THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

A PLAN HAS been worked by the Kent and Queen Anne's Fireman's Association whereby with the cooperation of property owners many chimney fires can be prevented. This association includes all the fire companies in the two counties and the successful working of the plan will be to the advantage of all persons concerned. Practically all chimney fires are caused by dirty and defective chimney and can be practically eliminated if property owners will make an effort to correct these conditions before cold weather. The willingness of these fire companies to render service when needed deserves the cooperation of property owners to help safeguard their property and the lives of their families.

THE FACT THAT every one likes a winner was evidenced last Saturday when the largest number of fans ever to follow a Washington College foot ball team, went to Newark to see the annual game with Delaware. This game shattered the belief that the people of Chestertown are not interested in Washington College athletic teams and with the basket ball games to be played in the armory which will afford ample seating capacity for spectators at popular prices, the indications are that the basket ball team will have plenty of support from the side lines. The value of athletics to a college has been a point of discussion for sometime but this year's football squad probably has done more to interest alumni and the public at large in Washington College than any of the various efforts made. Much of the credit for the foot ball achievement may be credited to Coaches Kibler and Ekaitis who have not only developed a winning team this year but have built the team that promises also to make its mark next year.

KENT AND QUEEN ANNE'S REPORT FINANCIAL GAIN

Chestertown, Md., Nov. 29—Thomas D. Bowers, secretary-treasurer of the Kent and Queen Anne's National Farm Loan Association, said yesterday that one of the most striking evidences of the return of prosperity among agricultural classes of the two counties is the large amount of money which has recently been paid by farmer borrowers to the association on delinquent interest obligations. Many also have made substantial payments on the principal of their loans from the Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner, it was added.

At the October meeting in the courthouse here more than $800 was received on interest payments, while collections at the recent September meeting amounted to more than $1,500, bringing many borrowers up to date in their interest payments and reducing the number of delinquents.

A good wheat crop and one of the most profitable tomato crops in a number of years were citied as principal factors in the financial upturn.

FROSH DEFEATS SOPHS

The Washington College Freshman defeated the Sophs in the annual football game of these two Washington College classes on Kibler field Wednesday afternoon. The game was loosley played and was not a good foot ball game but the rivalry made it an interesting game to watch. The score was made by a touchdown and a safety, the latter score resulted by the freshman blocking Abbott's kick and when he recovered it he was across his own goal line.

Mygatt and Benham starred for the first year men, both being members of the Varsity squad but did not make their lettere which made them eligible to play.

'Justice Will Prevail,' no, them's not the words. 'Everything Works Out All Right In The End,' Yea-team.

University of Delaware was scheduled to throw a free dance last Saturday night, after the game, but called it off two or three days ahead of time. The Washington College student body was some what disappointed, as they had entertained Delaware with a dance after the game last year, when the annual meeting was held in Chestertown.

It's one tall boy's opinion, that it is about the most fortunate thing ever to happen, so far as future relations between the two schools is concerned.

During the game the student body of Delaware and their fans, no doubt a large percentage from Newark, showed very plainly they could not show the proper sportsmanship in defeat. Washington was of course bent on celebrating their victory. As the evening wore on the celebration would have become more enthusiastic and no doubt trouble would have resulted.

When it was apparent Washington had the game in the bag, the word was passed on, 'Everybody's going to the Black Cat.'

The 'Black Cat' has a restaurant open at all hours and at 9 p. m. they open their night club, which is located about fifty yards from the restaurant. Many had supper at the restaurant. Students and fans kept arriving. All were greeted with cheers and applause. They cheered, they sang, they wined, dined and danced to a nickle a shot victrola. It was something new evidently to the management, but it was business and what could they do about it anyhow.

Finally 9 p. m. rolled around and Joe's Cafe opened. Joe's Cafe is just one of those gyp joints found in cities. No cover charge, no admission, but 'oh boy' be careful how you order. Washington's gang took up about a fourth of the whole place. These Eastern Shoreman are used to having a big evening on fifty cents and it was really funny to see the trouble the waiters had. Washington continued their cheers the leaders standing on the tables. Their presence was not appreciated. The bouncer gatherd his gang but seeing he was badly outnumbered decided to plead instead of bounce. To the 'Elm' the student publication we say the Alumni meeting was tame. At the celebration of the Delaware victory, the 'Fort Generation' acted as the guiding hand.

The students were enthused with their victory and they had a right to be, but it was a very good thing it was not celebrated in Newark. It might have led to bloodshed or a least again broken off relations.

Washington had a great year in football. The only fly in the sugar being the tie with Susquehanna and Washington had by far the better team. Poor generalship kept Washington from winning. Too late in the game they saw where they had the other team outclassed. That game is over but it was too bad we were tied. Anyhow it is probably the best football season Washington has ever had.

From this great team Washington loses three first class linemen, Ward, Duyer and Johnny Lord. Their places are going to be hard to fill. Lord besides being good football player, has made himself very popular in the town. Washington line outplayed every team it met. The only team to do any consistent gaining through it was, strange to say, Hopkins.

Bill Nicholson, Chestertown's contribution to the team played better as the season progressed. In the Delaware game he was at his peak. A wonderful man on the defense and he developed into a great ground gainer. Billy Nick passed the examination for the Naval Academy but was finally turned down on the color test. There are many who believe that if Billy Nick had had a chance on the Navy team he would have made good. He has one more season at Washington and the next year he will probably be better than ever before.

ANOTHER LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD. It has been a long while since we have been able to trot the old heading out. Alfred I. duPont a few years ago built a school building near Wilmington and consolidated several small schools. David McMenamin, who at one time lived in Chestertown was made principal. Last week Mr. duPont donated $85,000 for an addition to the present school. The enrollment will be increased to probably nearly 800 and will include a Junior High School.

A local minister innocently played quite a trick on a couple parked in front of his house.

There is one lady in Chestertown that did not see any joke in the letters sent out about 'Who is Nellie Bly?'

Nuf said in both cases.

FIRE GROUP SEEKS AID

Would Reduce Number And Cost Of Chimney Fires

The Kent and Queen Anne's Firemen's Association has issued an appeal to the citizens of the two-county area to cooperate in a move to reduce the number of chimney fires.

Surveys conducted by the association have shown that most fires of this nature are caused by carelessness or neglect to clean chimneys and remove obstacles which might cause fire.

In asking the cooperation of the citizens of Kent and Queen Anne's counties the firemen's association has issued a brief questionnaire, with the request that all citizens answer the few inquiries and turn the same over to their local fire company.

The questions, which may be clipped from this paper, answered and sent to the nearest fire company are:

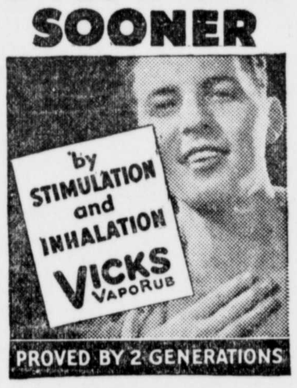

..... Fire Company.

1. Can we depend upon you cooperating with us? .....
2. Have your chimneys been cleaned this year? .....
3. Do your chimneys need repairing? .....
4. Will you remove any material which might cause a fire? .....
5. Is there any water available other than a well? .....
6. If so, how far from your buildings? .....
