COLLEGE RHYTHM

Goo-Goo, radioland's most famous stoter, ce Penner, who makes his featur Rhythm,' coming on Wednesday and New yceum Theatre. Penner heads a Oakie, Helen Mack and Lyda Roberti new tunes. Norman Taurog directed.

It was Percy Hammond, drama critic of the New York Herald Tribune, who first designated George M. Cohan as America's first actor. This was in his editorial comment on Cohan's play, 'Gambling,' which Cohan produced and in which he starred.

That play has now been produced as a talking picture by Harold B. Franklin for Fox Film release and is coming to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, December 10 and 11.

A few months after the play's opening at the Fulton Theatre, Hammond wrote in his Sunday editorial column: 'We have been without a first actor since the day Mr. Warfield . . . mysteriously disappeared into the silences of abdication. . . . Just as we are about to exclaim: 'Alas, there are no more first actors!' along comes George M. Cohan. In his latest play, 'Gambling,' he plays a quiet, four-square, sentimental, iron-gray betting man with a validity and a charm so remarkable that it entitles him to the vacant dais. . . . He fills the play with integrity by the sheer credibility of his acting....Like his predecessors . . . he has the secret of personal domination, and, more than any of them, the gift of inspiring personal affection.

'He has more friends than Jefferson had, as many acquaintances as Warfield and none of the enemies that the terrifying Mansfield like to make. A born mimic, he sinks himself in his role. His impersonations are human, plus Cohan, displaying the mysterious qualities of the thoroughbred. Added to his skill as a counterfeiter is that irresistible 'something' dubbed variously as charm, magnetism, personality and It. In....'Gambling' he proves himself worthy of the decoration which I now have the honor, if not the privilege, of pinning upon him.'

Since that as written Cohan has played a full season on Broadway in the Theatre Guild's production of the Eugene O'Neill success, 'Ah, Wilderness,' consolidating solidifying and cementing the honor of being 'Our First Actor,' a position to which that lover of the drama, Percy Hammond, first nominated him.

Two of the country's foremost radio stars, and most of Paramount's extensive comedy talent have been utilized in the production of 'College Rhythm,' which shows on Wednesday and Thursday, December 12 and 13 at the New Lyceum Theatre.

Joe Penner, accompanied by his duck Goo-Goo, makes his feature motion picture debut in the leading role oge, comes to the films with his mase film debut in Paramount's 'College Thursday, December 12 and 13 to the star cast including Lanny Ross, Jack in a picture full of girls, comedy and of the picture and Lanny Ross, celebrated 'Showboat' tenor, is in the supporting cast.

Others in the cast, which was directed by Norman Taurog, include Jack Oakie, Helen Mack, Lyda Roberti, musical comedy star, Mary Brian, George Barbier, and Franklin Pangborn.

'College Rythm' is the story of what happens when the two deadly college rivals for the acection of Mary Brian, carry their feud into the department store business and transform it into a college junket in order to whip up sales.

A series of chorus routines, especially arranged by LeRoy Prinz, presents the All-American Co-eds. And two vivid, realistic football games are among the highspots of the picture.

A hero who risks prison and the hangman's noose to help the girl he loves is the central character in Select Productions' picturization of Dashiell Hammett's exciting mystery story, 'A Woman in the Dark.' This 'story of dangerous romance' has all the elements of gripping drama parallel to Hammett's 'The Thin man,' one of the most thrilling mysteries ever screened.

Filmed by Select Productions, it recounts the adventures of John Bradley, an ex-convict on parole for manslaughter, and Louise Loring, a woman who cannot call herself her own. These two are thrown together by a stroke of fate and catapulated into a continuous turmoil of adventure. The very hazards that are designed to keep them apart only add fuel to their love.

Louise is pursued by Billy Robson, who believes he has a right to demand her acections, and Bradley is driven out of town by a sheriff whose daughter is infatuated with him. Together, they find refuge with a former prison-mate of Bradley's, but before long they are caught and Bradley is seriously wounded while attempting to escape. Louise risks the loss of Bradley's love for her in order that she may forestall the perpetration of a crime for which he would bear the guilt.

Ralph Bellamy, one of Hollywood's premier good-bad men plays Bradley, and Fay Wray is Louise. Melvyn Douglas portrays Robson, and Roscoe Ates has a comedy role. Ruth Gillette Granville Bates, Reed Brown, Jr. and Neil O'Day are also in the cast. Phil Rosen directed from a screen adaptation by Sada Cowan.

Which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, December 14 and 15.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.
