TO ENFORCE TRUCKING CODE

BALTIMORE MAN NAMED COMPLIANCE OFFICER

Everett B. Lackie, of Baltimore, for many years associated with the trucking industry, has been named to the post of Compliance Officer for the Maryland State Code Authority for the Trucking Industry according to an announcement released by Milton E. Biemiller, Chairman of the State Body.

Mr. Biemiller indicated that Mr. Lackie had given a specific charge to enforce strict compliance with all provisions of the trucking code particularly with respect to those of Article VI covering registration and those of Article VII providing for the filing of minimum schedules of rates and tariffs

Mr. Lackie Will lead the Compliance Division of the Code Authority and will supervise the policing of the industry and will be vested with the responsibility of preparing cases against violators, both large or small.

'As Chairman of the State Code Authority,' continued Mr. Biemiller, 'I am firmly resolved that a strict program of enforcement will be pushed with all the vigor possible and truck operators and teamsters violating the trucking code will be presented in af ormal bill of complaint without hesitation, on our part, to the proper Federal Authorities for legal action.

'I believe the privilege of self-regulation of the industry is sound and of inestimabel value to the truckmen. We must realize that our position in the industrial and business sphere is identical with that of any other merchant. We are selling transportation service. ..we cannot sell that service at less than actual cost and continue in business.

NOW AND THEN

WINTER MUST BE NATURE'S STEP-CHILD

Oh, why do robins come in spring
When everything is gay
To perch nearby upon a twig
And sing a merry lay?
Nobody needs a robin then
To smooth a troubled brow,
The time when robins ought to sing
To cheer us up is now.

And why do golden daffodils
Spread gladness everywhere
When all the rest of nature vies
To banish gloom and care?
Nobody needs their gleaming then
To brighten dreary days,
'Tis now we wish for daffodils
When nature dons her grays.

Spring seems to be a selfish chit
Too lavishly bedight
And well might share her birds and blooms
With seasons not so bright.
It isn't fair for spring to keep
Monopoly of cheer
And leave the winter desolate,
A season drab and drear.

—Anon

Did you have a happy Thanksgiving? Did you think of some one that you could help and cheer? Did you try to think of your many blessings? 'Thanksgiving is the grace we say to God.'

Some one remarked that he thought it rather strange that Prince George and Marianna have chosen Thanksgiving Day for their wedding.

He did not stop to think that our Thanksgiving and Englands is not the same, though the king, like our president, appoints a special day for Thanksgiving.

(Note: Please blame this on an English joke writer.)

A minister on a visit to America asked for a Pullman berth, and was told that there was a difference of 50 cents between an upper and a lower berth.

The attendant pointed out: 'The lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower, on account of being higher. When you occupy an upper berth you have to get up to go to bed and get down to get up.'

We, who are accustomed to seeing Lincoln's and Washington's faces on the three and two cents stamps are bewildered at the many changes of them now. 'Keep them,' say our friends, 'they will be valuable later on.' But if the changes keep on we shall hardly have a receptacle large enough to hold them.

Here is one thing to be said for these big postage stamps Farley is giving us. They provide innocent employment for idle tongues.

I like to read the 'Spillway' in the Baltimore Sun. Sometimes the writer makes mistakes in his literature or history like others do, and then he is full of Apologies. Recently he made an error in being surprised that 'Pride and Prejudice' should be one of the favorites among the School Children. Of course he was jumped upon by those who love the book. And there are many who still love it, the quaint old story though the manners and customs are very different from the present time.

'He has no imagination,' is sometimes said of individuals. Well, I pity them myself. We can do so much travelling and go to so many beautiful places in our imagination. Some one, who was confined to her chair wrote, 'There is one who travels as extensively as I do. This summer I have visited the Alps mountains, sailed down the Rhine, visited the tulip beds of Holland, and the old Cathedrals of Spain, and England and all in my garden chair. Which poet wrote, 'The pleasures of Imagination?'

AIR CASTLES

I would rather be a builder
Of castles made of air
To be rebuilded every day
And dwell in fancy there,
With every thing to make me glad,
The doors all closed to gloom
And sunlight of tomorrow
Shining into every room.
Then ever keep within the walls
Of sad things past or now,
For though my castles do not last
They're cheering anyhow,
And so I build and build again,
Rebuild from day to day,
And sometime the master-builder
May let my castles stay.

A customer went into a store and picked up an article, walked off with it, telling the clerk to charge it.

'On what account?' called the clerk.

'On account of my not having any money with me.'

SEAL SALE PROGRAM STARTS

FUNDS USED FOR PREVENTION AND CARE OF TUBERCULOSIS

The twenty-eighth annual Christmas Seal Sale of the Maryland Tuberculosis and its affiliated county branches officially opened on Thanksgiving Day throughout the State of Maryland. More than 200,000 direct mail appeals containing Christmas Seals were sent to all sections of the State.

As an opening event, Elementary and High Schools in twelve Countries of the State held special 'Thanks for Health Day' exercises in the interest of the Seal Sale campaign.

William B. Matthews, Managing Director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, stated that Sunday, December second, will be observed throughout the United States as Christmas Seal Sunday, when it is expected that many ministers will bring before their respective congregations the need for increased efforts to stamp out tuberculosis. A proclamation to this effect was issued by Governor Albert C. Ritchie last week.

The funds obtained from the Seal Sale are used to finance anti-tuberculosis work in our county. They make possible the work at the Miracle House, for children who have been living in contact with tuberculosis, a State-wide system of free chest clinics, health education and medical research.

The Seal Sale Chairman for this County is Louis C. Robinson.

ANDELOT WINS STOCK SHOW PRIZES

KENT COUNTY STOCK FARM WINS EIGHT FIRST PLACES

Andelot Stock Farms, of Worton, Kent County, were the principal winners at the recent Aberdeen-Angus Show held by the Maryland Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association. Andelot Eileen 5th, a beautiful yearling heifer, was Brand Champion female and won the cup for the best animal on the grounds. Andelot Prince Quality, a most promising young bull, was Grand Champion of the bull division. Andelot also won first and third for bull calves and first for group of three bulls; first for senior heifer calf; first for baby heifer calf; first for group of three females; first for pair of calves. Mr. W. A. McGregor is managing this stock farm. His experience dates back to the early cattle ranch days in Western Canada.

The Aberdeen-Angus breed of beef cattle is becoming very popular on the Eastern Shore and many good pure-bred herds have been established. George K. Bailey, of Earleville, Cecil County, maintains a herd of sixty head; Andelot Stock Farms, Worton, Kent County, have three hundred; M. C. Sherman of Queenstown, Queen Anne's County, maintains a herd of one hundred; while Mr. Stowell, near Centerville, has a herd of twenty. In Dorchester County, Irvin Kinauer has recently started a small herd.

The Aberdeen-Angus are black in color and have no horns. They are bred primarily for beef and their admirers claim for them the ability to put on more pounds of high quality beef, on a given amount of feed, than any other breed.

WARN HUNTERS OF RABBIT FEVER

ONE CASE REPORTED IN MARYLAND THIS WEEK

Since Br'er Rabbit—not a healthy Br'er Rabbit, but a diseased one—has been recognized as the source of the disease which humans contract in handling infected animals, and which is known as Tularemia or Rabbit Fever, warnings are issued as soon as the hunting season opens, to hunters, market men, foodhandlers housekeepers, cooks, and any others who handle game or who prepare it for the table, to t ake certain simple precauttions. Here they are, as outlined by Dr. R. H. Riley, Dire ctor of the State Department of Health:

'Be sure you bag only healthy animals, when you go gunning for rabbits. The animal that seems dazed or stupid is likely to be a sick one—infected with the germs that cause rabbit fever. Avoid that kind.

'Don't handle the game with bare hands, when preparing the meat for the market or the table. The infection may be picked up from the fur, as well as from the organs or flesh of the animal.

'If it is impossible tou se gloves, wash the hands thorou ghly with soap and water immediately after handling a rabbit.

'Do not allow any open cut or scratch to come in contact with the rabbits. Keep your hands away from your face and eyes when handling rabbits.

'Burn the paper or other wrappings that have been in contact with the game.

'Cook rabbit meat thoroughly.'

The first case of rabbit fever in Maryland during the current season was reported to the State Department of Health a few days ago. Since 1928, when the disease was first made reportable, 126 cases have been noted in the State. Of the total, 68 occurred in the counties and 58 in Baltimore City. There have been 13 deaths, 6 in Baltimore City and 11 in the counties. The majority of the cases have occurred in the late fall or the early winter, during the hunting season. A few have been reported at other times.

Speaking of the disease as a seasonal one, Dr. Riley said it could be contracted through handling or skinning infected animals: through preparing the infected meat for cooking or for other use; through the bite of infected ticks—which spread the disease from animal to animal—and even through crushing the infected ticks in the hands. The infectious material can be absorbed through a mere scratch or break in the skin.

'The disease usually starts,' Dr. Riley said, 'with symptoms that resemble grippe or influenze. It has often been mistaken for typhoid fever. In many cases, an ulcer develops at the site of the infection. Whatever form it takes, means a long, serious illness. The family doctor should be sent for without delay whenever symptoms develop that suggest rabbit fever. To assist in the diagnosis of the disease, blood tests for the presence of the infection will be made by the State Bacteriological Laboratories, at the request of the attending physician, for any case in the counties.

SHORE COMMISSIONERS TO MEET MONDAY

LOCAL OFFICALS TO ATTEND MEETING IN EASTON

The regular meeting of the Eastern Shore County Commissioner's Association will be held in Easton next Monday, December 3rd.

This meeting will be an important one as it will probably bring out many questions of vital interest to the tax payers of the counties. The State control and maintenance of county roads will expire at this session of the Legislature, it having been passed in the 1933 session for a two year trial period thereby relieving the counties of the maintenance of the county road systems.

Other subjects of equal importance promise an interesting meeting, in preparation for the coming Legislative session.

Among those who will attend from Kent County are: Messrs. Arthur H. Brice, W. R. Hubbard, Roy Strong, H. Stockton Startt, Charles Wood, T. Ellsworth Leary and Andrew W. Wilson.

OFFICIAL HOSPITAL OPENING DEC. 8

PUBLIC INVITED TO INSPECT BUILDING

On Monday, December 3 a reception will be held at the Kent and Queen Ann Hospital, which will be open to the public from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

This will be the official opening day and the Board of Managers respectfully request a large and representative attendance. Tea will be served.

She was a devoted mother, good neighbor and earnest christian, and leaves many friends here.

A servant of God, beloved by his followers, is the memory cherished in the hearts of many.

'Twas by a path of sorrows drear
Christ entered into rest;
And shall I look for roses here,
Or think that earth is blessed?
Heaven's whitest lilies blew
From earth's sharp crown of woe.
Who here his cross can weekly bear,
Shall wear the kingly purple there.

Besides his widow, Mrs. May Syndor Jester, he leaves three daughters, Misses Kathryn Clay Jester, Helen May Jester, Virginia Elizabeth Jester. Also the following brothers and sisters, K. J. Jester and Mrs. Lillie Conklin, of Chincoteague, Va.; A. V. Jester, of Smithville, Va.; and Mrs. Dora Hill, of Philadelphia.

The bearers will be Rev. Dr. L. B. Smith, Rev. J. A. Wright, Messrs. Emory Grey, J. H. Sydnor, John Cannon, and Frank Hepbron. Interment will be made in Chester cemetery. Dodd & Usilton, undertakers.

MILTON BENNETT GLENN, INFANT

Milton Bennett, Glenn, two months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Glenn, died Saturday at Harriet Lane Hospital. The little one had been taken there prior Tuesday suffering from what appeared to be meningitis. Funeral services were held Monday at 2 o'clock at Wesley Chapel being conducted by the Rev. W. A. Donoway. Interment in the adjoining cemetery. The bearers were four boys, Dick Jacquette, Robert Tucker, Bobby Shallcross and John Dierker, Jr. W. H. Good, undertaker.

METHODIST PROTESTANTS TO GATHER AT EASTON

KENT AND QUEEN ANNE CHURCHES TO BE REPRESENTED

The Methodist Protestant Churches of Kent, Queen Anne and adjoining Counties will join in a great mass meeting at Easton of the evening of December 12th.

This is the second such gathering in the present Maryland Conference year, the first having been held in Chestertown, September 13th, when Christ Church was thronged by representatives of the twenty-eight churches in the district and Rev. Dr. Nicholson, of Washington delivered an eloquent address.

Rev. R. L. Shipley, D. D., editor of the Methodist Protestant-Recorder, of Baltimore, will make the address at Easton, on the subject, 'Controlled by Love.'

A feature of this meeting will be the singing led by a large chorus of men from the choirs of the district under the direction of Rev. T. J. Turkington, of Denton. The Men's Choral Club of Milford Church, will be in this choir and it will sing several numbers alone.

In addition to the choir members each church is to be rep resented by at least two members of each of its organizations and others. More than 50 came from Denton to Chestertown.

It is not enough to be busy; so are the ants. The question is: What are we busy about?—Thoreau.

FIRE COMPANY PRIZE REACHES $10

J. T. KIBLER'S NAME DRAWN MONDAY

The name of Mr. J. T. Kibler was drawn out of the book at the fire company meeting last Monday night and forfeited a cash prize of $9 by not being present.

In order to increase attendance at the meetings a plan was adopted wherefore a dollar would be given to the one whose name was drawn, provided that person was present. In case the person whose name was drawn was not present, that night's premium would be carried over to the following meeting. The plan has been in operation for nine weeks and none of the names drawn have been present making the prize next Monday night $10.

W. C. DEFEATS DELAWARE

COMPLETES UNDEFEATED FOOT BALL SEASON

BILLY NICHOLSON STARS—TEAM HAS LARGE FAN FOLLOWING

Probably the largest number of fans ever to follow a Washington College athletic team journeyed to Newark on Saturday afternoon of last week and saw the local eleven defeat the University of Delaware 29 to 0 in the anual clash of these two teams.

The first quarter was a nip and tuck affair, Delaware getting the advantage ter Gibb Young fast Freshman quarter ter Gibb Young fast Freshman quarback got away on a sweeping end run following Billy Nicholson whose interference put four sure tacklers out of the play which put the ball on Delaware's 13 yard line. On the next play Charlie Berry carried the ball through the weak side of the line on a fake play for a touchdown. Nicholson kicked the extra point. Delaware then received but was forced to punt and Washington worked the ball down to Delaware's 20 yard line but were held and on the fourth down Nicholson kicked a field goal from the 25 yard line to add three more points, the half ending 10 to 0.

Following the kickoff at the opening of the second half with the ball in Washington's possession on their own 10 yard line, a lateral play was called resulting in a fumble and the wind blew the ball across the goal line where a Delaware player fell on it for a touchdown, making the score 10 to 7. Washington then worked the ball up to Delaware's 11 yard line and Nicholson plowed his way through Delaware's line for a touchdown. With Washington leading 17 to 7; Delaware resorted to forward passes in a vain hope of again scoring. Washington had little difficulty breaking up these plays and Ward, tackle for Washington intercepted a pass and scored another touchdown. Following the kick-off the ball was soon again deep in Delaware's territory and a pass to Fuller made the fourth touchdown for Washington and when the final whistle blew Washington as leading 29 to 7.

Although those who figure the games before they are played had Delaware as the favorities and although that team made a sporting fight they were defeated by a superior team.

While Nicholson was the outstanding star for Washington, the entire team did their part to bring about the onesided victory and brought about a glorious end to an undefeated season.

The Hastings trophy, donated by Senator Hastings, of Delaware, comes to Washington College for the first time since the trophy was offered. The provisions of the donation are that the trophy is to be kept permanently by the team first winning it three times. Delaware has two victories to its credit to Washington's one.

The football togs have been put away and a goodly portion of the squad are now out for basket ball.
