The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

With Spring vacation upon us for colleges and schools in all parts of the country, students and professors alike are making the most of every possible day, and trips here and there are under way. Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Mead, with their son, John, are on a ten day motor trip through the South. Dr. Esther M. Dole, and her son, Charles, spent last week end and part of this week in Baltimore visiting Dr. Dole's daughter, Alice, who is a student at the Maryland Institute, and has an apartment in the city. Miss Dorothy Vickers, a student at Smith College, who has been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Vickers, during the Spring Vacation, has returned from a few day's visit to Philadelphia, where she was the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Holt Eliason. Miss Elizabeth Brown with her friend, Miss Dorothy Quarrels, came Thursday to spend the Spring holiday, and are the guests of Mrs. H. Clay Brown while here. Miss Brown sprained her ankle the day before leaving Philadelphia.

Visitors, other than college students have honored us with their presence this past week, among whom was Miss Anne Woolsey, who came on Thursday, and is the guests of her cousin, Mrs. C. Beck Jones. Miss Woolsey, whose home is in St. Louis, made her debut this winter in that city.

Mrs. Francis Ambler, of Lake Forest near Chicago, was the house guest of Mrs. Allan Harris, Jr., Mrs. Ambler was extensively entertained during her stay here. Other guests include Mr. and Mrs. Victor Douskess and their little daugher, Sally Joe, of Easton, Pa. who will visit Mrs. Douskess's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Graham on Kent Circle this week-end. Mrs. William D. Hines, of Baltimore, Mrs. Thomas B. Perkins and her daughter, Miss Francis Perkins, of Germantown, Pa., have been guests this week of Misses Grace and Jennie Wilkins; a regular family reunion with all four sisters together for the first time in quite a while.

Last week end brought home, Mr. James L. Bacchus, of New York, City. 'Uncle Jim' was able to help his little nephew, Karl Melamet celebrate his 8th birthday on Sunday afternoon when several little boys and but two honored little girls were invited, in honor of the occasion.

Monday last, being Maryland Day, Miss Virginia Jones, had a longer week end than usual, as the guest of her father, Dr. J. S. W. Jones.

Mrs. William B. Usilton has remained in Baltimore this week, following the death of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Gibson, in order to be near another sister. Mrs. William S. Gardner, who is still confined at the Mercy Hospital, Mrs. Usilton is stayng at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gardner. Miss Nancy Jean Usilton left Friday to join her mother in Baltimore for the week-end.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Rolph Townshend and little Rolph left to be gone two weeks. They will spend the first week away with Mrs. Townshend's father in Howard Co. and the second week, their visit will be divided between two sisters in Baltimore and vicinity.

Mrs. A. T. H. Harper left on Wednesday for Elizabeth, N. J., to spend a week with her granddaughter, Mrs. Harrison Cooke.

On the same day, Mrs. W. Dorsey Hines left for Philadelphia to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Tull. She will be joined by Mr. Hines on Saturday, returning to their home, Riverside, on Sunday.

Of much interest here is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Clare Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Chapman, of Baltimore, and Chestertown, to Mr. Edward T. Gieske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy C. Geiske. Mary Clare who often visits here, and is a sister of Vannort Chapman, made her debut at the first Bachelors' Cotillion several years ago. Her fiance is a graduate of Gilman Country School, of Princeton and is a member of the Maryland Club. The wedding is scheduled for some time in April.

Among those who attended the final ball in Annapolis before the end of the Legislature were Mr. and Mrs. S. Scott Beck, Miss Anne Woolsey and Mr. Scott Beck, Jr..

A few more flashes and I am really going wandering. It gets me, writing you all about these lovely little excursions people are taken, and I have to try it out myself once in awhile just to see how it feels. Attractive little Betty Thibodeau is spending a week with her father, Prof. T. J. Thibodeau, in Waterbury, Conn.

Misses Mary and Anna Brooks who recently returned from spending most of the winter in Datona, Florida, opened their home in Quaker Neck for a short time, and have now left for a three month's sojourn in England, where they will visit English Cathedrals.

Hold on, just a minute, here comes a last minute flash which I know will interest you, Mr. Jimmy Beck's birthday on Wednesday, was celebrated in the hospital, and although weary and dreary as it may be there, his many friends did not forget him. I am going to quote part of a communication I have just received from Mrs. Beck—'What a wonderful birthday; James has received 92 cards, telegrams, flowers and packages. I don't know how we can thank the dear good friends better than through 'The Wanderer.' Really, they came from Chestertown, Lynch, Still Pond, Rock Hall, Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia. The head Dietician just made him the loveliest birthday cake with candles and brought it to him.'

Well, we were all glad, I'm sure, to do what little we could to help brighten those hours. Mr. Beck's condition remains the same, and there's nothing new to relate.

So now I'm signing off, till next week, Yours,

THE WANDERER.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter U. Lusby are in Salisbury for a few days, Walter, their little grandson is in the hospital for another operation.

McGuire—Cole

A quiet, but pretty wedding took place at the Kennedyville Methodist Protestant Parsonage on Wednesday evening, March 20, at 7.30 p. m., the Rev. L. E. Haddaway officiating. The bride, Miss Francis M. McGuire who is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McGuire, of Chestertown was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Francis Cole, of Smyrna, Delaware. The bride was most becominly attired in a blue gown with accessories to match. They will reside at McGinnes's Corner where the groom will be engaged temporarily in farming.

Simpers—Thomas

Miss Rebecca Simpers, of North East, Maryland and Mr. John Carroll Thomas, of Perryville, Maryland, were also married recently at the Kennedyville parsonage.

President and Mrs. Gilbert W. Mead and Mr. John Mead are on a ten-day motor trip through the south.

Rev. Amt pastor of the Luthern Church will move his residence from Easton to Kent St. Chestertown.

Mr. Henry Gill has finished remodeling his home on Washington Ave. and will establish resdence there shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Brown, of Haddonfield, N. J., were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Brown for the week end, prior to an extended motor trip to Florida.

THE ROTARY ENTERTAINS

On last Monday evening the Rotary entertain the following venerable gentlemen: Magistrate W. A. Wheatley, W. T. Hicks, T. A. Ayres, Frank Wheatley and Robert Swan. The sum of all their ages added together amounted to 400 years.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions of respect in memory of J. B. McIntyre, deceased passed by the Official Board of the M. E. Church on March 25, 1935.

'Whereas, in the dispensation of Providence our Fellow Member, J. B. McIntyre has been called to his eternal reward.

And whereas, Brother McIntyre during his long and loyal tenure of service as a member, has made a valuable contribution to the work of the church and the advancement of the kingdom.

And whereas, Brother McIntyre was most highly esteemed by the community at large, as well as, the constituency of the church and because of his integrity and consistent christian living, enjoyed, as we fully believe, the satisfaction and joy of an intimate relationship with the Heavenly Father.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we the members of the Board for ourselves, and that innumerable host of his friends, desire to express our profound sympathy in the death of Brother McIntyre and the irreparable loss to both the church and community.'

W. E. Griffith, Secretary.

INTRODUCES FISH LEGISLATION

The following bills with reference to the propagation of fish in the Chesapeake Bay were introduced this week by Senator Arthur Brice:

WHEREAS, it is very important that accurate scientific knowledge relative to the spawning grounds and habits of edible fish be acquired in order to best conserve such fish life; therefore be it

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the congress of the United States be and it is hereby requested to appropriate promptly a sufficient amount of money to enable the United State Bureau of Fisheries to begin an immediate and thorough biological and practical survey of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries for the purpose of ascertaining all the essential facts relative to the spawning grounds and migratory and other habits of the striped bass or rock, shad, herring, trout, blue fish and other migratory edible fish by means of fish tagging and such other experiments as may be deemed necessary and proper for that purpose, as the results of such a study will rebound to the benefit of all sections of the United States where migratory food fish are a source of revenue to its people; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be and he is hereby directed to send, under the great seal of the State, a copy of this Resolution to the President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the United States Bureau of Fisheries, and to each representative from Maryland in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States Congress.

Whereas, It is very important that accurate scientific knowledge relative to the spawning grounds and habits of edible fish be ecquired in ordr to best conserve such fish life; therefore be it

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Board of Public Works be and it is hereby requested to transfer to the State Conservation Department the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars for each of the fiscal years beginning October 1, 1935, and October 1, 1936, for the purpose of enabling said department to co-operate with the United States Biological Survey in conducting a thorough biological and practical survey of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries for the purpose of ascertaining the essential facts relative to the spawning grounds and migratory and other habits of the striped bass or rock, shad, herring, trout, blue fish and other migratory edible fish by means of fish tagging and such other experiments as may be deemed necessary and proper for that purpose.

The Curbstone Diplomat

WILLIAM S. COLLINS

Inside dope has it that a very eligible Chestertown bachelor will exhibit a Passion Flower at the Flower Show to be held in a few weeks. His friends think he must be getting sweet on Somebody.

Every season somebody has to be first. No, we are not talking about growing the first ripe tomato; we are talking about the first to take the plunge into the river. They might not have been the first, but they are the first we have heard of viz: William Belt Townshend and Doctor A. L. Sterling have the honors by an involuntary dip.

Last week we introduced 'The Rexall,' the new sailboat of Doc Sterling's. Launched last Sunday she has already caused the loss of several fountain pens.

Stooping over to look at the boat and out slips the pen overboard. Then in the middle of the week she capsized and plunged the two prominent citizens into the water.

To the everlasting credit of William Belt he assumed all the blame. Doc turned the tiller over to him while he went forward. He let the sail jib on him and the boat upset. Yells for help covered the waterfront and Master Bland came to the rescue in a rowboat. It is quite the joke of the week.

Small sailboats have a way of upsetting, and some small sailboat sailors who have been at the game a long while freqently upset. To get the greatest thrill out of sailing you must get to just the point where you do not upset. Often times they go just a little beyond that point. Personally I do not see where it is such a joke.

By the way the above mentioned notables report that the water is not so very cold.

Times have changed. Sentences imposed upon Kent County bootleggers this week in the Federal Court were very stiff compared to sentences imposed two or three years ago. Eighteen months for operating a still and those implicated in the assault on the officers drew a total of six and one-half years. During the raid an officer shot one of the men through the hip.

Back in prohibition days they would have tried to put the officer in a tough spot. In other words most people were in sympathy with the bootleggers. Why? Men on the juries, the judges, in fact the vast majority used some of the bootlegger product and the sympathy of the people was not with the law. Repeal has brought about the change. The law can now go after the manufacture and sale of bootlegger liquor and has the sympathy and backing of the people. A tip to the bootleggers, remember what happened to the boys out at Worton, the juries are getting tough.

To the users of alcoholic beverages, Legal liquor is back again so there is no need any longer to be on the wrong side of the law.

Maryland Reds took a licking on Maryland Day.

'After 74 years, 'Maryland, My Maryland,' written by James Ryder Randall in 1861, became the official State song It was legalized Monday night when the House celebrated Maryland Day by suspending its rules and passing the Senate bill that had been introduced for the purpose.

With the bill through the legislative mill and sent to the Governor for signature, Delegate Charles Carroll, (Dem. Howard)' descendant of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, moved that Delegate John S. White, (Dem. Prince George's), mount the rostrum and sing the song.

He complied and the delegates and visitors who crowded the galleries joined in, making the huge House of Delegates chamber ring with the words of the old melody, sung in Maryland since Civil War days.'

Adapting 'Maryland My Maryland' as the official State song has been bitterly fought by the Maryland radicals, Mitchells, Gilmans, Riches, etc.

Street reports are that some of the newly elected 'New Dealers' on the Town Council are not going to new deal
