THE NEW Chesapeake Bay bridge bill which is now before the Maryland Legislature has every chance of the approval of that body. The proponents of the Chesapeake Bay bridge have for many years found a stumbling block in the Clayborn-Annapolis ferry interests, and apparently working on the theory that 'If you can't beat em, Jine em' a happy solution has been worked out as far as these two groups are concerned. The bill provides for the purchase of the ferry lines at a cost of $1,200,000, to be paid out of the net profits of the ferry and bridge. The approval of the project by the Legislature would be only one step in the final consumation. The big question is what the Federal Public Works Administration will think of the project, particularly the hush money clause.

THE ELIMINATION OF the subsidy of the Tolchester Ferry Company in the Legislature this week will prove a serious set back in traffic communication in the State unless the Kent Delegation succeeds in having the measure re-submitted. This action of the Legislature would probably eliminate the ferry service during nine months of the year at a time when the State of Maryland is spending millions of dollars a year to build up adequate communicative means between different parts of the State. It is a step backward and due to the fact that the measure was forced by Senator Phoebus, of Somerset County, over the protest of Kent County is not true to form when one thinks or at least hopes that the Maryland Legislature is working to the interest of the entire State. With the present system of communication between the Eastern and Western Shores, the Tolchester ferry is a necessary connecting link.

LITTLE WAS ACCOMPLISHED at the meeting of the County Commissioners of Kent County and the State Roads Commission on Thursday of this week toward the solution of the problem of the maintenance of the Kent County roads. It is very apparen that the Roads Commission have no intention of changing their present ruling which will result in the destruction of the Kent county road sysem because that Commssion has allowed the over expenditure of Kent's allotment by applying large funds to debt service and new road construction. The only hope that Kent County now has in the matter is through the Maryland Legislature and it is understood strong efforts are now being made to have the Legislature work out some system that will take care of the situation. If Kent county was alone in the present predicament there would be very little hope but as the same problem confronts other counties in the State, enough pressure may be brought forward to relieve the present deplorable condition.

THE PREDICTION THAT Congress will pass old age pension and unemployed insurance relief measures on a cooperative plan with the various States presents a rather unusual problem to the Maryland Legislature. Present indications are that bills providing for the two above relief measures will not come to a final vote in Congress until after the Maryland Legislature adjourns which means that Maryland will not share in Federal funds for these purposes uuless the Legislature votes to cooperate with Congress. On the other hand the Maryland Legislature can not decide on this cooperative plan until they know just what the Congressional plan is or appropriate funds until it is known how much will be needed. Neither governmental group apparently has enough power to predict just what will happen to the proposed bills and indications are that the Maryland Legislature will adjourn without any definite action in the matter. This would mean that unless a special session is called Maryland will probably be without old age pension or unemployed insurance for at least two years. In the opinion of many this problem and the improbability of handling it at this session of the Legislature is a blessng in disguise.

The Transcript,
Chestertown, Md.

I have been asked by the headquarters of the Maryland Branch of the National Woman's Party of which I am a member, to assist in the effort to secure an affirmative report from the Judicary Committee on the womans jurors bill known as H R 9o.

Only two members of the Judiciary Committee are from the Eastern Shore they are Wilbur R. Hubbard, of Kent County and Clarence W. Whealton, of Wicomico County.

I consider the attitude of the grand old FREE state of Maryland, in respect to its female citizen, ridiculously asinine as well as childishly silly and think the antiquated discrimmination should be removed.

I am now preparing a series of articles in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which when adopted will make all existing discriminations because of sex unconstitutial.

WINS SECOND VICTORY OVER DELAWARE

Washington won its second victory over Delaware Saturday night by winning 32 to 26. If a fair proportion of Washington's shots had gone through the basket the margin would have been much larger. Skipp led the scoring for Washington with 10 points although his opponent, Pennock, of Delaware scored the same number of points.

NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

MONDAY and TUESDAY
MARCH 11 and 12
1935's NEWEST MUSICAL
"All The Kings Horses"
—with—
Carl Brisson
Mary Ellis
(Singing Star of "Rose Marie")

Carl Brisson who made "Cocktails For Two," famous and Broadway's brightest star Mary Ellis in the screen's newest musical hit. Song hits galore now being played by the finest bands on the air include "Be Careful, Young Lady," "My Little White Gardenia," and "When My Prince Charming Comes Along." A musical toast to romance, sparkling with beauties fit for a King. The old Kingdom ain't what it used to be. His romantic highness shaved off his beard, learned to croon and passed up affairs of the state for affairs of the heart.

Added: Comedy "Fuller Gush Man," Cartoon and "Laughing With Medbury."

WEDNESDAY -- THURSDAY
MARCH 12 and 13
Edward G. Robinson
—in—
"The Whole Town's Talking"

Another great picture from the producers of "Broadway Bill," "One Night of Love" and "It Happened One Night." The most exciting picture in a decade and the very finest picture that Edward G. Robinson ever made. Critics everywhere rate this a 4 STAR HIT and we urge you to see 'THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING."

Added: Comedy "One Too Many," Pictorial and Cartoon.
