CODE VIOLATIONS ON SHORE

SAYS WORKING PEOPLE HAVE BEEN ROBBED BY INDUSTRY

Through the failure of employees and business men to insist upon compliance with the codes of various industries, the working people of the Eastern Shore have been robbed of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the last few months, according to Arthur E. Hungerford, State Director for the National Emergency Council, in charge of NRA Compliance in Maryland.

Business men in turn have been deprived of thousands of dollars of profits which the circulation of this extra money would have meant. These code violations have been chiefly in connection with factories in small towns and rural sections. Manufacturers and contractors by threatening to close the plants have covered workers and business men to agree to code violations. In some cases employees have been compelled to sign work receipts for $12 when they received only $6 or $8.

A number of complants have been made, and contractors will be compelled to make 100 per cent. restitution to their employees. In many cases, the local contractors have made large profits by code violations. In others they have been frightened by threats of work being withheld by manufacturers.

The chief beneficiaries of these violations of the various codes have been manufacturers in Philadelphia, Baltimore, and New York, but particularly Philadelphia.

Local bankers have been deceived by the fact that manufacturers have sent to the contractors checks for barely enough money to cover the payroll, and a second check covering the profits for deposit in banks in other sections. Some idea of the deception practiced on Eastern Shoremen is the fact that one plant employing approximately a hundred persons has had a payroll of $800 a week, when it should have exceeded $1,200 a week. This means that at least $1,600 more should have circulated in that community in the course of a single month.

The worst offenders have been in the Cotton Garment Industry. The Cotton Garment Code Authority has secured evidence of non-compliance on the part of a number of factories. Adjusters from the office of the State Compliance Director have found serious violations.

So serious are violations in two cases affecting factories on the Eastern Shore that the employers will not be given an opportunity to make an adjustment in the office of the State Direhtor or to make resititution. The State Director has decided to step aside and let the United States District Attorney take action, criminal or civil or both, as he may determine.

Withn the next few days a meeting of cotton garment contractors will be held at Salisbury by the State Director. Mr. Hungerford explains that his office is not an enforcement agency, but is educational as to the codes and adjustment of violations within the spirit and law of the various codes. He further states that 100 per cent restitution is expected of all employers who have violated the code. Where employers and employees conspire to defeat a code, he says the United States Attorney may take action against both, not only under the code, but under the conspiracy action.

Manufacturers, contractors, employees and business men who want to discuss these problems of compliance, or who seek information may correspond with Mr. Hungerford at 130 Custom House, Baltimore, Md.

The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer,

Now you know I am a good friend to write to you on a day as hot as this, but I am proving that the "proof of the pudding is the eating." We are still chasing around however, in spite of the heat, maybe in an endeavor to forget it. Visitors in town always keep things in a party mood, but now that some have departed, we might settle down again to a quieter life. The Harry Derringes for whom a great deal of entertaining was done, left Wednesday to establish residence at Yorktown, Va.

Mrs. Guy M. Stone, who also was extensively entertained while visiting Mrs. Eben F. Perkins, left Wednesday too, to visit in Baltimore before returning to her home in Pittsfield, Mass. But as some go, others come, for on Saturday last, Miss Harriett Welch arrived to stay with her aunts, Mrs. Etta Fountain and Mrs. Herbert Skipper, before leaving for her trip on July 5th to California. Miss Nelie Walker also came last Saturday, and has been spending her first week in town as the guest of Mrs. Lewin Wickes. Mrs. Wickes entertained on Tuesday evening for Miss Walker, at a supper, followed by bridge.

Other visitors in town this week were Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel D. Sollers and little Sally Dare Sollers, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Collins, Jr., and Mrs. May Morgan, of Baltimore, who is the guest of Mrs. Frank Hines.

On Saturday, today, little Jimmy Metcalfe will join Miss Mae Lynn in Washngton, and together will attend the World's Fair in Chicago.

Last Saturday night I happened to witness a sight that made me realize the old saying, that one is only as old as he feels.

It happened to be the 73rd birthday of Mrs. Hiram Brown. That young lady, as part of her celebration of the day, took her first air plane ride about 7.30 in the evening, piloted by Mr. Edwin McDonald, a house guest who had flown down from New York accompanied by Mrs. Alice Clark, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Gilbert Meade the only passengers, serenely and joyfully took a view of our town from the height of a 1000 feet and when once more they trod, the grassy slopes of Godlington Manor, a more radiant, delighted celebrant of a 73rd birthday would have been hard to find the world over. Hats off and I think it a good lesson in courage and faith to all of us.

The beach party and dance the date of which was originally planned for July 7th, has been post poned till July 14th, as it is impossible to get the desired music at the previous date. This will give us a little time to recover from the fire crackers of the 4th, anyway.

But Roamer dear, won't you pardon my brevity this week? It's really too hot to think. I know there are other things I want to tell you, but all three parts of my brain are at a stand still.

Yours with a fan,
THE WANDERER.

"No," sighed the young man, 'but I paid to have those letters written by an expert, and I may use them again some day."

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE AT ROCK HALL

Dr. Charles H. Conley

Rock Hall, Md., June 28—Communicated.

The long period of years since the community of Rock Hall has had a candidate for Governor of this state was broken last Friday, June 22. When Dr. Chas. H. Conley stopped here for a short term while enroute to the Tolchester Ferry, and while here visited the water front section calling at a number of cottages and summer hotels when he met a great many of local citizens. He also met a number from Baltimore and other parts of the state, among the latter some whom he had known for a good many years.

It was soon evident that Dr. Conley was a welcome visitor with all whom he came in confact, and from the expression of their individual opinion it developed the fact that the prevailing or unamious sentiment was that "No one person or group of persons can continue for an indefinite time in the executive and administrative affair of the state without demoralizing our entire structive of government of the stote and also jeopardize the Democratic party or the party in power."

Dr. Conley was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Martha Conley and Dr. J. Herbert Wade, former chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Maryland; also Mr. James, his publicity Mgr.
