With the approach of the 1934 fall hunting season, sportsmen are requested by the State Department of Forestry to exercise extreme care with fire in the forests. Recent dry periods and high winds have put the forests in an inflammable condition and a little care by those using the woods for hunting and recreational purposes will go a long way in preventing forest fires and preserving game for the future.

NOW AND THEN

While gazing rather sadly at the golden leaves as they let go their hold of the tree and dropped down, carpeting the earth with gold. I thought that summer has surely gone. But they have not yet finished their usefulness. They have fallen to the earth to enrich it so that it may again bring forth the green leaves of Spring.

Leaf after leaf drops off, flower after flower,
Some in the chill, some in the warmer hour;
Alive they flourish, and alive they fall,
And Earth who nourished them, receives them all.
Should we, her wiser sons, be less content
To sink into her lap when life is spent?
—Walter Savage Landor.

A GOOD WOMAN'S IDEA OF GOOD BOOKS TO READ

Mrs. Honore Morrow, who has written several of the best books of recent times on the Lincoln subject, says if she were asked to select a list of books to take with her on a desert island, she would shose the Bible, Shakespeare, Kipling's 'Kim,' Beveridge's 'Life Of John Marshall,' the Oxford book of verse, Lord Charnwood's 'Lincoln,' Elizabeth Wetherell's 'Queechy,' Willa Cather's 'Death Comes To The Archbishop,' Arthur Bryant's 'King Charles II,' the poems of Walt Whitman, Stevenson's 'Kidnapped,' and Stephen Vincent Benet's 'John Brown's Body.' A queer selection, much of it influenced by special interest in special subjects. And that old book 'Queechy!' How reminiscent it is of he fate and fortunes of favorites and best sellers. Like the 'Queed' of poor Henry Sydnor Harrison.

That Dickens is being revived again, is a gratification to most Dickens lovers, but alas! the days when one can read the whole book without skipping has gone by, 'Great Expectations' is in the movies now, and before long other books will be produced in drama. But so often the book has to be changed to adopt it to the stage. It is to be hoped that seeing the picture, will make one wish to read the entire novel.

So great was the popularity of his books during the writer's life time, that when one was being published serially a man, knowing that his death was drawing near, wrote to Dickens to hurry and bring the story to an end, as he wanted to see how it would turn out before he died. There are many clubs both in this country and in his native lands, formed to keep his memory alive and the magazine, Dickensian is published every month.

Did they have turkey or chicken? was asked some time ago. I do not know, they are both alike to me.' was the reply.

A Rhyme of the Time

Miss Pallas Eudora Von Blurkey
She didn't know chicken from turkey.
High Spanish and Greek she could fluently speak,
But her knowledge of poultry was murky.

She could tell the great-uncle of Moses,
And the date of the War of the Roses,
And the reasons of things—why the Indians wore rings
In their red aboriginal noses.

Why Shakespeare was wrong in his grammar,
And the reason of Emerson's Brahma;
And she went chipping rocks in a little black box
With a small geological hammer.

And she wrote in a handwriting clerk-y
And she spoke with an emphasis jerky.
And she painted on tiles, in the sweetest of styles;
But she didn't know chicken from turkey.

RELIEF WORK TO START DEC. 1

SCHOOL REPAIR PROJECT UNDER WAY

Mr. B. Trew Durding, director of work relief in Kent County, has been furloughed until December 1 due to the fact at the present time there is sufficient employment in the county so as to practically eliminate relief to those able to work.

Present indications point to the fact that relief will be harder to get this winter and all who are physically able will have to work for it. The rate of pay will probably be 30 cents an hour and the work so distributed that each person will be allowed just enough hours of work to take care of their immediate needs. The local projects which will benefit from the relief labor will be approved as the labor demand requires. The painting and repair of school property will be the first considered, the material having been purchased last year. Three men are now working on this project.

W. C. ELEVEN IDEL TODAY

WILL PLAY HAVERFORD NEXT SATURDAY

Still undefeated, the Washington College eleven will be idle today, there being no game scheduled. Next Saturday the local team will journey to Haverford and the following Saturday, November 24th the annual game with Delaware will be played at Newark.

Last Saturday Washington played a tie game with Susquehanna which was witnessed by 1000 fans the majority of whom were Alumni who returned for the Home Coming.

In the first half of the game Washington had the advantage and the half ended 6 to 0. In the second half the visitors developed an aerial attack that kept the local eleven on the defense up until the last few minutes. Haverford scored in this half to tie the score and threatened on numerous other occasions but could not penetrate the Washington line to put the ball across.

Within a few minutes of the final whistle Billy Nicholson intercepted a forward pass and put the ball deep into the visitors territory and an end run by Young put the ball on the five yard line but the whistle blew before it could be put across. Nicholson scored Washington's touchdown with an eight yard lunge through center.
