THE COUNCIL OF Chestertown has completed its fall tree planting program which included the planting of one hundred and fifty small trees in the parks and along the streets. The residents of this town have an obligation to those who by their forsight originally laid out Chestertown so that the many changes since that time have been amply provided for. The wide streets in straight lines, the water front residential section and the old trees have made it one of the most beautiful towns in the country. The old trees are fast disappearing and the streets are becoming barren and is it not that this work of beautifying should be carried on? While many of our residents will not live to enjoy the full effect of this tree planting campaign, the work is carried on for future generations who may enjoy as we have enjoyed the forsight of those who have gone before. The tree planting program on a large scale as mapped out by forester experts assures uniformity that that in the future will again make Chestertown the pride of its residents. This, however, cannot be carried out successfully without the cooperation of the individual property owners in protecting the trees while they are still small. The trees include the varieties of oriental planes, red and sugar maples, cypress and elms. If sufficient funds are available the program will continue in the spring until the entire program of three hundred and fifty trees are planted.

THE TIME FOR the meeting of the Maryland Legislature is fast approaching and the one piece of legislation in which every taxpayer in Kent County should be vitally interested is the system of county road maintenance. Under the present plan Kent's road system is maintained from receipts of the State gasoline tax which has meant a reduction in the county tax rate of approximately thirty cents. As a goodly portion of the receipts of Kent county's payment into the gasoline tax fund comes from travel on the county road system the present plan of reimbuisement by the State maintaining these roads is ideal from the stand point of the tax payers. Whether this fund shall be spent directly by the State or turned over to the County Commissioners is a matter of detail and it is to be hoped that the wrangling over this detail will not interfere with the main points of the bill.

IF THE FORMATION of the League of Nations has done nothing more since its formation in 1919 than to at least postpone a war in the Balkan States following the assasination of the King of Jugo Slavakia, it has been worth while For various political and other reasons America has never officially joined the League, the principal one being that the United States did not want to become entangled in European affairs. This is ever becoming more difficult with the increasing methods of transportation, communication and the millions of dollars owed on war debts. If the League can continue to maintain peace in Europe at a time when predictions indicate that the slightest spark will cause a conflagration, then the efforts of Woodrow Wilson, father of the League will have been worth while.
