GAMES AT CHESTERTOWN THIS WEEK END

Chestertown plays Clayton, Del., at Hopewell this Saturday afternoon. On Sunday they play Queenstown at Queenstown.

West Kent will play Cecilton this Sunday afternoon at the College Hill Filling Station diamond.

NEW TEAM FORMED AT CHESTERTOWN

Baseball team No. 3 has been formed in Chestertown. Chestertown, West Kent and the new club as yet has no name. For a home diamond they will use the West Kent diamond.

This new team will play Sunday ball and the players are made up from those playing in the Church League. They will not play as a church team on Sunday. As yet this team has no name and are looking around for suggestions for one. This Sunday they play Church Hill at Church Hill and the following Sunday they play Sudlersville.

WEST KENT WINS

Journeying to Warwick last Sunday the West Kent Club defeated Cecilton, leaders of the Mid-River League 9-4. West Kent trotted out a new pitcher who only allowed 4 hits in 7 innings. Wenell the new pitcher is from Baltimore and did some sand lot pitching there. Living in Kent County since the early spring he will be on the West Kent hurling staff for the remainder of the season. The last two innings of the game Sunday was pitched by Roby Wheat who was not quite up to his usual form. West Kent was on a hitting spree and played their best game of the season.

CHESTERTOWN DEFEATS TOWNSHEND 12 TO 7

Eddie Harris after a bad first inning tightened up and pitched a good game for Chestertown. Townshend scored five runs in the first inning. Loller shared the pitching duties for Chestertown with Harris.

Townshend was scheduled early in the season to play at Hopewell last Sunday. Two or three days before the game they cancelled. On Saturday they let Chestertown know they were coming. There is some doubt that Townshend sent its regular team last Sunday. The game was rather sloppy and somewhat of a walk away for Chestertown.

SHORE ORIOLES OUTCLASS LOCAL TEAMS
Frank Sutton Gets Try-Out

The Centreville baseball team, know as the Shore Orioles is getting a little too good for Shore competition. They are running here, there and everywhere for material.

Pitchers from Middletown, players from the College. It is little use teams in this section with strictly local clubs trying to keep up with them. To do so would cost too much money.

Frank Sutton, star outfielder for West Kent had a try out with them last week but will still play with West Kent. According to him, Centreville has players which they keep on bench, that could trim most of the other teams in this section.

COLLEGE DEFEATS ALUMNI 7-5

With Pliner Purcell on the mound for the Alumni the College won last Saturday afternoon in the annual meeting 7-5. Members of the Alumni team believe with a little practice they could take the College team over without much trouble. Yes, the College team was not so good this year.

W. E. GRIFFITH HONORED

The following is an article which appeared in The Maytag News for June, which is an organ of The Maytag Company and circulates among 12,000 dealers throughout the world:

"Down in the Eastern Shore of Maryland, in one of those little supposed-to-be sleepy towns, is a Maytag dealer who is thoroughly awake and on his toes.

He's doing a job!

We are pleased to present W. E. Griffith, a resident of Chestertown, Md., where last October 21, President Roosevelt visited in person, to receive the degree of Doctor of Laws from George Washington College, the only institute of learning ever authorized by George Washington to use his name. Mr. Griffith, by the way, is a George Washington College graduate and on his watchchain is a medal testifying to his athletic and scholastic prowess.

"Griff," as he is best known, operates a total of 9 outlets in four counties, the total population of which is not quite 65,000. He has bought 205 washers from us in the first four months of 1934, and confidently expects to retail no less than 500, maybe more, depending on crop yields and prices, oysters, poultry, etc. But when the going gets tough Griff and his men bear down a little harder, so we can safely count, favorable conditions or otherwise, that 500 homes down that way will be made happier this year by the advent of Maytag home launderng.

Before joining Maytag in 1930, Mr. Griffith was a construction engineer. He still is, for that matter. He is constructing an organization, and engineering results."

Mr. Griffith married Miss Mary Covey and they have a little girl.

FIRESIDE POEMS

BY REV. J. THOMAS PRICE
Chesapeake City, Md.

When e'er I catch a string of fish,
I brag and brag all day;
But when I fish and get no bites,
I've nothing much to say.

The fish I catch are often small,
Their size I never say;
The biggest fish you ever saw,
Are those that get away.

When e'er the world goes well with me
I tell folks o'er and o'er;
But when she knocks me on the bean,
Folks never know I'm sore.

And so I would suggest this rule,
Apply it day by day;
Tell all the good, but of the bad,
Have nothing much to say.

The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

Shall I start where I left off last week and tell you how we have whiled away our days? Well, I believe that was Sunday. We went out Sunday to see our own team of golfers take over those Cambridge boys in another smashing victory. At the same time, the tea at the Club was in progress, only it wasn't tea, but a very refreshing punch which was duly welcomed on a hot afternoon, accompanied by delicious little cakes.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Robert's party for Mrs. Dorsey Hines passed off in delightful fashion and everyone had a most enjoyable afternoon. That night, Tuesday, a crowd of Mrs. William B. Usilton, III's friends descended on her, bearing card tables, refreshment, prizes, and a birthday gift. Perry (as she is known to her friends) was utterly surprised and showed it. However, a perfectly organized bridge party ensued, and the plans, of the participants for a surprise party were marked with success, as at the end of the evening we bade her good night with Happy Birthday.

Nevertheless, the fun and greetings of birthday, did not make the crowd lose the gala opportunity to wish Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Strong congratulations at the same time for their 16th wedding anniversary.

In wishing well, I want to take this chance to tell you how glad we are that little Rolph Tonshend, Jr., who had his tonsils removed last Monday in a Baltimore hospital, is on the road to recovery, as well as little Karl Melamet who has been down with the measles.

Miss Anne Woolsey, of St. Louis, daughter of that charming Mrs. Ross Woolsey, who visited here not long ago, is the guest of Mrs. C. Beck Jones. Miss Woolsey has been attending Smith College all winter and is paying us a short visit before returning to the West.

Dr. Blackston Wroth has returned to be with his mother, Mrs. Hallie Wroth, for some time.

Mrs. Clara Solandt and her son, left Wednesday to attend the commencement exercises at Yale. Mr. Solandt, a graduate of Yale, will be present at all the alumni activities and renew old acquaintances.

Sometime ago when we had so many out of town guests, I suggested that you send the census man around. ell, I am mighty glad you didn't send him Thursday or Friday of this week, for it seems I never heard of so many people leaving all at once. Of course the occasion for all this departure is to attend the tercentenary of the founding of Maryland celebration at St. Mary's City. Mr. and Mrs Simon Westcott, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Wilmer, Mr. Hynson Rogers took part in the pageant, while those who went as spectators from here were, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Beck, Scott, Jr., and Betty Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kibler, Mrs. Hynson Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hines and Mrs. C. Beck Jones. Dr. Hines went as a member of General Reckord's staff, while Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Jones were guests of Mrs. Reckord's. Mr. and Mrs. Page Gale and party also attended.

The annual house-party at Rehobeth Beach, organized by a crowd of the young people from town, started Friday night and will last for two weeks. There are 12 in the party and will be chaperoned by Mrs. William B. Usilton, III. Among those who went were: Miss Barbee Humphreys, Bus Rowe, Miss Nancy Jean Usilton, Jimmy Johns, Fred Usilton and the others I don't remember at this minute, but I know they will have their usual good time.

Future activities at the Club promise a Beach Party followed by a dance on the Saturday night following the 4th of July, which is I believe July 7. Then the annual Regatta and the King of all events has been set for August 27th and 28th. So ther's always something to look forward to in this busy town of ours.

Yours till I know more,

THE WANDERER.

Mrs. Milton Harris and children, of Gloucester Point, Va., are visiting Mrs. Charles F. Wheatley, her sister.

Mr. William McIntire, spent Sunday with his father, Mr. J. Bruce McIntire.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Benton with their daughter, Peggy, visited Mrs. Benton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kirby. They also attended the commencement at the Sudlersville High School where Mr. Benton's brother was a graduate this year.

Mr. H. S. Brown, Jr., of New York, had as guests at the home of his father, Mr. H. S. Brown, Godlington Manor, Miss Betty Johns and Mr. Wally Rucher, of New York.

Mrs. A. Roy Woodland and two children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Mollie Reed.

Mr. David McMenamin has returned from his duties as principal of the Alfred du Pont High School at Wilmington, Del. He will attend Summer School at the University of Maryland this summer.

Mr. E. B. Pennington has been attending the June Week Commencement at West Point this week. He writes that the "Eastern Sho" is so well known now that he does not have to explain where he is located.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Needles entertained Miss Marie Donovan and Mr. H. Vernon Needles, of Lewes, Del., over the past week end.

WOULD ESTABLISHER SHORE AIR MAIL

Now that passenger service has been established between Salisbury, Cambridge, Easton and Baltimore, an effort is being made by the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, through Senator Tydings to have an air mail service between Baltimore and these Shore points. As the planes on this route pass within a few miles of Centreville and Chestertown it is thought that they will soon be included in the air schedule.
