TAYLOR HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

FIRE ALSO ENDANGERED STAVELY HOME

Firemen were called to the home of Mr. Carton Taylor on East Cannon St. Saturday morning when a patent gas stove expoded and set fire to the kitchen. Repairmen were working on the stove when it exploded and when firemen arrived the back part of the house was in flames. Using the main hose line from one truck and the booster system from another the fire was soon extinguished.

Mr. Edward Backway, a member of the fire company, was overcome by fumes in the attic of the house where he had gone to make a final inspection and was rescued by fellow firemen. The damage was estimated at $300. The house is owned by the Chestertown Bank of Maryland. The loss was covered by insurance.

Firemen were called to the home of Mr. Harry Stavey in Fairlee at 5.30 a. m. Tuesday morning when hot ashes in a chimney pit set fire to the floor. When Mr. Stavely, descovered the fire the foor was in flames and with the assistance of neighbors succeeded in keeping it under control until firemen arrived and finished the job. The only damage was a large hole in the floor.

COUNTY BOARDS ASK RETURN OF ROADS

KENT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OPPOSSED THE REQUEST FOR THE ROADS TO BE RETURNED TO THE COUNTIES. PRESENT ACT EXPIRES IN SEPTEMBER

A legislative committee of the County Commissioners' Association of Maryland is preparing bills to be presented to the State Legislature calling for return of the county roads system to the county boards and payment of automobile violation fines to the counties rather than the State Motor Vehicles Commissioner.

Two years ago a measure was passed by the General Assembly turning over to the State Roads Commission the maintenance, construction and debt service of county roads on a pro rata basis to the extent of funds allotted to the specific county. The Commssioners' Association would amend this act by authorizing the several county boards to expend the funds rather than the Roads Commission. The Association made an unsuccessful fight for a similar measure at the last reguar session of the Assembly. The present law expires in September.

Members of the Association's committee are: James P. Kelly, attorney to the Batlimore County Board; Herbert H. Balch, attorney to the Talbot Board; David W. Sloan, attorney to the Allegany Board; Robt. C. Clark, president Baltimore County Board; E. S. Darcus, treasurer Cecil County Board; State's Attorney Rex. A. Taylor, Wicomico county; W. P. Wachter attorney to Washington County Board; W. C. McSherry, attorney to Frederick County Board; C. F. Sebert. attorney Howard County Board.

The association's stand on a proposed re-assessment during the present calendar year remains a mooted question, member of the committee said.

NOW AND THEN

MY WISH

I wish that there were some wonderful place
Called the Land of Beginning again,
Where all our mistaches, and all our heartaches
And all of our poor selfish grief
Could be dropped like a shabby old coat at the door,
And never be put on again.

I wish we could come on it all unaware
Like the hunter who finds a lost trail
And I wish that the one whom our blindness had done
The greatest injustice of all.
Could be at the gates like an old friend that waits
For the comrade he's gladest to hail.

We would find all the things we intended to do
But forgot and remembered too late,
Little praises unspoken, little promises broken,
And all of the thousand and one
Little duties neglected that might have perfected
The day for one less fortunate.

ANON

What a cheery thing an open fire is on cold winter nights. One can sit by the hour and watch the little flames as they attack one heavy log after another and finally reduce them to ashes.

One can see so many pictures in the fire, too, and dream dreams. In fact it is a very pleasant thing to have the fire blazing on the hearth when the weather registers zero.

The snow, the snow! The beautiful snow has been with us over a week now with no sign of leaving us. Although the Psalmist says. He sendeth his snow like wool' it is rather chilly for us humans. Of course the little plants sleeping underground are glad to have a nice snow blanket and it is a fine thing for the wheat. But oh the roads! In fact snow is very disorganizing, and though it is very beautiful as it lies on the ground, pure and white, yet most of us will be glad when it bids us goodby.

This description of the ice covered trees was in the Evening Sun.

Sleet On The Trees

The trees are motionless, all Nature sleeps
In her white garment of the Winter cold;
Nodding and heavy-eyed, the somber pine—
Knee-deep in snow stands midnight sentinel,
And all the forest boles are gray as death.

Thus, in the moonlight—beautiful in death
All Nature seems to sleep. The rising sun
Shines on her face; and lo, the glistening land
Speaks up in living words—there is no death.

Edmond Fontaine.

'I heard the bells' on Christmas day—' But the poet who listened to the bells on that day could never have imagined how the Christmas bells of 1934 could be heard. Bells of London, Old Ben himself booming forth, bells from Wellington, Australia, from New Zealand, India norwest and India southeast, from Tasmania, from Toronto in Canada, bells around the earth ringing Christmas chimes and brought by radio into the room where one sat listening about nine o'clock on Christmas morning. And what did those bells say? First and newest they said, See how all the people of the earth are being drawn closer and closer together, friends, friends, they must learn to be friends.' That was the special message of 1934, but back of that and added to that and singing through the chimes were the angels' words, the best words of all, when he said that they rang out, 'Peace on earth, goodwill to men.'

The littlest king in Europe is of course young King Peter of Yugoslavia. He was in England in school when his father was killed and he was sent for to come home and try to start and take his father's place. Little King Peter dearly loved his father and he is being told many stories of his father's own boyhood, tales like this: When his father King Alexander, was going to school in Geneva he would sometimes ask, 'Why are some people born kings and some street cleaners?' and he would be told, 'Each person on earth has his duty. It is better to be a good street cleaner than a poor king.' The other school boys called him Sandro. Sandro wore the regulation black apron of the Genevese schoolboy, he begged bicycle rides from the friends and collected postage stamps. He was careful with the limited allowance given him by his father (Peter's grandfather), but loved to spend a few sous at the flower market for flowers for his teachers. He was thoughtful of other people and was a charming friendly schoolboy, learning geography and arithmetic and thinking little of ever being king, these are among the pleasant things being taught that young King who is learning much harder lessons of how to be a good King and a loving one.

WHEAT STOCKS BELOW AVERAGE

January 28, 1935—Stocks of wheat in interior mills and elevators in Maryland on January 1 were estimated at 450,000 bushels, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

United States Report

Stocks of wheat in interior mills, elevators and warehouses, on January 1, 1935, are estimated to have been 93,485,000 bushels. Comparable figures for previous years are not available, since this is the first time that a survey of stocks of wheat in these positions has been made. It seems fairly certan, however, that stocks in these positions this year are somewhat below average. Stocks of wheat in interior mills, elevators and warehouses on April 1, 1934, were 83,588,000 bushels and on July 1, 1934 were 51,060,000 bushels. In 1933, April 1 stocks were 95,911,000 and July 1 stocks were 64,296,000 bushels.

The inauguration of this check-up of wheat on hand in elevators and warehouses in all States will take much of the guess work out of Federal reports of the wheat on hand and will give progressive farmers a gauge for seeding.

TWO KENT BOYS ON FIGHT CARD

GONZALES AND KID SMITH ON CENTREVILLE CARD FOR FRIDAY NIGHT, FEBRUARY 8TH. BOTH TRAINED BY 'REDS' SMITH

Henry Gonzales, of Betterton will meet Earl Norwood, of New York, in the main bout which is scheduled for 8 rounds. This will probably be the hardest fight Gonzales has ever had and it should be a good one.

In the first preliminary Kid Smith, of Betterton, will meet Kid Ewing, of Cordova. As has been observed Kid Ewing is tough and can take it. According to 'Reds' Smith, Kid Smith can also take it, so it ought to be a hard fight.

The second preliminary will see James Rhodes of Hurlock, 170 lbs. vs. Joe Rondo, of Baltimore 170 lbs. This is a 4 round bout and both have the reputation of swinging hay makers.

The semi-windup will be a 6 round affair between 2 clever fighters, Reddy Shreevs, of Onley, Va., has proved himself very popular at Centreville and is experienced at the game. His opponent is Joe DeCarlo of Baltimore who is believed to be an up and coming fighter. This promises to be a good bout.

The wrestling match will see the well known Swede Garbo, tangle with Wild Bill Parks. Both have made many appearances at Centreville. Wild Bill always pleases the fans with his dirty work.
