CHURCH NOTES

Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown

The interesting Sunday School meets at ten o'clock about the Word of God. In this School there is a place for every age.

In the morning worship hour, which begins at eleven o'clock, the sermon subject, 'Finding God,' promises a simple discusson of life's great quest. All our people are looked for in this service and those without a church home in the community are invited.

Chestertown is fortunate in its summer Sunday evening open air service, fortunate in all that goes to make the service possible and popular: the spirit of cooperation, the band, the park, etc. Additional seats will be provided for next Sunday evening when the second of this year's series will be held and the pastor of Christ Church will preach.

SORTA FUNNY, AINT IT

Each year the firemen have held their carnival in the Park, some of our lovers of grass, have wailed, "They should not let them have the park because they will wear all the grass off." They were right, there was not much grass left.

But the grass apparently is not the only reason for cutting out the carnival as much of the opposition are the backers of the Union Services in the park.

JUST ANOTHER ORDINANCE

The Town Council at its last meeting passed an ordinance against trucks using the road on Water Street The Town Council passes a lot of ordinances but very few of them are ever enforced, that is no one is ever arrested or cautioned.

PURELY POLITICAL

Mr. Curley Byrd's visit to the Eastern Shore was a call in the interests of Gov. Ritchie.

Reports have reached us that he tried to bull doze the Eastern Shore boys by telling them Ritchie was going to carry Baltmore by a tremendous majority and they had better jump on the band wagon.

From a very authentic source we hear that Mr. Byrd tried no bull dozing but merely called on friends of his and sounded them out on Mr. Ritchie's chances. In Kent County it is reported he visited Mr. Beck and in Queen Annes he called on Mr. Wilson, of Ingleside. In Talbot he visited Mr. Sheehan's allies.

Resentment is said to exist in the Ritchie camp against the boys that induced Mr. Radcliffe to run. Mr. Byrd is reported to absolutely have ignored Mr. Radcliffe's backers in his visit.

But as a poor Eastern Shoreman the situation looks as though Governor Ritchie stands a much better chance with three in the field against him than he would with just one. The vote largely will be Ritchie and Anti-Ritchie. It should be very nice for the Governor to have his opposition vote divided among three.

INFORMALITY DE LUXE

If you are bothered about dances being too formal just cover the water front at Bookers Beach on a Thursday evening.

TOUGH ON RENDEZVOUS

A few years ago a lot of bathing, yachting clubs, etc., were built around in out of the way places. The clubs had accomodations for people to spend the week ends and the Volstead Law was ignored. The clubs had its source of supply in the immediate vicinity. The members of these clubs were from the cities.

Now that the prohibition law has been repealed and add the depression to that, the clubs are losing spirit and the finances are running low. The people do not have to leave the cities.

Now this going to cause people to see more evidence of drinking. It will come out of the bushes and be in the open.

The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

Now that the 4th of July is gone, and we are sitting down recovering from noises of fire crackers which started at an early morning hour to tell us that another day of Independence had rolled around, what are you going to do next to celebrate? I hope you had as good a time as I did for although, I must confess, I spent no money on illuminations, I did enjoy the fireworks of others. I happened to be out on the river after dark, and from your banks I had a corking good view. It seemed that a great many of our friends were doing justice to the day pretty far down as I chanced to go. One group who seemed to be particularly in illuminating glory was a party of friends on the Grieb shore. I understand the Kellogg Smith camp members were invited over to have that enticing point on which to celebrate, and their fireworks were certainly lovely. The Neal Truslow had their annual picnic and display of Sparklers, the Bob Wilson's at Fox Point, and the Harrisons at their farm, did likewise. So I must say the day held up its reputation, for certainly like Christmas, it was a day for both young and old.

Some vistors in town and nearby, helped us in our celebrations for down at Quaker Neck, Mrs. Burt, the Misses Mary and Virginia Burt, and Miss Martha Furgee, all of Manningtton, West Virgina are guests of Mr. Henry Brown.

Jim Bacchus fled the hot city to be on hand, and will be here all of July and August before returning to New York.

Miss Ellen Beck, of New York, also, is the guest of Mrs. C. Beck Jones, and while still speaking of guests and of New York, Mr. Hal Curry and his young daughter, Charlotte Jane, also of that city were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Massey Hines this week. On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Hines entertained at supper in honor of Mr. Curry. Supper was served at small tables on the porch overlooking the river. Charlotte Jane will stay down awhile, and judging from the good time the younger set seem to be having this summer, between picnics, swimmng and riding around in out board motors, she will certainly not be at loss for amusement.

Mr. and Mrs. James Springer, of Baltimore are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Emory on Lankford Bay, and still more Baltimore guests due today for the week end will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perkins, Miss Elizabeth Perkins and Miss Marjorie Wills.

Camp life is calling some of the younger members of our locality. Miss Harret Lousa Rogers s a counsellor at Camp Wright, the Diocese of Easton camp, located on Kent Island.

Betty Beck, Fracis Kreeger and Elizabeth Humphries are attending there for two weeks.

Now, I am looking forward to the crab roast, followed by a dance next Saturday at the Country Club. We are planning a big time with good music by which we may trip the light fantastic toe.

Yours expecting,
THE WANDERER.
