NOW AND THEN

THE KNEELING CAMEL

By Anna Temple Bailey

The camel at the close of day
Kneels down upon the sandy plain
To have his burden lifted off,
And rest again.
My soul, thou too shouldst to thy knees
When day light draweth to a close,
And let thy Master lift thy load,
And grant repose.
Else how canst thou tomorrow meet,
With all tomorrow's work to do,
If thou thy burden all the night
Dost carry through?

The camel kneels at break of day
To have his guide replace his load,
Then rises up anew to take
The desert road.
So thou shouldst kneel at morning's dawn
That God may give thy daily care,
Assured that He no load too great
Will make thee bear.

The school bell is ringing again, and crowds of youngsters are seen with their books under their arms, hurrying to their tasks; the boys, perhaps not quite so cheerfully as the girls.

Youth is always attractive and it is very pleasant to see the bright faces as they go to and fro. We are sure that the ice cream business is picking up as the cones seem very popular.

It is gratifying to think that in all of one hundred and twenty years, there has been peace between us and our nearest neighbor, Canada. Some time there has been questions difficult to settle, but we have never had any serious quarrel. Because of this, North Dakota and the province of Manitoba together have given 3000 acres of land to be called 'The Peace Garden.' The National Association of Gardeners will undertake its construction. A large part of its area will be kept in its natural state, the rest to be developed by expert gardeners.

There will be a Peace Tower built on its highest point.

Perhaps there is no more beautiful word in the English language than the word peace, not only in sound, also in meaning. Like the 'Christ of the Andes may this remind the people that peace is to be sought by all. Peace and prosperity are almost synonomous terms the first brings about the second.

THE FLOWER SHOW

The fourth Flower Show on the 14th and 15th of September like the other three was a great success. Those who are away, but have come back for this event have nothing for it but praise. Everyone loves the beautiful flowers. flowers.

The arrangement was so tastefully done, and so much loving service. And the Fashion show! Imagine a fashion show for Chestertown! There are no more country bumpkins these days. And why should there be with so many helps to show us how to dress. Yes, indeed, it was a great success.

'Rose dreamed she was a lily
Lily dreamed she was a rose,
Robin dreamed he was a sparraw
What the owl dreamed no one knows.
But they all woke up together
Said each one 'you're an lovely neighbor,
But I'm very glad I'm me.'

M. E.

Every foreigner thinks that the English language is rather hard to learn.

We have heard of the poor Frenchman who found that chest and box meant the same thing, and had also learned that bough was pronounced bow. So he felt he was justified when telling of his bad cold to say, 'I have a cow in my box.'

The following is clipped from the little magazine 'Mother's Home Life and Household Guest.'

Our Lawless Language

We'll begin with a box and the plural is boxes,
But the plural of ox should never be oxes.
One fowl is a goose but the plural is geese,
Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese;
On the contrary, for mouse the plural is mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hice.
As the plural for man is always called men.
Why should not the plural of pan be pen?
Then one, may be that, and three may be those,
Yet hat in the plural should never be hose,
Now the masculine pronouns are he, his, and him,
But imagine the feminine, she, shis, and shim!
So English, I fancy, you all will agree,
Is the strangest language you ever did see.

SQUADRON LOG

BY THE STOWAWAY

For most of the week the terrible disaster of the Morro Castle has dwarfed all other news. Headlines in the papers are shrinking and other interests are appearing on the front pages.

An interesting sidelight in an event such as this was the presentation of the news in the metropolitan newspapers. No paper could print all the story. One which comes to Chestertown, developed a conservation, verified report, utterly devoid of spectacular trimmings.

Another newspaper devoted columns to 'be saids' and 'she said,' stories of vandalism, charges of inefficiency made to reporters by victims of the accident, and sob stories of heroism.

The worst feature of them all was a photograph of a weeping woman leaving a morgue after identifying the body of her husband.

Can it be possible that the public really wants to see such ghoulish pictures? The inhumanity of intruding upon a grief stricken widow, defenselessly exposed to the prying eyes of the public, and publishing the picture of her grief, is not far removed from the torture chamber of the Dark Ages.

The sporting pages of these same newspapers manage to keep up columns of print and pictures, relative to the International Yacht Races, and the American Cup defender, Rainbow.

One device for filling space was an interesting glossary of nautical terms said to be 'of much value to sportsmen in keeping in touch with the aquatic classic.'

Even hunting up the list did not do much for the nautical reporter, else why did he turn good every day American 'international race' into 'aquatic classic.'

Skipper John Dunn and his family from Frankford, Philadelphia, who used to play around the Chesapeake in a forty foot cruiser visited the Chester River last Sunday in one of the most beautiful yachts which has been here.

The Dunn's missed the Chester River Aquatic event (Regatta to us) while changing boats, having sold the smaller boat and bought the new.

Dr. Fridy, who has been a frequent visitor here, berths his boat near the Dunns' at Gratitude. So glowing has been the Doctor's praise of the Chester River, that the Dunns made the trip around from gratitude on their first cruise on their newly acquired yacht.

The Dunn craft is very roomy. Passage way between cabin sides and rails is wider than usually found, and allows easy access to the bow.

The engine room in the center of the boat is large and contains an honest to goodness work bench. Over the engine room is a large pilot house glassed in and screened.

Steps lead from the pilot house both fore and aft.

Aft are two cabins, and a large lavatory. The owner's cabin has built in beds, a generous bureau with seat and mirror, and two hanging lockers. Green moire bedspreads are not the crowning touch of luxury that is achieved by a full length mirror on the door.

The forward cabin is large, and has pullman births, and is also used as the mess hall. A gallery and lavatory complete the formed arrangement.

Still farther forward, in the bow is a cabin for the crew.

4-H BOYS AT TIMONIUM FAIR

Kent's 4-H Clubs were represented at the Maryland State Fair at Timonium last week by the Dulin sisters, Virginia and Doris; Whitney McCrea, Rock Hall; Robert Moffett, Chestertown; and Wilson Sutton Kennedyville.

Whitney McCrea exhibited two pure-bred Duroc Jersey pigs and a Holstein heifer. His pigs proved of outstanding quality and won two first places in the 4-H Club Classes; and a second and third in open competition. His Holstein yearling heifer captured second place in her class.

Virginia Dulin and her sister Doris exhibited two very fine Jersey heifers and one Jersey cow, which was shown as a calf four years ago.

The Kent Judging Team, composed of Virginia Dulin, Robert Moffett and Wilson Sutton, did very well scoring a total of 2863 points. Wilson was high man in the contest in Judging Jerseys. Virginia Dulin finished third in judging Ayrshires and Robert Moffett fourth in Ayrshires.

Local leaders, M. P. Edwards, of Rock Hall and Assistant County Agent Sutton were in chrage of the Kent group at Timonium. Daddy Jenks as usual was there and was chief of the camp. Former County Agent H. B. Derrick was in charge of the State Banquet, which was held on Tuesday night of Fair Week when the awards were announced.
