At The Movies

NEXT WEEK

Monday and Tuesday, "Glamour" with Courtance Cummings and Paul Lukas. Another love drama by the writer of "Show Boat." A woman who loved to men but loved Glamour even more.

A veritable avalanche of merriment guaranteed to make a wooden Indian dance, a love story of more than ordinary human interest and snappy musical numbers destined for hit popularity are the ingredients which stamp "Strictly Dynamite" a must—be—seen. Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante and Lupe Velez co star in this RKO Radio Picture which shows at the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, June 6 and 7.

Durante and Miss Velez are superb fun makers. The Schnozzle is indubitably the ace comedian on the entertainment front today. Lupe is ingratiatingly tempestuous and as peppery. A sizeably cross section of who's who in Hollywood, including Norman Foster, William Gargan, Marian Nixon, the Four Mills Brothers, Eugene Pallette, Minna Gombell and Sterling Holloway, supports the pair in splendid characterizations.

The hilarity of "Strictly Dynamite" revolves about Moxie Slaight, as funny and famous a clown as ever faced a microphone, who seeks a new gag writer. An agent sells him a down and out poet who turns gag writer with the aid of old joke books after glimpsing the scribe's beautiful team mate Vera. Moxie signs him at a big salary because he can use big words, and talk about psychology, for which Moxie has a clown's respect.

Vera goes siren on the young and good looking gagster, estranging his wife and clients. It all works up to a roaring, happy climax when Moxie steps before the microphone to prove his artistic genius and recites one of the poet's serious masterpieces. It will be a long time before the screen resounds a funnier scene than this side-splitting climax which shows the poetry going over as burlesque.

"Strictly Dynamite" has pulchritude, melody, gags and romance. Durante renders his own "I'm Putty in Your Hands" and "Hot Potata," which will be whistled across the continent.

This picture as a gloom-disperser and blues chaser lives up to its title perfectly—"Strictly Dynamite!"

On Friday and Saturday the usual double feature program. Rex Bill in "Rainbo Ranch." 2nd feature "Murder in Trinidad" with Victor Jory and Heather Angel.

River's Phenomenal Leap

In British Guiana there is a mighty river called the Petara. At one place, Kaieteur, the river makes a clear drop of 822 feet, and at the foot of the cataract the waters of the Petara branch off in various directions. The Kaieteur cataract is the show place of British Guiana. Twenty-eight thousand cubic feet of water pass over the edge of the cataract every second. This vast volume of water, properly applied, would be capable of furnishing four times as much power as is derived today by the harnessing of Niagara falls.
