Kent County will see its first Tournament since the good old days, on Saturday afternoon, at the Julian Jones farm near Chestertown. Many years ago these tournaments were quite popular as throngs would gather to see the horsemen ride down the line and spear the rings.

Forty or more entries have been received, coming from Talbot, Queen Anne, Kent and Cecil. By Saturday afternoon many mre entries are expected.

Judging from the large attendance at the horse show it is surmised that the afternoon many mre entries are extendance.

Speaking of a good attendance, most all local sporting events draw a large crowd. The Horse Show and Regatta draw a larger attendance every year.

However the Washington College basket ball games are not drawing the crowd that they did. There is much speculation as to the cause of the fall off in attendance. The home team does not always win like it did a few years ago, but still they are having close exciting games and are real treats to those who like basketball. Another reason put forward is that the local Gymnasium does not afford many good seats. From many of the seats the whole court cannot be seen, and many of those that afford a good view are very crowded and uncomfortable.

It is understood that the College Officials have thought something of trying to rent the Armory for their big games, where a good view of the court can be had from all seats and more comfortable seats can be provided.

On page three of this issue is a picture and an account of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. George Morris, which will be moved from Massachusetts to Washington. Mrs. Morris was formerly Miss Miriam Hubbard, of Chestertown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard. The pictures were obtained through the courtesy of Mr. Bordley Sappington of the Washington Star. Mr. Sappington was a former resident of Chestertown and learned the printing trade at the Transcript office and was probably the best printer ever to leave Chestertown. He now holds a responible position with the Washington Star.

By the way, yours truly, has heard ever since he was a little boy that Bordley Sappington was the only man to ever work at the Transcript office that could come close to setting type as fast at the present foreman, Mr. John W. Barnes.

The Cross Street Association have started making plans for their annual Hallowe'en Street Party. Original plans called for an Ox roast. After investigation it was decided this would cause to much trouble and preparation. A weenie roast will be substituted.

To the public; if you have any nice fat dogs to donate, the Cross Street Association would like to have them one week prior to the celebration. Who suggested this?

The cat and kitten got a home and were very much flattered as they had about twenty homes offered. The kitten is doing fine but the mother cat not liking the new home has, 'Went away, and she didn't say 'why' or she didn't say 'when.'

The International Boat Race is over with American, Rainbow defeating the English, Endeavor. As to nationality there is something to be remembered The American boats crew were Scandinavians and the Endeavor also had a Scandinavian crew but they went on a strike just before the boat left England. English gentlemen were substituted. That is thought to have had a lot to do with the results. According to the American Legion Weekly the race cost the English over a million dollars.

Poems by the Wayside

BY REV. J. THOMAS PRICE
Chesapeake City, Md.

The Kind of Women Men Like

We were asked the other morning,
If we would kindly write,
And tell to all, the kind of girls
The average man would like;
And while I try to do the task,
And write from morn till late,
This poem, I know, the average girl
Will not appreciate.

The girl who fain would bob her hair,
And dress much like a man,
And smoke her cigarettes and drink
Most all the beer she can;
By acting smart and talking square,
Might strive a pal to be,
But girls, the average man looks on,
And says, "deliver me."

Men do not want a painted doll,
With lips all firey red,
With finger nails all painted bright,
Like Oriental dead;
Who play their part like men, with men,
With all their manly roles,
And laugh at violets and make
Mere nudists of their souls.

The twentieth century man is much
Like men of long ago;
The woman who is womanly
They'er always glad to know;
They would not change her natural charms,
Her sweet and girlish ways,
For all the gilt and tinsel—
Of these our Modern Days.

The men I know, are always thrilled,
To meet the Maiden fair,
Whose fresh-air sort of sunshine
Is an antidote for care;
And who exudes an atmosphere,
Throughout the live-long day,
Like the clean, sweet, gentle breath,
Of a field of new-morn hay.

So, girls, if you would know the kind
Of women men would like,
To take their name and grace their home,
And be their chief delight;
It's those who in the moonlight, find
That romance as of old,
And cultivate those girlish charms,
That's worth far more than gold.

NOTE:—My attention was called, lately, to the fact that the men were not marrying, there possibly being a larger percentage of batchelors today than ever in our history. I was asked if I would give what I thought was the cause why men were not marrying the girls of today. So here's my guess. J. T. P.
