Facts And Figures On Your Telephone

By EDWIN F. HILL

Edwin F. Hill

President Walter S. Gifford reports to the stockholders an improvement in the telephone industry for the six months ending June 30. During the first six months of this year the Bell System had a net gain of about 190,000 telephones. This gain exceeded that of any corresponding period since 1929 and compares with a net loss of 612,000 telephones in the first six months of last year.

The number of toll and long distance calls during the first six months was about 7 per cent greater than the number for the same period last year, but was about 10 per cent less than for the first six months of 1932.

Treating the system as a whole and including the Western Electric Company, preliminary data indicate earnings on American Telephone and Telegraph Company stock of about $3.00 per share for the first six months of this year, compared with $2.40 per share for the corresponding period of 1933.

The earnings of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company by itself do not reflect the current deficit of the Western Electric Company, and about 5 cents per share of the earnings for 1934 and 65 cents for 1933 are accounted for by dividends received that were not earned during the six-month period by the associated companies as a whole.

Oldest Telephone Subscriber Dies

Dr. Ernest LeRoy Thomson, the oldest survivor of the subscribers to the New Haven telephone directory, the first to be published in the world, died recently at the age of eighty-four. This directory was issued February 21, 1878. The central office serving New Haven, Conn., was established January 28 of that year.

When the directory was printed only three local physicians would allow a telephone to be installed in their offices or homes, believing that night calls would ruin their health. He was the youngest of the three. Just prior to his death he had received many complimentary calls and messages of congratulation for his constancy in maintaining his telephone connections.

Cause of Tides

Tides are caused by the gravitational attraction, or pull, of the sun and moon on the water and on the earth itself. The close relation that the times of high water bear to the times of the moon's meridian passage shows that the moon's influence on tides is much greater than that of the sun; it has been estimated that it is two and one-half times as great. The result of this attraction of the moon is to draw or heap up the water, in the parts of the earth nearest it. The surface of the earth rises and falls twice in a lunar day of about 24 hours and 52 minutes. The tides do not always rise to the same height, but every fortnight, after the new and full moon, they become much higher than they were in the alternate weeks. These high tides are called spring tides and the low ones neap tides.

UNDULANT FEVER MORE PREVALENT IN STATE

Undulant fever is becoming more prevalent in Delaware or more cases are being recognized and reported, Dr. C. A. Sargent, Dover, in charge of the communicable disease division of the State Board of Health, writes in the current issue of the Delaware State Medical Journal.

This fever has not been common in this area, but Dr. Sargent reports that there have been seven cases reported in Delaware up to July 1, while there were only two cases reported in 1931, two in 1932 and six in 1933.

"In view of the fact that undulant fever appears to be more prevalent," Dr. Sargent reports, "the State Board of Health is undertaking a thorough investigation of the situation and milk from all dairies, the products of which are consumed in this State, has been analyzed and approximately forty per cent have shown positive agglutination for crucella abortus (the undulant fever germ).

Of the seven cases reported to July 1, this year, Dr. Sargent reports, five were from Kent county, located in Dover and the area north to the New Castle County line. Two cases were reported in Sussex County.

"One significant feature," Dr. Sargent states, "is that no cases have been reported among individuals using pasteurized milk. The most frequent source of infection with brucella organisms is from milk and dairy products of cattle or goats.

"A positive blood test of an animal," Dr. Sargent writes, "indicate infection but does not necessariiy signify that the brucella organisms are being driven off in the milk. To determine whether an animal is producing infected milk, it is necessary to do agglutination tests on milk."

Dr. Sargent reveals that surveys in various areas of the nation indicated from 25 to 30 per cent of dairy herds are infected.

There are three types of the undulant fever all characterized by an incubation period of from six to fourteen days, onset with chils, malaise, headache, loss of appetite and frequently acute sciatic pains.

"The most characteristic feature" Dr. Sargent writes, "is the step-like rise in temperature, reaching 104 or 105 degrees by the fourth or fifth day and continuing for twelve and fifteen days without much variation. In two or three weeks there is a relapse with a repetition of the fever. This condition may continue for three or four months, and in some cases as long as two years.

"The malignant variety may stimulate typhoid fever and it frequently terminates fatally in a short time.

"The intermittent variety is characterized by intermittent fever over a period of several weeks or months.

"The ambulatory type of the disease is one in which the symptoms are almost entirely absent and the patient may be acting as a carrier."
