TERCENTENARY PAGEANT NEXT WEEK

KENT TO BE REPRESENTED

Maryland's Tercentenary year will be climaxed with fanfare and pageantry on October 5th and 6th.

The Maryland Tercentenary Commission of Baltimore will present an historical pageant in the Baltimore Stadium on the nights of October 5 and 6 in which over 3,000 persons will participate. The entire State will be represented in the prelude to the pageant, when a 'Duchess' and her attendants from each county in Maryland will be presented to 'Lady Baltimore.'

'The Soul of Maryland' is the title of the pageant, a work just completed by Doctor Matthew Page Andrews, Chairman of the Baltimore Commission. It will be directed by Percy J. Burrell, of Boston, who has staged more than thirty successful pageants. The city will contribute $5,000 to help meet the expenses of the affair, and various individuals and firms will underwrite it. There will be a small charge for admission, and it is expected that the affair will be self-sustaining, and underwriting subscriptions refunded.

Only the founding of the colony and the events leading up to it will form the subject of the Pageant, a unique feature of historical works of this kind. Invariably, great stretches of history have been included in such writings. A heightened effect will be produced, it is believed, by concentration upon the single main event, the planting of the settlement in Maryland.

The evening's program will begin with a procession of the presidents of the patriotic societies taking their seats in the boxes reserved by their organizations. The Duchesses of the counties then will be received by Lady Baltimore, who will be enthroned upon a dais. Each Duchess will be escorted by two maids of honor and two pages, a boy and a girl, and by a standard bearer, carrying the flag of the county which she represents. As Lady Baltimore's court forms around her, there will be a burst of music, and the lights will 'black out.' This will form the prelude to the pageant.

The Duchesses have been selected by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen is President. Contests will take place in each county under the charge of the branch of the federation in that section and in cooperation with the State federation. Only women of great beauty were selected as Duchesses or maids of honor. They will bear the name of their counties, such as the Duchess of Somerset, the Duchess of Kent or the Duchess of Dorchester, etc. They will appear in the order in which their counties were founded, St. Mary's, which was formed in 1634, coming first, and Garrett, which was made a county in 1872, drawing up the end of the procession. Kent was among the earliest. Each group will wear the costumes of the period in which their county was formed.

This pageant has been on the program of the State Tercentenary Commission since it first began its plans and was postponed in order not to conflict wth ohtre tercentenary events.
