard on Bay Front.

Other projects will include work on county roads and work on the streets of Millington and Galena.

Neither Galena nor Millington have submitted their projects but they will send it to the Chamber of Commerce in Chestertown in the next two or three days. It is reported that the plans for Galena will include sidewalks and gutters for the entire Main Street. Fixing up the roads in front of the schools and slagging the side roads and streets. At Millington it is reported that the work will include curbs and gutters. This will start at the four corners and run toward the cemetery. This will be about 1,500 feet. Again starting at the four corners it will run toward the churches about 100 feet.

The salaries to be paid are understood to be 25 cents an hour for unskilled abor and 50 cents an hour for skilled labor.

Fifty per cent of the labor to be used for these projects will come from those who were on the relief roll November 21st, ande th remaining 50 per cet from National reemployment.

OUR BROADCAST

—The Kent County Chamber of Commerce will shortly move their office from Court Street to the second floor of the Cahal property, corner of High and Queen streets. The change is for the purpose of more room due to the increased work in that office which is headquarters for the Kent County Welfare and Re-employment Boards.—Efforts are being made to have the Rock Hall harbor dredged. This is considered very necssary as it is hard for a large boat to land at the county wharf. Indications are that the work will be done.—To date 1154 gunning licenses and 417 oyster tonging licenses have been issued by the Clerk of the Court.—Chestertown High School, soccer champs for Kent County, lost to Elkton champions of Cecil county, at Elkton on Thursday afternoon 9-0. The first half ended 0-0. The second half Chestertown went to pieces and Elkton made 9 points. This was Kent's first county playoff for the state championship. Chestertown girls field-ball team plays the first county playoff for the state championship with Cecilton at Chestertown Friday afternoon at 2 p. m.—Some middle-aged cronies went rabbit hunting last week and competition got pretty hot. Finally they all got to picking on one member of the party and they have accused him of bushwhacking. He retaliates by accusing one of the other members of bushwhacking. They apply this to anyone shooting a rabbit setting. A friend of both of them says, "Neither one would even make a good bushwhacker."

—A few months ago Riley Graves was sent to the House of Correction where he is now serving time for cutting his wife Julia Graves with a razor. Julia last week end was holding a drinking party at her home which she calls her "Joy House." Carrie Chambers, one of the party died Tuesday morning at the Easton Hospital. It is suspected that the Chamber's woman was poisoned. An autopsy was held at Easton but it has not been heard from yet. Julia Graves was sentenced to 10 days for disorderly conduct and in that time the autopsy will be finished and the officers will know whether or not to make an arrest for the death of Carrie Chambers. She was the only one taken sick at the party. The "Joy House" is located at the South end of Queen St. All the participants were colored.—The funeral of Carrie Chambers was to take place at 2 p. m. Friday but Coroner Dodd had to hold-up the funeral until he could summons a jury and hold an inquest.—Don't fail to read B. Fox's adv., on page three. It is something original.— B. L. Bonnet has some very attractive prices for ladies dresses and hats on page three.—Turn to page 8 and see the wonderful list of bargains being offered by Wm. Medders, of Still Pond.—Mike Thompson former coach at Washington College was featured in the Camel cigarette adv. in the Sun Comic section last Sunday. Joe Wheatley says Mike was a great "Sweet Caporal" smoker when he was at Washington College.

JOHN D. URIE DEAD

WAS PROMINENT LAWYER OF CHESTERTOWN

Funeral services for John David Urie, son of the late James Urie, who died suddenly at his home in Chestertown, were held from his late home on Tuesday at 11 a. m., conducted by Rev. Charles L. Atwater. Interment was made in Chester Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Lilian Baker, of Chestertown, daughter of the late Charles H. Baker, and the following children: Mrs. Neal A. Truslow, of Chestertown; Mrs. Thomas Leffenwell, of Bronxville, N. Y., and Mrs. W. D. Gould, 3rd, of Cambridge, Md. He also leaves six grand children. He was born in Kent County, December 18, 1860, and was a descendant of Thomas Urie who came to Kent County from Glasgow, Scotland, in 1725 and settled in the lower part of the county. His grandfather, James Urie was one of the first men to introduce the manufacturing of woolen goods in the south and established the mills at Urieville, Kent County. His father, James Urie, a successful Kent County farmer, died at the age of 35 years.

John D. Urie graduated from Washington College and received the degrees of Master of Arts and Bachelor of Arts, after which he studied law under the late Richard Hynson and was admitted to the Kent County Bar in 1884. From that time he has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Kent County.

In 1895 he was elected States Attorney of Kent County and served two terms in that office. In 1893 he founded the Kent County Savings Bank and was a Director and Attorney for that institution up until the time of his death.

He was a Past-Master of Chester Lodge No. 115, Order of Masons.

Honorary bearers were: Judges of the second judicial circuit, members of the Kent County Bar, Directors of the Kent County Savings Bank and officers of the Kent Building and Loan Company.

Active bearers were: Messrs. Albert Leffingwell, W. Dunbar Gould, 3rd, Dr. James W. Urie, Jr., Thomas W. Eliason, Stedman Cross and Howard Turner. Dodd and Usilton, undertakers.

"TAKE A CHANCE"

The adventures for four sideshow entertainers who try their luck on Broadway, is divertingly told in "Take a Chance," the Paramount musical film which comes to The New Lyceum Theatre as a Special Thanksgiving treat on Wednesday and Thursday, November 29 and 30.

The quartette, composed of James Dunn, June Knight, Cliff Edwards and Lillian Roth find that the Great White Way isn't much different from Main Street after all and climb to the top of the ladder by means of a series of hilarious episodes which kept last night's audience in an uproar.

It wouldn't be fair to tell you much more of the story. Suffice to say that the supporting cast, composed of Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lillian Bond, Lona Audre, Robert Gleckler and Charles Richmond, do justice to their roles, and that the locale of the story ranges from a small-town carnival to a ritzy gambling club, out with the socially elite of Long Island and back to Broadway.

FORD TRUCK IN TEST RUN

A Ford V-8 131 in Standard Panel, loaded with a four thousand pound load, left Atlantic City, N. J., at 12.01 A. M., Monday, November 20th, on a non-stop run to Los Angeles, California. Three drivers and an observer from the Keystone Automobile Club are in the truck.

The unit will be conveyed from coast to coast, a fresh convoy picking up the truck on an average of every 225 miles. The only stops will be for gas and oi, and in order to keep th stops to a minimum the truck is equipped with capacity for 47 gallons of gas. Wednesday night the truck had traveled 2500 miles in 31 hours.
