SQUADRON LOG

BY THE STOWAWAY

Barber Bartley sped up the Chester River on the good ship Buddy, his heart and mind full of the pride of a new possession, and docked at the Chester River Yacht Club pier.

He looked long at the beautiful paint job on the Johnson May Boy II, at he shining brass of the Harrison craft, noted the whiteness of the Brothers II, and the sleek trimness of the Peggy and sighed.

Buddy looks like the wreck of the Hesperdies," he exclaimed.

But Barber Bartley is not the kind of a man to be downcast for long. He remembered how Buddy had lain forsaken on the shores of the Catlin place for a year and a half, and how she had responded to the feel of the water, how her engine had started off almost at once, so anxious was she to please her new master.

Casting an appraising eye at the slow going Swaraj and Wahnita, he smiled.

"Any way, this bunch of navigators will have to do some tall navigating to keep up with Buddy's 90 HP engine," and after a few coats of paint even the May Boy won't look so swell."

Make no mistake, Buddy has speed and —— possibilities.

Some one is always ready to spoil every thing. The latest offenders are trespassers on and around the yacht club pier. Too much damage and theft has occurred around the boats, too many rough boys and men have made the pier an unpleasant place for the women and girls of the club membership.

Now the Board of Governors have adopted drastic measures. The pier and the entrance to the pier are to be fenced in and any one caught trespassing will be dealt wth severely.

The pier and the bathing beach will be exclusively for the use of club members, and their own children. Even the number of guests will be limited.

Each member will have the privilege of taking two guests only on the pier, and the guests must be accompanied by the member. They can no longer be sent down to the club with an airy remark.

"Tell 'em I sent you."

No indeed, if you want your friends to swim, you must swim, too.

The Lieutenant Commander of the Susquehanna Squadron, of which the Chester River Yacht Club is a part, celebrated his wentieh wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening. Simon Westcott, captain of the Half Pint, and his Galley Slave, had the party at their home on Water Street. It was almost a second wedding with Mrs. Westcott wearing her wedding dress to the undisgushed envy of every woman present.

"How did you ever got into it," every woman wanted to know.

"I had to take it in," the bride ansered, putting a period to all further comments.

Simon was not so lucky. He said his wedding clothes were too hot, but it was more likely that they were too tight.

NOW AND THEN

LIFTERS OR LEANERS

There are two kinds of people on earth today,
Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the saint and the sinner, for 'tis well understood
The good are half bad and the bad are half good;
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
Yu must first know the state of his conscience and health;
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man;
Not the happy and sad, for the fast flying years
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No! the two kinds of people on earth that I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Where'er you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes;
And oddly enough, you find, too, I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In what class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

—ANON.

What a pity that the strenuous Teddy Roosevelt who so commended large families is not living to see the five baby girls. The mother, a French Canadan is perhaps trying to carry out a plan that French Canadians have, of trying to out do the English in numbers. If the five grow and thrive they will be taken to the Century of Progress as a drawer of crowds.

J. Newton Baker, always a welcome dinner guest, relieved the tedium of after dinner speakers the other day by telling the following:

A little boy desired a new rifle so hard that finally Santa Claus sent him one in his stocking. The youngster's diary after this event read: "Christmas Day—Got rifle. December 26—Rained, December 27—Snowed. December 28—Too sleety to go out. December 29—Shot grandma."

Galapagos Islands, possessions of Ecuador, are far out in the Pacific Islands and were known to most of us until recently, only in Geography, but last year A German writer and his wife resolved to seek an asylum far away from the maddening crowd. Their description of the beautiful rocky island, of their living in a cave until they had built a shack from the drift wood, of their garden of luscious vegetables and of their warfare against the wild pigs of the island that sought to eat and destroy all that they had built up, is very interesting reading in an article published in the Atlantic Monthly, called "Adam & Eve."

The attention of the reading public has been recalled to it, by the urgent call of a young wife, Mrs. William Robinson, who with her author husband, was cruising in the Pacific, on a honey moon trip.

They had landed on the islands when he was seized with an acute attack of appendicitis.

Through the help of radio and airplanes, she finally obtained the surgeons and the remedies needed.

She describes the agony which her husband suffered, and the intense relief that came when she saw the two army plans descending upon them as birds of good omen.

What a wonderful world this is! and how much smaller it seems us now, when telephone, radio autos and planes do away with the idea of space and distances.

WOMAN CAN NEVER GET MAN'S BEST BLESSING

(From the London Chronicle)

Mr. and Mrs. Swiggins were very happy together, except when an argument arose. Then the wife contradicted her husband firmly and as a matter of principle. One evening they were discussing the matter of superiority of man over woman, and the lady was getting heated.

"At any rate," said her husband, "there is one good, sweet and perfect thing which a man can have but which is barred to women."

'Never-" cried Mrs. Swiggins passionately. "I deny it!" Then she asked, curiously: "What do you mean?"

"A wife," was the calm retort.

This little poem below was copied from a Bulletin of a sanitorium.

LIFE

This life is nothing more or less
Than little acts of kindliness,
A good word here, a service there,
To lift from mankind some great care.
So let us daily thoughtfully
Pursue our way rejoicingly.
For I'll help you and you'll help me,
And this a happy world will be.
Begin it now and carry on
So when the year is past and gone,
In meditation you can smile
For living's really been worth while.

WEDDING NOTES

DUCKLOE—CREW

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturfday morning, June 2nd at eight thirty when Miss Anna Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Y. Crew of Betterton became the bride of Mr. Norman L. Duckloe, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Duckloe of Philadelphia. The impressive ceremony, performed by Rev. W. Vaughn Moore, was witnessed by only the immediate family and a few friends. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Workman, of Philadelphia, the sister and brother in law of the groom. The bride was attired in a white chalk crepe traveling costume with accessories to match. The matron of honor was also attired in white. Amid a shower of confetti and rice and the good wishes of their many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Duckloe left immediately for their honey moon at Atlantic City.

Miss Crew is one of Betterton's most popular young ladies, esteemed and loved by a host of friend. They will make their future home in Wyncote, Pa., where Mr. Duckloe is engaged in business.

The wedding day was also the twenty fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John Crew, the parents of the bride.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

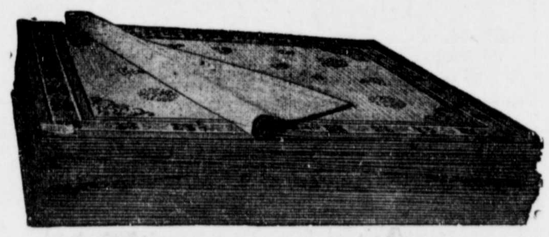

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good", for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. © 1933, C. M. Co.
