SECOND—The outstanding ability and record made by the remainder of the State ticket, George L. Radcliffe, candidate for United States Senate; William H. Gordy, candidate for Comptroler, Herbert O'Connor, candidate for Attorney General and James A. Young, candidate for Clerk to the Court of Appeals are sufficient to assure election.

THIRD—The County Democratic candidates are men who have proven their ability to efficiently serve in the offices for which they seek.

Mr. Arthur Brice candidate for State Senator has served two terms in the Maryland Legislature during which time he has gained a thorough knowledge of Legislative procedure which better fits him to serve his County. He introduced the bill in the lower house at the last regular session which gave the State control and maintenance of county roads and this, together with his influence at Annapolis was a large factor in bringing about the low tax rate that this county enjoys. His life in this community has been correct and progressive and is unquestioned. He has been a life long Democrat and has always worked for the party which entitles him to the unanimous support of his party. He is a graduate of Washington College and his entire life has been engaged in farming.

Roy Strong, of Rock Hall, candidate for the Maryland Legislature is the choice of his party for that office. He is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the watermen and farmers and can ably represent that group in State Legislative matters. He has a large number of friends and is of a disposition that does not make enemies. His election is practically assured.

Wilbur Ross Hubbard, of Chestertown is one of the younger men on the ticket. He is a lawyer and is a graduate of Yale University and George Washington University. He is interested in farming and dairying and his broad educational advantages has fitted him to take the important part that he has in the promotion of these two major Kent County industries. He, with Mr. Roy Strong, will make a strong combination at Annapolis.

Samuel C. Loller, G. Ellsworth Leary and Andrew W. Wilson, candidates for County Commissioners. Mr. Loller is a farmer of near Worton, has served the past four years as a County Commissioner and was a party to the economy program which figured strongly in the present low tax rate. He is a man whose reputation is unquestioned and his life in his community is one that justifies the trust of the Democratic party. Mr. G. Ellsworth Leary, of Rock Hall, is one of Kent's outstanding business men. He now holds the offices of public trust of Mayor of Rock Hall, President of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce and President of the Maryland Watermen's Protective Association. He has given much of his time in the furtherance of these organizations which is a sacrificial service to this community. His business experience thoroughly acquants him with the needs of the watermen and farmers. Mr. Andrew W. Wilson, of Georgetown, is a farmer and waterman. He has taken an active interest in the betterment of these two men major Kent County industries. He is a man of decision and his life has been one that particularly fits him to manage the affairs of the county.

Robert A. Shallcross, candidate to succeed himself as Clerk of the Court. He has shown himself to be the choice of the Democratic Party as candidate for that office which speaks for his efficient management, and deserves the unanimous support of the party. He has made many friends and his office at the Court House is an example of efficient management.

T. Ringgold Jones, Candidate for Register of Wills is an ardent Democrat and for many years has worked untiringly for his party's nominees. He was honored several years ago by being selected as President of the Board of County Commissioners, which office he managed efficiently. His record as a party worker assures continued service to who ever may be the Democratic nominee in the future. He is a farmer, a correct and upright citizen of the Fifth District and unquestionable deserves the unanimous support of the Democrats of the county.

Walter T. Morris, Jr., candidate for Treasurer is another of the younger men on the ticket. He is a graduate of Washington College, a farmer and a man whose reputation is unquestioned. He has taken a head in 4-H Club work in the county as well as other farm organizations. His family have always been ardent Democrats and outstanding citizens of the county and he deserves the support of all Democrats in the trusted office which he seeks.

J. Thomas Hadaway, candidate for Sheriff is experienced in the office which he seeks. During his former service in that office his record and ability to efficiently handle all phases of it leaves no question of his fitness. His ife in the community as a citizen and business man is unquestioned. He has attended to and managed his business in a correct and upright manner which is very important in the office of Sheriff. He has been selected as the nominee by a majority of the Democratic voters and should have the support of the entire party next Tuesday.

Edward A. Scott, Harry M. Stavely and George R. Rasin, candidates for Judges of the Orphans' Court. Dr. Scott has served for many years as Chief Judge of this Court during which time he has gained a thorough knowledge of this important office. It is practically necessary that he be returned to that office for the interests of the citizens of the county. During past years his interest in his work and years of knowledge has made the Orphans' Court of Kent County outstanding in the State. George R. Rasin and Harry M. Stavely are now Judges of that Court having been appointed to that office to fill vacancies caused by the deaths of Judges Groves and Thompson. These two men are prominent citizens of the county and worthy of that trust of that office. They are an outstanding reputable court that Kent County can be proud of.

Stephen R. Collins, candidate for States Attorney, W. Mason Shehan, candidate for Chief Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit and Judge J. Owen Knotts candidate for Associate Judge, are candidates without opposition and their election is assured. Their reputation speaks for itself.

HE DOESN'T TALK BUNK

The following editorial appeared in the Evening Sun under date of October 30th.

'Governor Ritchie is not the ideal candidate for the job to which he seeks reelection. He has done many things to which reasonable people may well object. He has built up a political machine. In the course of building up that machine he has made appointments and perfected alliances which are unpleasant to sensitive citizens.

This paper is fully aware of the extent to which Mr. Ritchie falls short of perfection. It is conscious of his occasional vacillations and his occasional errors. It has felt called upon to point out those errors and the person who goes back through our files will find many instances of sharp disagreement with the Governor and his policies. Even during the present campaign such instances will be found.

Take all these things into account, add to them your personal prejudices against the man, if you have any, and the inescapable fact remains that Albert Cabell Ritchie is the best Governor this State has had since the Civil War. He is, with one or two possible exceptions, the best Governor any State has had in the same period.

The reason he is such a good Governor is not to be found in any theatrical quality. He is not redolent of the sidewalks, like Al Smith. He is not a superb clown, like Alfafa Bill Murray. He is no spell-binder, like Huey Long.

His competence is a quiet competence. He has not sought a cheap and fraudulent popularity by publicly beating his breast and bawling about his virtues and powers. He has not made any cross of gold and crown of thorns speech. He has not led any holy wars against Catholics, Jews and Negroes. He has not called out the troops to close oil wells or shoot down workingmen. He has not announced that he is going to end poverty in Maryland. He is not exciting.

But the business we have to do on Tuesday next is serious business. We are selecting a man not to entertain us, but to administer the affairs of the State in a difficult time. The next four years will plainly be a period of transition. The relations between the Federal Government and the State are undergoing a vast and perhaps permanent charge. A great deal of experimentation probably will be unavoidable. There will be many temptations for the demagogue; there will be equal temptations for the shifty fellow, the man who thinks you can accomplish things by talking glibly about them.

During this period, which may either spell ruin or salvation for all of us, we shall need not theatrical posturing, or bland oratory, but practical, hard-headed common sense. And above everything else, we shall need the sort of Governor who does not go off half-cocked, who does not make dubious promises, who tells us not what we want to hear, but the unvarnished truth.

Ritchie is such a man. Even in the height of a political campaign he does not allow his needs as a candidate to interfere with his duty as Governor. He does not talk bunk.

Witness the charge that his Commissioner of Motor Vehicles had raised salaries without warrant. There were a hundred ways in which Ritchie, competent politician that he is, could have ignored that charge, or fixed it, or silenced it. Instead, he investigated the accusations, found them true and published his findings. He was Governor before he was candidate.

If you go through his record, you will find dozens of instances of just such courage, or competence, or frankness; call it what you will. He refused to fall for the clamor for two-dollar automobile tags because he knew that it would be bad business for the State to do business on that basis at the present time. He refused to truckle to the lynchers on the Eastern Shore, although he knew, as any politician would know, that to force the issue as he did would cost him votes.

This man, for his lack of spectacular quality, has something which is valuable to all the people of the State. It is the thing which makes him stand out above most of the politicians that we can think of.

A vote for Ritchie is a vote for a man who is honest not only in the sense that he will not steal your money, but also in the much rarer sense that he will not steal your vote by promising something that he knows he cannot perform.

This is a virtue and a very solid virtue. In our opinion it outweghs whatever errors of judgement may be charged against the Governor.

As a cold matter of fact, the election of next Tuesday is not so much a test of Governor Ritchie as of the people of the State. We all know him, his virtues and his failings. But will the people have the wit to see that the courage, candor and intellectual integrity of this man are a great asset right now and wil be a greater asset during the four years to come? To what extent are we serious in our demands for a Governor who attends strictly to his business a Governor, tells the truth and eschews hokum?

Marylanders who take their government seriously will vote for Ritchie next Tuesday.'

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934, C.M.Co.
