UNSUNG HEROES

In every community there are a group of individuals who are continuously working on various community projects through which the entire community benefits. Too often these community activities are accepted by the populac with out thought of how they were brought about and maintained. Most of them are maintained free to the public and widely used yet when the time comes to foot the bill the burden is too often shouldered by a comparatively few of those who enjoy the benefits. Among the things that must be maintained, yet are having a struggle for financial support are the Public Library, Kent County Ambulance, Fire Companies, Kent and Queen Anne's hospital, and the Public Health Association. Unless the public as a whole show a disposition to help financially with these public institutions they will either have to cease to function, or be put on a commercial basis where only the financially able will benefit by them. Back of all of these public activities are the unsung heroes who are giving of their time, energy and money in an effort to afford their services to all classes. Should they not be encouraged in their efforts?

—Messrs. Roger B. Harris and W. H. Fogwell have entered into a partnership and will conduct a blacksmith and general repair shop in Worton. The shop was formerly under the management of Joseih V. Duyer. The shop is being improved.

SQUADRON LOG

BY THE STOWAWAY

Mr. John Charles Thomas must have found the Chester River to his liking for he returned last week end and brought his father in law along. On another boat, however.

Jimmie Bowers, of Crumpton, sold the boat he has been building, to Paul Ningard, a manual training teacher of Baltimore. Mr. Ningard plans to finish the boat and put it in first class condition.

It has long been a legend of the sea that a woman a boat aboard means trouble. Black cats wandering across your path or a broken mirror are as nothing to the bad luck sure to befall the ship with a woman along. At this writing, Thursday afternoon, the old adage seems to be as much in force as ever. Mrs. T. O. M. Sopworth, wife of the owner and skipper of the Endeavor is aboard as timekeeper. It is the first time a woman has ever been an honest to goodness part of the crew of a yacht taking part in the International Races.

The Endeavor has just been defeated in a race that, less than an hour ago, seemed destined to sure victory.

The trophy for which the American Defender, Rainbow, and the British Challenger, Endeavor, are contending in a series of seven races, (and may the best boat win,) was won by an American in 1851, and has remained in America ever since.

This is the story. In 1851, Commodore J. C. Stevens of the New York Yacht Club sailed in a Yacht he called the America for England. The America was a wooden keel schooner yacht 100 feet 6 inches long over all, and 90 feet 4 inches on the waterline. She has a 22 foot 6 inch beam and drew about 11 feet.

The Commodore entered the America in an ocean race in which 18 yachts of other nations were to compete. A good deal of amusement was felt in Europe when it became known that a yacht from an upstart nation like these United States was entered.

The race, for which a cup valued at lb 105 (about $600 in our money at that time), was sailed on August 22, 1851. When it was all over, the America had the cup, having won over all 18 entries by a margin of 7 miles.

Like many of the trophies offered by the Chester River Yacht and Country Club, once winning the cup was all that was required.

Not satisfied to win one race, the Commodore hung around British waters for a few months, and every time he sailed a race, he won.

At last he returned to New York. A few years later in 1857 he gave the lb 105 cup to the New York Yacht Club as Trustee for the cup and challenged yachts of all nations to try to take it away. If it should be won, that country then would become the defender and American boats would have to go there to win it back.

Many times an International race has been held, and over the years the broadly Internationaly aspect has often been misunderstood. It degenerated into a struggle between Great Britian and the United States, and still later between Sir Thomas Lipton and America. The Shamrock I and all the later Shamrocks never won. True, Sir Thomas' boat won an individual race of a series three or four times, but that is all. The races became so onesided they were frequently referred to as the Lipton Cup Races.

Sir Thomas has gone, but this time the Endeavor, with the Skipper's wife aboard is here. For two first races straight the Endeavor won. Today, for more than half of the race, the Endeavor was leading by a big margin. The old man jinks popped up and the Rainbow shot ahead and crossed the finish line 3 minutes 50 seconds ahead of the Endeavor.

The America has been granted the honors of an historical ship. Today she lies at Annapolis, reconditioned and in good sailing order except for her sails.

Maybe there is some truth to the things the old salts tell us.

This time next week will tell. Is a woman on a yacht good luck, or bad luck?

—Mr. Robert W. Hygon, of Rock Hall, has resigned his position with the Prudential Life Insurance Co. and it is understood has accepted a position with the Baltimore Life Insurance Co.

—The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Co. band attended the Firemen's Convention in Harrington on Thursday of this week. It is not known yet by them whether they won any prizes or not as they left before the winners were announced.

UNDULANT FEVER MORE PREVALENT IN STATE

Undulant fever is becoming more prevalent in Delaware or more cases are being recognized and reported, Dr. C. A. Sargent, Dover, in charge of the communicable disease division of the State Board of Health, writes in the current issue of the Delaware State Medical Journal.

This fever has not been common in this area, but Dr. Sargent reports that there have been seven cases reported in Delaware up to July 1, while there were only two cases reported in 1931, two in 1932 and six in 1933.

"In view of the fact that undulant fever appears to be more prevalent," Dr. Sargent reports, "the State Board of Health is undertaking a thorough investigation of the situation and milk from all dairies, the products of which are consumed in this State, has been analyzed and approximately forty per cent have shown positive agglutination for crucella abortus (the undulant fever germ).

Of the seven cases reported to July 1, this year, Dr. Sargent reports, five were from Kent county, located in Dover and the area north to the New Castle County line. Two cases were reported in Sussex County.

"One significant feature," Dr. Sargent states, "is that no cases have been reported among individuals using pasteurized milk. The most frequent source of infection with brucella organisms is from milk and dairy products of cattle or goats.

"A positive blood test of an animal," Dr. Sargent writes, "indicate infection but does not necessariiy signify that the brucella organisms are being driven off in the milk. To determine whether an animal is producing infected milk, it is necessary to do agglutination tests on milk."

Dr. Sargent reveals that surveys in various areas of the nation indicated from 25 to 30 per cent of dairy herds are infected.

There are three types of the undulant fever all characterized by an incubation period of from six to fourteen days, onset with chills, malaise, headache, loss of appetite and frequently acute sciatic pains.

"The most characteristic feature" Dr. Sargent writes, "is the step-like rise in temperature, reaching 104 or 105 degrees by the fourth or fifth day and continuing for twelve and fifteen days without much variation. In two or three weeks there is a relapse with a repetition of the fever. This condition may continue for three or four months, and in some quently terminates fatally in a short cases as long as two years.

"The malignant variety may stimulate typhoid fever and it fretime.

"The intermittent variety is characterized by intermittent fever over a period of several weeks or months.

"The ambulatory type of the disease is one in which the symptoms are almost entirely absent and the patient may be acting as a carrier."
