IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Governor Harry Nice is sitting in the driver's seat at Annapolis with a number of important bills on his desk which will or will not become laws according to his wishes. While the Democratic Legislature in both House and Senate were busy enacting into law these various State measures, the Governor was making a few statements to the press as to his attitude toward them but was taking no leading part knowing well that when it was all over his power of veto would be the final word. Two bills, which are of major interest and are dependant on his signature before they can become law are the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Bill and the Teacher's Oath Bill. The former is of great interest to residents of the Eastern Shore and Baltimore County and City and involves the expenditure of twelve million dollars of the Federal Works funds in Maryland and the employment of hundreds of men for a period of at least two years. As these funds are not allocated to the various States, the Governor's action on the bill will determine whether this amount of money and employment will come to Maryland or go to some other State. It should not be a question of politics, which it has apparently become, but should be one of development in the State of Maryland with its share of the tremendous Federal appropriation. If it must be politics, Governor Nice's majority in Kent County was materially helped by his promise here that he favored the construction of the bridge; his statement on Kent Island the following week that he opposed anything that interferred with the ferry service from that point did not create sufficient favor to overcome a minority vote in Queen Anne's County. His present intimation that he will veto the bill is hard to understand as the development of the State should receive vrst consideration and whatever objections to the bridge that may be presented it cannot be denied that the bridge would be a decided asset to the State.

Get Rid of Poisons That Make You Ill

IS a constant backache keeping you miserable? Do you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; attacks of dizziness, rheumatic pains, swollen feet and ankles? Do you feel tired, nervous—all unstrung?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly, for functional kidney disorder permits poisons to stay in the blood and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They help the kidneys cleanse the blood of health-destroying poisonous waste. Doan's Pills are used and recommended the world over. Get them from any druggist.
