THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

It used to be that for weeks before the Fourth of July the approach of our Anniversity was heralded by the blowing up of manufactories of fireworks, and the diffusion of small particles of exploded workman over miles of startled country. The cornoer always wore a happy and confident expression of face, as he hopefully lingered in the neighborhood of shops where fireworks were sold or manufactured. It was only an uncommon incident to pick up a newspaper and read where a plant manufacturing nitro-glycerine torpetoes exploded in New York and scattered finely comminuited workmen all over the neighborhood. No man knew at what moment his ears would be deafened by an explosion and his hat flattened over his eyes by the parabolic descet of some total though mangled stranger. Those were hectic days B. D. (Before Depression) and altho they furnished good business for the Coroner's and Undertaker, it was hard on the workmen and it is to be hoped, that if there is any decay of patriotism among Americans of late years, it is probably due to the lesson learned from the World War and the munition rackett. However, there is something to be said in defense of ornamental fireworks as a means of celebrating the Fourth of July. They are frequently beautiful in themselves, and the extent of which they set buildings on fire endears them to mechanics in search of employment. More explosives, however, are utterly indefensible except from the corner's point of view. Fire-crackers, Torpedoes, and toy pistols are instruments with which the small-boy's love for noise makes deafened millions mourn. That the small boy puts out his eyes, or ruins a dozen insurances companies by burning up a whole city cannot be pleaded as a sufficient compensation for the torture which he inflicts during the twenty-four hours of Independence day. No man outside of a deaf and dumb asylum, who is awakened at midnight on the 3d of July with a hideous din that he knows will grow worse and worse for the next 24 hours can help feeling that the Declaration of Independance wos a terrible mistake, and that probition and quite were infinitely preferable to freedom and fireworks. This feeling is, of coursê, of only temporary duration; but its annual indulgence cannot but dull the patriotic istincts of the noblest men. Why does the small boy delight in fire crackers' obviously because they make a noise. The Fourth of July is the one day when he is licensed to make unlimited noise. While there is no hope that public opinion can never induce the small boy to abandon his prescriptive right to make the Fourth hideous, it is possible that he might be made to achieve his noisy ambition in some other way than with the aid of explosive compounds. The thoughtful and studious small boy is already aware that he can make noises of the most exasperating character without the aid of a particle of gunpowder. Why should we not point out to our little ones the safe and cheap instruments of uproar with which every house hold is provided, a nd prevail upon them to accept these in exchange for the fire-cracker that burns by day and the Roman Candle that shoot in the night time. The ordinary front door has enormous capabilities for noise, one small boy can produce more noise by violently and persistently slamming it than can be produced by a pack of firecrackers. Every family who has moved on the first of the year is similar with the magnificent effect in point of noise which is produced by loading a small boy with an assortment of coal scuttles and directing him to carry them carefully down stairs. If this experiment were to be repeated say at half hourly intervals on the Fourth, and especially if a few worn-out articles of tin ware were placed at the bottom of the stairs to receive the loaded boy, the crash and rattle that would ensue would far eclipse the best efforts of the largest 'giant crackers' The common domestic baby can in skillful hands be made to yield noises of great variety and penetrating power; and the ear-piercing results of saw filing are so notorious, that the advantages of celebrating our Nations birthday by a carnival of saws ought long ago to have been recognized. Time would fail wore the attempt made to give a complete list of domestic instruments of patriotic noise. These that have been mentioned are alone sufficient to give expression to the wildest juvenile patriotism. Let us then discard the dangerous explosives sold by pyrotechnists and substitute for them the harmless front door, the innocuous coal scuttles and the safe but satisfactory baby and saw. What a sublime spectable would be presented on the ensuing Fourth were the small boys of this happy land to celebrate our National Independence by unremitting slamming of doors the upsetting of coal scuttles, the filing of saws, and the pinching of babies.

NOTICE TO ALL DELINQUENTS TAXPAYERS ON PERSONAL PROPERTY

We publish herewith a ruling from theAttorney General on the law governing the sale of personal property for taxes.

The law governing the sale of personal property for taxes in Kent County.

The local law on the subject may be found in Artfcle 15, Sections 152-156, Flack's Code of Public Local Laws. Section 154, relating to sales, was amended by Chapter 310, Acts of 1933, and authorizes a sale of the property of a delinquent, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay the taxes with interest and costs. The general method of procedure is set out in Article 81 Sections 189 and 190 of Bagby's Code of Public General Laws (1929 Suppl.) Section 190 indicates that sale of personal property may be either at the Court House door, or on the premises where the levy is made.

Under the Law I will advertise and sell all or enough of the personal propery of all delinquents for 1930-1931 on the premises where they were levied upon if taxes are not paid on or before June 29th. This means all personal property that has been levied upon for 1930-1931.
