Queen Mary, with King George's permission is wearing a feather in her hat. Those who know the King and Queen feel that the Queen is the one who really has the say in every thing.

The feather is quite an improvement and we feel sure that the young princess whose hats, the queen is expected to choose will be glad of the change.

Queen Mary was betrothed to Prince Clarence, King George's elder brother who died before he came of age so it was the duty of George the younger brother to marry her. It seems to have proved a very happy marriage. Their four sons and one daughter have ever been obedient children. Of course the Prince of Wales, David, they call him, is the favorite son. Perhaps he is the most popular man in the Kingdom. Like the sons of George III, he is still unmarried though very often the report comes that he is engaged to some princess. The princess Mary is now the Duchess of Lascelles. The Duke is much older than she, but he has houses and lands in abundance. Mary is very pretty and a great favorite with her brothers. George, the Duke of York, the second son of the king married a young Scottish princess and has two little daughters, one of whom, the little princess Elizabeth might become queen in the death of the Prince of Wales and her father, but that is a long way from the throne now.

To be a princess is to have a very busy life. She is expected to be trained in all branches of needlework and the domestic arts, and to be taught the different languages and to be learned above those around her.

It is considered quite an honor to be chosen as 'Maid in Waiting' at the Court. Some times their duties are very exacting. Queen Victoria always required her 'Maids in Waiting' to stand in her presence. One day Gladstone came to have an audience with the queen. As it lasted a long time, he suggested that they sit down while he talked with the Queen, but she showed her displeasure at him for suggesting such a thing.

As Queen Victoria was very short, only 4 ft. 11 in., perhaps she liked to see the tall willowy girls standing around her.

The present rulers of England belonged to the House of Hanover, but during the worlds war the English did not wish a German name to the ruling House so they changed it to the House of Windsor. But all the present ruling House came from the Germans George the First never learned to speak English, and George the second spoke it so badly that when he wished to express his dislike of painting and poetry he exclaimed, 'I hate boetry and bainting.' But George the Third became an English Scholar, and learned to love his kingdom, England. In many ways he was a wise king. It was a very bitter blow to him to lose the rich American Colonies during the Revolutionary War. America was the first and only colony that England has ever lost. He had a long reign lasting over sixty years, and during that time he had two mental break downs. George the Fourth who succeeded him married Caroline of Brunswick but never lived with her. It is said that the emissary who was sent over to Brunswick to bring her to England in order to marry George, suggested, as the day as warm and she was rather stout, that she should take a bath after her long journey, before she saw her prospective husband, but she was so eager to see him that she was ushered into his presence before the bath. The fastidious prince, recoiled from her, and though the marriage ceremony was performed they never lived together. He gave her an ample allowance, and she lived in England and established a court of her own there.

APPLE ANNIE

An old woman stood on the corner of one of the streets of New York selling apples, nuts and candy.

She gave an inspiration to a play wright passing by, for a play, 'Lady for a Day.'

They afterward went to see Annie and found her and her husband pretty drunk as they had just received their pension. Then the moving picture men conceived the idea of giving Apple Annie the chance of being a lady for a day. So they went for her in a fine limoisine, took her to a Fifth Avenue shop and had her buy two expensive dresses, then took her to a hotel and had her treated as a great lady for the day. Then they gave her $25 and the dresses and took her home. She and her husband spent part of the money for rum and for a while they had a thrilling time. Then the tipsy husband tried to light the gas heater. While he fumbled for matches the gas flooded the room and brought death to the old couple. They were buried in luxury by their cinema friends.

The Road To Better Health

SOME THOUGHTS ON DIPHTHERIA

By DR. WILLIAM J. SCHOLES

There was a time when diphtheria killed thousands of children every year. Now, from being one of the most dreaded of all diseases it has taken a minor position among the affections of infancy and childhood.

Antitoxin and Diphtheria

What has been responsible for this change? Antitoxin. But despite the undeniable good this agency has achieved, there are some still so blind—or obstinate—that they refuse to admit its lifesaving properties. These people still contend that it is a poison, that it affects the heart and so on, none of which allegations has a vestige of truth about it.

Some objectors even state that diphtheria is just a "cold" that is a little worse than the usual common cold. These objectors will usually be found among theg roup that denies the existence of any disease-producing germs. None of them has ever done an amount of research work that could be seen with a microscope—they have been too busy objecting.

Diphtheria and Other Throat Infections

It is true that diphtheria runs a course very similar to acute tonsilitis at the start. In fact some of the symptoms of the latter are even more severe. The fever in diphtheria is not so high as in tonsilitis. But the pulse is more rapid and feeble and the systemic disturbances are more profound in diphtheria.

The main difference between diphtheria and the catarrhal affections of the nose and throat is in the virulence of the bacteria and their toxins. In the early stages diphtheria and tonsilitis are so similar that a microscopic examination and culture of the secretions are required to make a diagnosis. The disease is always a mixed infection, but the introduction of the Klebs-Loeffler baccillus establishes the difference between a mild infection and a dangerous toxemia.

The most dangerous form of diphtheria is that in which the membrane is located in the nose because from the nasal membranes the absorption of poisons is most active. When the membrane is situated in the larynx the danger is from asphyxia.

Antitoxin Should Always Be Given

In any case of "cold" a physician should be summoned at once. It may or may not be diphtheria. Often the doctor will give a dose of antitoxin even before he has a report on the culture—to be on the safe side. If it is diphtheria he gains time; if subsequent information shows it is not, no harm is done. The point is that the earlier antitoxin is administered the more effective it is.

Some physicians believe in giving heroic doses right from the beginning. Others prefer to start out with an initial dose of 2,000 units and let developments determine additional doses both as to size and frequency. Which method is better is still debatable.

Regardless of all that, however, the important point is to give antitoxin. If you have any prejudice against it, get it out of your mind, because you are opposing an agency that has saved the lives of a million babies.

Hints for the Household

FOR NOVEMBER

By BETTY WEBSTER

If you haven't as yet started your 1935 Christmas savings account, now is the time to begin. Not long ago I think I mentioned the vacation accounts. These Christmas funds are managed in just the same way. There is a small deposit made weekly which builds into a sizeable amount in the year. This deposit varies with the sum you wish to have at the end of that period.

Cultivate "Thrift Habit"

For most of us these Christmas accounts are splendid investments because they get us into the habit of regular trips to the bank which we are apt to keep up to the benefit of our "rainy day funds."

I am a firm believer in the worth whileness of these accounts and hope you'll try one this year.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. Apricot pie is greatly improved by a few drops of vanilla?
2. Cinnamon extract adds a welcome tang to apple sauce or to any insipid fruit?
3. One-half teaspoon each of vanilla and orange extracts make an unusual flavoring for plain cake?
4. A few drops of vanilla or cinnamon extract put new zest into cocoa or chocolate?
5. The stiffly beaten white of egg added to plain lemonade makes an attractive drink?
6. Tomato juice is a remarkable thirst quencher?
7. Hot tea leaves the body cooler than cold drinks on warm days?
8. A tablespoon of vinegar in the water in which it is stewed will make tough chicken tender?
9. Ham, for boiling, should be fat and cooked very slowly?

RECIPES

Orange Marmalade

Acid oranges insure a marmalade that will jelly. These sour, thin-skinned oranges are procurable everywhere between Thanksgiving and Christmas. The following recipe, carefully followed, will result in a perfect 'show-window' product in which golden particles of the fruit float in a clear, amber jelly.

1 dozen oranges
5 lemons

Slice fruit very thin and cover with eight quarts of cold water. Let stand for twenty-four hours. Then cook for one hour after the boiling point is reached stirring almost constantly.

Let stand for another twenty-four hours. Then measure one cup of sugar to each cup of the orange mixture and cook again for one hour. Put into jelly glasses or pint jars. This recipe will make two dozen glasses.

Orange Custard

1 pint of milk
2 egg yolks
1 heaping tablespoon of cornstarch
1-3 cup of sugar
Pinch of salt

Cook in double boiler until thick; add one teaspoon of vanilla. Have ready one orange cut in small pieces which has been standing covered with one fourth cup of sugar; pour off juice and cover with cold custard. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and drop by tablespoon into hot water; when puffed remove with perforated spoon and put on top of custard and orange mixture. Serve cold.

LIQUID TABLETS SALVE--NOSEDROPS

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right dose of a liquid laxative brings a more natural movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good.

A properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brings safe relief from constipation. It gently helps the average person's bowels until nature restores them to regularity. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.
