HERE IS GOOD NEWS FOR YOU

Don't wait, this is the time to get Locust Posts.

There are really two good reasons why you should not postpone, first of all many many Locust Post's are sure to be sold out, many of them are one time buys that positively can not be replaced, second reason is that if you say to your self, 'well I'll wait until later,' the first thing you know you'll be sorry and angry with your self for having missed the hundreds of Locust Posts. Decide right now and be on hand when the Posts are here.

REHEARSALS FOR AMBULANCE SHOW START MONDAY

UNDER DIRECTION OF WHEELER PRODUCING COMPANY

MIXED PICKLES TO BE STAGED OCTOBER 10TH, 11TH AND 12TH

Rehearsals are to commence on next Monday evening, October 1st, for 'Mixed Pickles,' Chestertown's big laugh show, which is to be presented on October 10, 11 and 12, in the old Lyceum Theatre, as a benefit for the Kent County Ambulance Fund, under the auspices of the Board of Control.

At a special meeting of the Board, held on last Friday night, in the fire house, presided over by Mr. C. C. Jones, Chairman, representatives from many of the organizations in town were present, and assured the Board of the support of their organizations in this movement to raise some much needed funds.

Mr. Wheeler, of the Wheeler Producing Company, well known in Chestertown, where they have staged many successes in past years, and who with Mrs. Wheeler are to personally handle the prduction, was present, explained the show in detail, selected committees, and arranged for the starting of rehearsals next week. The committees are to hold another meeting this week at which time final arrangements will be completed.

'Mixed Pickles' the show to be presented, is one of the late Musical comedy offerings, bubbling over with bright and witty dialogue, pretty and attractive singing and dancing choruses, solo numbers and duets, the music of the latest popular variety, and the costuming and scenic effects are to be a feature. The added attraction by the children, a beautifully costumed pageant, is sure to be one of the highlights of the performance.

The ready response of the various organizations of the community in assuring the Board of Control of their support, demonstrates the fact that our people fully realize the importance of putting our ambulance back into condition to serve the community with the excellent service which it has given us tion of the county and county-wide sup- in the past. It has served every secport of this effort to raise sufficient funds is expected all over the county.

HOSPITAL OPENING POSTPONED

OPERATIONS NEXT WEEK CONFLICT WITH FORMAL OPENING

26 ORGANIZATIONS REPRESENTED AT MEETING THURSDAY EVENING

Twenty six organizations in Kent County were represented at a meeting at the Kent and Upper Queen Anne's County Hospital Thursday evening.

This meeting was called by the Hospital Board for the purpose of acquainting the people of the County with the hospital building, the need of a hospital in this community and the opportunity afforded by the new hospital.

At the meeting it was decided to postpone the formal opening of the hospital, scheduled for next Wednesday, due to the fact that the medical staff have arranged a number of tonsil operations on that day, and also delay in receiving equipment.

The work at the hospital for the first few weeks will be confined to tonsil and adenoid operations by local and visiting physicians which later will branch out to include general hospital work in this community. It was pointed out that there are 25,000 people within a 16 mile radius of the local hospital and that the Easton hospital is welcoming the establishing of a hospital in Chestertown due to the crowded condition there.

The temporary medical and surgical staff of the local hospital is composed of Doctors Frank B. Hines, Merritt Brice and Frank W. Smith. The temporary nursing staff will be Mrs. Don T. Falls and Mrs. Franklin Smith who are both graduate and experienced nurses.

The cooperation of the public is needed in order to open and properly equip the building and by the representation at the meeting Thursday evening it is apparent that the entire county is interested.

Among the organizations represented at the meeting were: Health Association, Ladies Auxiliary of Chestertown Fire Company, Chestertown High School, Washington College, Men's Club P. E. Church, St. Paul's Church, Chestertown Fire Company, American Legion, Rotary Club, Kent County Red Cross, Betterton Chamber of Commerce, Kent County Savings Bank, Kent County Board of Welfare, Kent County Chamber of Commerce, Home Economics Department of the Extension Service, Fairlee Woman's Club, Rock Hall Woman's Club, Flatland Community Club, Ladies Auxiliary of Rock Hall Fire Company, Order Eastern Star, Kent County W. C. T. U. A number of interested individuals, representing no organization, were also present.

WILL RE-DREDGE KENT ISLAND NARROWS

WORK ON 8 FT. CHANNEL WILL START SOON

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough has just been informed by the Chief of Engineers, War Department, Washington, D. C., that the Secretary of War has approved the allotment of $11,500 to restore the Kent Island Narrows Channel to 8 feet in depth. Bids for the dre dging have been received, and a contract will be entered into for the dredging without delay, Mr. Goldsborough was informed. The channel through Kent Island Narrows had filled up until it was impossible for boats to get through, and, at the request of Congressman Goldborough, a survey party was sent to the Narrows on June 25 to conduct the necessary investigation. Dredging of the channel to restore the depth to 8 feet was recommended to the Chief of Engineers.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES FOR ADULTS

FEDERAL EMERGENCY EDUCATIONAL CLASSES ANNOUNCED

On Monday, September 24th, 1934, Mr. J. D. Blackwell, State Director of Vocational Education and Emergency Educational Program in Maryland conferred with County Superintendent of Schools, Louis C. Robinson regarding the organization of an Adult Education Program in Kent Cunty to begin early in October. Mr. Blackwell announced that enough money had been apportioned to Maryland by the Federal Government to provide for a State-wide program until February 15, 1933, and that there was a strong probability that additional funds would be made available to continue the classes until June 1st, 1935.

Mrs. Reba Vansant Wharton who was employed last winter and sprfng as teacher on special assignment to organize evening classes for adults and supervise instruction was present at the conference and was re-employed in the same position to reorganize adult classes and carry on the work throughout the fall and winter.

Mrs. Wharton is very much in need of and earnestly desires the help of the principal teachers in the schools and presidents of parent-teacher associations in making down to the people in their respective communities the educational opportunities afforded in the adult classes and in urging people in need of the instruction to take advantage of it. It is hoped that these people will not wait for a call from Mrs. Wharton, but will begin at once to assist her in the organization of classes.

In any community where the or more people sixteen years of age or older, not attending day school, desire instruction in any one of the following types of work and are interested in attending class for two hours each of two or three evenings each week a class may be organized: Adult General Education, Homemaking, Literacy, Commercial (Only those who have taken a commercial course at some school will be admitted to the commercial classes.) Where twenty or more people sixteen years of age or older are interested in Music, or Physical Education and wish to attend class one or two evenings each week for one hour, a class may be organized in either of those studies.

Anyone who wishes instruction in any of the fields mentioned above can help himself by interesting enough other people in his community in the same field of instruction to make possible the organization of a class and then reporting the results of his efforts to Mrs. Reba V. Wharton, Office of the Board of Education of Kent County, Chestertown, Maryland.

To be employed to teach any of the evening classes, one must have had at least two years of normal school or college training after graduation from high school, or equivalent training. Those interested in these teaching positions in Kent County should get in touch at once with Louis C. Robinson, County Superintendent of Schools, Chestertown, Maryland.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

CROP REDUCTION NOT NEW IN MARYLAND

Attempts at crop reduction and trouble with surplus production is not new to Maryland farmers, Dr. Thomas B. Symons, Director of the Extension Service, said in a recent address before members of the Prince George's County Pomona Grange. He pointed to the fact that, according to history, as long ago as 1666 an act was passed by the assemblies of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina, and approved by the governors of the three colonies, which provided for cessation of tobacco planting for one year.

Upon hearing of the action of various governors and that of their respective asemblies, Dr. Symons stated, the Proprietary of the Maryand Province, Cecil Calvert, refused his sanction. In the act passed at that time it was set forth that 'Tobacco is the only commodity by which, this Province doth at present subsist, which, by the unlimited freedom of all persons to plant of the quantity and at the time they please, hath glutted all markets for divers years last past.'

Following the opposition of Lord Baltimore to the proposition of declaring a year's cessation of tobacco planting, Dr. Symons told the Grangers, a substitute proposition was brought forward, to which he also dissented sharply. This proposition advocated that a date be set in the summer after which it would be unlawful to plant any more tobacco. The following year after this proposal, he said, this section was visited by the worst hurricane that had been experienced, which is reported to have destroyed three-fourths of the tobacco crop and must have the effect of a considerable 'cessation' of planting.

The question of declaring a year's cessation of tobacco planting came up a number of times subsequently, notably in 1681 and 1682, but no record is found of any attempt to carry out measures along that line, Dr. Symons said.

Marketing Dairy Products Planned

That a plan for marketing all farm commodities might be developed along the same general lines as the plan that has been followed successfully in marketing dairy products, is the opinion of Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the Extension Service. This provides for payment of a so-called basic price for a specified quota of the production and sale of any surplus above that quota at such price as the market will pay. He believes it is entirely feasible for a method to be developed whereby indivifiual farmers may be assured, in advance of planting, a parity price for the production on a specified acreage of the several commodities.

A New Bulletin Now Available

A new bulletin on 'Potato Seed Maintenance' and 'Spray Early and Late Potatoes' is now avalable from the University of Maryland Experiment Station at College Park. The bulletin is in two parts, the first section on 'Seed Maintenance' having been compiled by Dr. R. A. Jehle and J. W. Heuberger, the second half on 'Sprays,' by Dr. Jehle, Dr. E. N. Cory and R. T. Grant.

Forage Crops Seed Supply Much Smaller This Year

Seed crops of mo stof the grasses and legumes used for hay will be much smaller this year. Preliminary estimates made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture from reports by growers and country shoppers of these seeds give a pessimistic outlook regarding the 1934 production. Much of the seed already has been harvested and is past help by rains.

The timothy seed crop may be the smallest on record. Production is estimated to be only about one fifth of the small crop of last year. It is estimated that only about one third as many acres have been harvested as in 1933, with the yields slightly less than one half of last year. Timothy seed carry over is unusually small because of the short crops of 1932 and 1933.

The crop of Kentucky blue grass seed is about one fourth that of last year, due chiefly to the drought, with freezes, a cold spring and insects as contributing factors.

ORPHANS' COURT UNABLE TO MEET

JUDGES SCOTT AND THOMPSON SICK

Due to the illness of Judges Scott and Thompson, the Orphans' Court of Kent County was unable to hold its regular weekly session on Tuesday of this week.

Judge Scott underwent an operation at John's Hopkins hospital this week and Judge Thompson continues ill at his home. Judge Rasin was present but at least two members of the Court must be present.

This is the first time for a long period of years that this court has been unable to meet.

COLLEGE ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

Dr. T. Gordon Bennett, of Baltimore, will address the faculty and students at the regular college assembly at eleven o'clock, Thursday morning, October 4th. Dr. Bennett, former Superintendent of Schools for Queen Anne's County, is educational advisor in connection with the education program carried on in Civilian Conservation Corps camps of the Third Area, with head-quarters at Baltimore. Dr. Bennett will probably speak on some of the aspects of the educational program under his direction. The public is invited.

This change affects other stations on this branch proportionally.

OUR BROADCAST

LOOKING OVER THE EASTERN SHORE PAPERS

Easton—The Old Fashioned Tournament held at Cordova last Saturday afternoon drew a large attendance. The new post office building at Easton will await the action of Congress. The delegation from Easton refused the proposed $43,500 structure in the hope that congress might appropriate more money for a larger structure. Bill Shannahan became golf champion of the Talbot Club for the third successive year.

Centreville—Whether Hiram G. Dudley, propretor of Ye Old Tavern near Wye Mills, will plank down $100 plus costs for operating a dancing saloon on the Sabbath is a matter that rests with the Attorney General of Maryland.

It all hinges on a correct definition of the words 'dancing saloon.' Police Magistrate S. Charles Walls, before whom the case was heard Saturday night, apparently felt that Dudley was guilty of violating the intent and purpose of the law, and on that assumption announced his verdict of $100 and the trimmings.

However, he instructed that State's Attorney William R. Horney communicate with the Attorney General's office and see if the words 'dancing saloon' fit the kind of establishment that Dudley runs.

So it all boils down to what is or what's not a dancing saloon.

If the words 'dancing saloon' do not fit, then Dudley is not guilty, according to Magistrate Walls' decision.

Centreville held a flower show in the high school building last Friday and Saturday. Early seasn oyster market reported good. S. Charles Walls, has resigned his job as Police Justice to take effect September 30. Queen Anne County Poultry Show will take place in November. Mr. John Moffett is president of the Association.

DELEGATE TO METHODIST ASSEMBLY

Mr. Thomas D. Bowers, of Chestertown, and Mr. Fred P. Adkins, of Salisbury, will represent the Maryland Conference of the M. P. Church as lay delegates to the Sesqui Centennial of Methodism in the United States. Dr. Litsinger is among the Ministerial Delegates.

The Sesqui-Centennial will be held in Baltimore October 10th to 14th.

GARBAGE CONTRACT LET

The contract for the collection of garbage in Chestertown was awarded to Mr. Julian Solloway under the contract price of $1,000.

Mr. Solloway will assume his new duties on Monday, October 1st, at which time the contract of Mr. Oliver D. Crew who has been collecting garbage expires. Mr. Crew's contract for the past year was $940.
