As I continue up Maple Ave., I see the houses which used to belong to the colored people supplanted by restaurants, boarding houses and garages. And now as I turn up Cross St. such a change is there. One the left side was the old church yard where many of the citizens of the town were buried while in front of it was a small white building, the county jail. This grave yard had fallen into decay even then, and the stones were falling away. There lay the bodies of the Chambers family, the Constables, Ringgolds and many other notable citizens. How we young ones would pass it with bated breath! Afterward it was bought by the county, the bodies removed, to the New Cemetery and the old jail torn down and a new brick one placed on the ground. Now there are residences for white and colored built there, too. Of course there were many bodies, left in the old grave yard, those whose friends had died and they had grown out of remembrance, unmarked graves, whose occupants are turning to dust, beneath the homes built there. As I pass these lines of Bryant, in 'Thanatopsis' come to my mind:

'Earth, that nourished thee shall claim
Thy growth to be resolved to earth again.
And lost each human trace surrendering up
Thine individual being shalt thou go,
To mix forever with the elements.'

Perhaps the colored people, a superstitious race, have no memory of the old grave yard.

Across the street was Armstrongs Hotel, now occupied by the Eliason Motors and at the corner is what was then The Rockwell house. Now it is given up to the Insurance offices of Mr. James Beck and Mr. Joseph Wheatley Across the street there is the old ivy grown church. As I remember it was much higher and more colonial. There were two rows of windows and a gallery. Now it is much lower and a parish building has been added. I see on the front of the church, a tablet erected, telling of the convention which was held there in 1780, the convention that changed the name of that denomination from the English Church to Protestant Episcopal, a name that many of the later members of the church, feel is hardly appropriate. An old tablet in the church with it long 'ss' and quaint wording show to one Sarah Hlands, how long ago the church was standing.

There are still some women who do not care to be in the lime light. One of these is Mrs. Upton Sinclair, the wife of the nominated Democratic government of Calif. She says: I don't think that because a man is nominated or elected to office, his family should step into the limelight.

In the summer of 1933 rich, studious Thomas Sovereign Gates, who gave up a Morgan partnership to become president of the University of Pennsylvania, sent his husky post-debutante daughter to a dude ranch n Wyoming. The rancher said he had orders to see that she got everything she wanted except money. After one year on the ranch, Virginia Ewing Gates left a cowhand holding her horse, hiked off. Announced her father, positively: 'She is motoring home.' Last week, clad in white slacks and a man's shirt, Daughter Virginia hitch-hiked into Boise, Idaho, with one Dan McCafferty, onetime wrestler, mechanic and taxi driver. Her story:

'It was nice at the ranch but I got tired of it, so I justleft. . .Then I met Danny. We were both without money at the time and we were both hitchhiking. Here in Boise we decided to get married.

'I'm the happiest girl in the world.'

Father Gates: 'Regardless of their wishes to be self-supporting I shall send them a monthly allowance.'

Son-in-law McCaferty: 'Well, we are not broke any more.'

FASHIONS
WOOL FROCKS

Paris showed many bright-colored wool frocks—sheer supple wools—with shoulder capes of black, flat fur, as well as fur-trimmed capes and fur-trimmed packets. Since the wool dress represents one of the first fall requirements, stores are now showing interesting styles in such lovely shades as rust-red, chin-chin green and Chinese orange, which ensemble beautifully with short little capes in dark furs, like caracul, kid or lapin.

The Russian influence which appears time and time again in coat, dress and accessory fahion is probably strongest of all in variations of the Russian tunic. This is particularly appropriate in the two-piece dress planned to wear under your fall coat. Such dresses have dark skirts that match prevailing coat colors, and three-quarter length silk tunics in bright colors, often trimmed with metal or wood buttons, depending upon the formality of the costume.

SUGGESTIONS
A BAKING SUGGESTION

When unmolding baked foods such as timbales, souffles, cakes, muffins or drop cakes, remove from the oven and let stand three minutes, then loosen with a spatula and the food will quickly slip out.

REMOVING DATE SEEDS

To remove seeds from dates, wash well in warm water and using sharp knife make cuts in sides and remove seeds. Always wash dates before using them.

TOASTED ALMONDS

Toasted almonds are delicious served in gelatin or whipped cream mixtures. To toast, sprinkle a thin layer of blanched nuts in shallow pan and heat slowly in oven until nuts are light brown in color.

CANNING HINT

When canning fruits or vegetables, select those firm and of uniform size, When using fruits for jellies select those a little underripe.

FOR FRUIT CUPS

Dip fresh mint in boiling sugar and water syrup, shake and let dry. This will make a pleasing accompainment for fruit cups or fruit salads.

USING LARD INSTEAD OF BUTTER

Can you make a cake with lard? 'Yes, most successfully,' says Ines S. Willson, home economist, 'but the secret's in the mixing.'

Since there is absolutely no taste of lard in the finished cake, homemakers are taking advantage of the low cost of lard as compared with other fats for shortening and are using it for cakes. Excellent results have been obtained by the method of combining ingredients worked out in the laboratories of the Institute of American Meat Packers. Here's the way:

Method of Mixing Lard Cakes

1. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. (Since lard contains no salt, the flavor of the cake is improved by the addition of salt, in the proportion of 1-4 teaspoon for each cup of flour.)

2. Cream well 3-4 of the sugar with the lard, and 2 tablespoons of the liquid.

3. Separate egg whites and yolks. Add yolks to milk.

4. Add flour mixture and milk alternately to the creamed fat and sugar. (Flour should be added first to prevent separation of creamed mixture.)

5. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add sugar to beaten egg whites and beat only until sugar disappears.

6. Fold egg whites into cake mixture.

7. Flavor and bake either in layer or loaf at 350 degrees F.

Any good cake recipe may be used, the only change necessary being the addition of alt. The same amount of lard as other fat is used.

A favorite recipe using lard is the one suggested below:

Plain White Cake

1-3 cup lard
2 cups flour.
2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
3-4 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 teaspoon almond flavoring.

Combine as described above. This makes a small two-layer cake.

CHESTERTOWN DOWNS DOVER

Chestertown won a 9 to 6 victory over Dover on the local diamond last Sunday. At the end of the second inning Chestertown had built up a 6 to 0 lead to which they added 1 more in the seventh and 2 in the eighth.

Dover made a vain effort to overcome this lead by scoring four runs in the last three innings to add to their 2 in the 3rd from the 13 hits off Porter. Chestertown scored their 9 runs with 10 hits.

Dover will meet Chestertown at the Hopewell diamond Sunday afternoon.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 23 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1924, C.M.Co.
