JITNEY PLAYERS HERE NEXT WEEK

TO GIVE GOLDSMITH'S COMEDY, 'SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER' NEXT MONDAY

The Jitney Players, well-known theatrical troupe, familiar to Chestertownians from . former performances, will give a third production here on the evening of Monday, December the 3. Their visit is made possible by the fact that they are on their way to play a two-day engagement in Baltimore, that, and the unremitting industry of certain members of the College faculty, who have felt that no effort was too great to give students and townspeople the opportunity to see a cast of such excellent actors at so little expense.

The romantic story of the organization of the troupe has been told in these columns before, the meeting of Miss Alice Keating, fresh from her European education, and still more recent Broadway successes; and young Bushnell Cheney, then a student at Yale, the friendship based upon a common interest in the theatre, and especially in the Little Theatre movement, which developed into a true romance; their marriage, upon his graduation, and the founding of the company with the wedding cheques received from the to families. All that is now history.

For six years Mr. Cheney directed his little company, at first a group of six before his sudden death threw the burden entirely upon Mrs. Cheney's shoulders. When the company first played Chestertown in 1928 in Sheridan' A Trip to Scarborough. Mr. Cheney had been gone only a few days.

She, however, believed that the future of the drama lay, not in New York, but on the road, and the road of the small company, at that. Furthermore, Mr. Cheney had held that faith even more strongly, if possible. 'I am glad to play in places just like this.' said Mrs. Cheney, during her last engagement here, 'even though it means a financial loss, because it is exactly for places like this, inconveniently far from established theatres, that Mr. Cheney organized the company.'

A SOCIAL OCCASION

Already the Dramatic and the Shakespeare Clubs of Washington College, under whose auspices the Jitneys are being presented, are finding that the occasion is to be made a distinctly festive one. In the afternoon the Clubs are sponsoring a tea at Reid Hall, to give townspeople, as well as faculty and students, an opportunity to meet the members ofthe cast. Mrs. Gilbert Mead and Mrs. Scott Beck will pour during the afternoon. In the evening there promise already several theatre parties, especially in the 'dress circle,' a distinction not known at William Smith Hall until now.

GOLDSMITH'S COMEDY EVER POPULAR

Goldsmith's immortal comedy, She Stoops to Conquer, is of immortal interest. Written as a counter-irritant to the popular 'sentimental' comedy of the day, it introduced for the first time since the Restoration human and natural figures upon the stage. Poor 'Goldy' nearly lost his mind before the play was produced.

The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

By the time you read this little epistle, if you do, Thanksgiving will be a thing of the past for this year and I can only hope you will have had a happy day and your fill of turkey and gravy. It certainly was a time of departures and arrivals in town. Of course all the school and college crowd who had any holiday, arrived with their mouths watering for some good home cooking, and in addition to those whom I mentioned last week who would be away, the Sam Emorys and the Eben Perkins journeyed to Baltimore for the Thanksgivng feast. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Cooke and little daughter, Anne Washington, from Elizabeth, N. J., and Mr. Tom Perkins, all spent that day with Mrs. A. T. H. Harper. Mr. Cooke will remain until Sunday while Anne and her little girl will remain awhile with Mrs Harper.

The Wallace Johnsons entertained a large number of friends, Thanksgiving afternoon an evening at an egg-nogg party, and everyone seemed to have an immensely good time.

Our residents always appear to be on the move. I talked with Miss Adelaide Glascock who told me she had just returned from a two weeks visit in Washington where she was the guest of Mrs. Charles D. Drayton, Miss Glascock said it was about the most delightful visit she had ever made there, and I was sorry time prevented my hearing in detail some of the interesting social activites she enjoyed while in the Capitol city. Mrs. C. Beck Jones who returned to us for a few days last week, has hied herself back to Atlanta, where she and her father are guests of the younger Horace Beck family till after Thanksgiving.

The members of the Washington College Historical Society were treated to a talk Monday afternoon by Dr. James E. Hancock, Secretary of the Maryland Historical Society. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hubbard entertained Dr. Hancock at luncheon prior to his lecture, while afterwards, Dr. Esther M. Dole entertained at dinner in honor of the speaker and the officers of the newly organized Historical Society of the College. Dr. Dole had her son, Charles from University of Maryland, and her daughter, Alice, who is attending the Maryland Institute home with her for Thanksgiving.

My mind now turns from gaiety to concern for those on our sick list. You will be sorry to learn, I am sure, that little Emory Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Massey Hines has pneumonia. Those ill in Baltimore hospitals from here are: Mrs. Eva Kilbourne, Mr. D. W. Ingersoll, while Mr. William T. Nicholson and Mr John Clendaniel are ill at their homes. A genuine hope for recovery is extended to all of these sick friends of ours.

I can not help refer to past news, but our victory over Delaware last Saturday afternoon was so wonderful, I just must mention it. I seemed to see the world and his wife there, as cold as I was, but I wasn't too cold to be excited and shout my cheers in no uncertain tones.

Mrs. Joseph Archbell left on Wednesday for a ten day's visit to New York where she will be guest of several friends.

But now I am going to ask you to let me off on brievity this week for my supply of news has run dry and so with a spark and gleam in my eye for future chatter.

Yours prepared,
The Wanderer.

Mr. Vernon R. Selby, who is employed with the United Fruit Company, left Kent for the south last Monday after spending a two weeks vacation with his family in Chestertown and other relatives in the county. He expects to be some time in South Carolina and Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cullen, of Baltimore, were week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kirby.

Miss Grace Enders, County Health Nurse, spent the holidays as the guest of her brother, Mr. Martin Enders in Salisbury.

Mrs. Herbert Stuart, formerly Miss Fanny Beckham, of Washington, D. C., spent Sunday and Monday as the guest of friends in town.

Dr. R. G. Beachley and family were holidays guests of his brother, Dr. Jack Beachley in Hagerstown.

Miss Ann Welch is the guest this week of Mrs. Etta Fountain. Miss Harriett Welch, of Long Island, was the guest over Thanksgiving.

Miss Cynthia Clendaniel is a guest of her mother and mather, Mr. and Mrs. John Clendaniel on Campus Avenue.

Miss Mamie Carroll is the holiday guest of her sister, Miss Louise Carroll in Baltimore.

Misses Mary and Virginia Burt, of Mannington, W. Va., are the guests of their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown in Quaker Neck.

Mr. Frederick Usilton of the faculty of the Crisfield High School is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Usilton.

Mrs. Lewis Kochler and family moved this week into the home on Queen Street recently vacated by Mr. J. D. McVean and family.

Mr. Howard Reed and family moved this week from Pomona to the Duyer apartment in Chestertown. Mr. James W. Beck, of Quaker Neck, will move into the Reed home in Pomona and conduct the store there.

The engagement of Mr. William T. Willis and Miss Clara Zimmerman, both of Baltimore, was announced last week in that city. Mr. Willis is a graduate of Washington College and until last year taught mathematics at Chestertown High School. Miss Zimmerman is a graduate of Hood College. They are both members of the faculty of Kenwood High School in Baltimore. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Lillian Brown, of Sandy Springs, Md., is the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Brown in Quaker neck.

Mayor and Mrs. C. N. Satterfield are holiday guests of Dr. G. I. Humphries at High Point College, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. French and Mrs. Ella Skirven are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Vansant at Chatham, Virginia.

IN MEMORIUM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and our father, Thomas H. Jones, who departed this life 8 years ago, November 27, 1926.

Now the laborer 's task is o'er,
Now the battle day is past,
Now upon the farther shore,
Lands the voyager at last.

We hope to see your dear face again,
Not way up in the skies,
But somewhere, sometime
When the mists won't dim our eyes.

I'll watch and wait and pray until
Life's journeys through,
It is a memory and rare
With in our hearts we wear,
Thy spirit of love is watching for us,
Until Jesus shall call us home to thee.

By his loving wife and children.

"It seems t' me that wedding rings ought t' be bought, these days, with a look ahead as t' their re-sale value---"
